TEXT AND MATERIALS OF EARLY EUROPEAN CULTURES

Hereford, England

May 17 – June 6, 2025

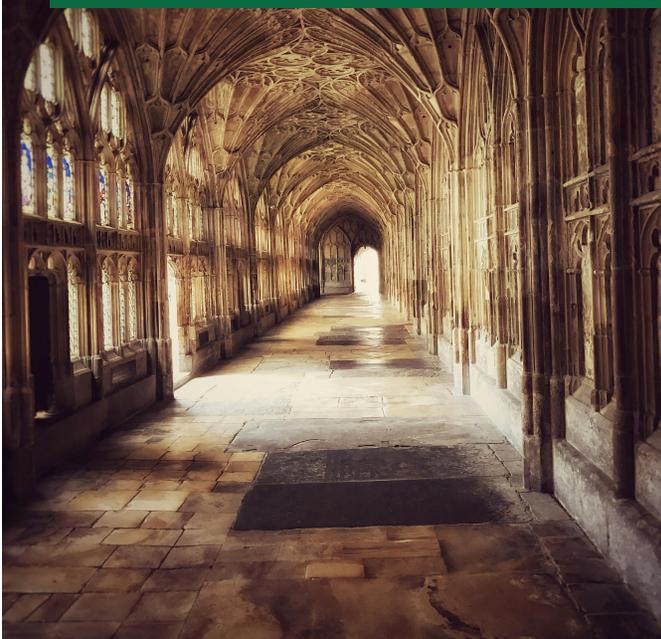

COURSE OVERVIEW

Explore the rich history of seventeenth-century rural Herefordshire with a hands-on course at the Hereford Archives and Record Centre (HARC). Dive into parish life through unexamined documents while enjoying the historic charm of Hereford, home to a medieval cathedral, the oldest surviving medieval map, and a chained book library. Gain firsthand experience with ancient sites like Stonehenge and Roman Baths.

"It helped me access and use the knowledge that I already possess to critically think about things we saw and discussed, in a way that I didn't think I could. It also was great to advance and analyze what I already know from a different lens and gain more perspectives."

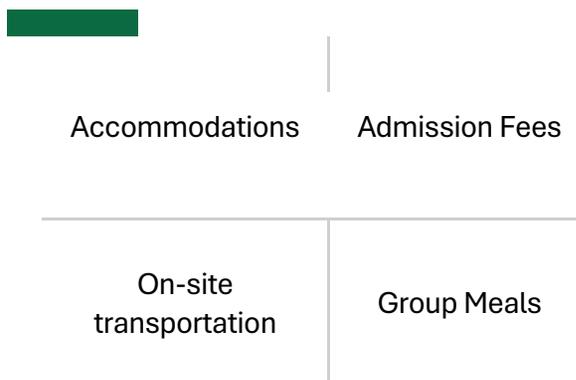

- Sasha, Taught Abroad Student (2024)

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course offers two-thirds focus on transcribing and presenting archival records, and one-third on pre-modern England through Hereford and Wales. Contribute to HARC's online index and support important research while earning course credit for your USask degree.
