PRESIDENT AND VICE-CHANCELLOR

PETER STOICHEFF

Today is a celebration of all you have accomplished as a student at the University of Saskatchewan. The countless hours spent in labs, libraries and classrooms culminates with you walking across the stage, in front of student colleagues, and university and family supporters, to receive your USask degree.

This is a significant milestone in, not only your life, but the lives of all of those who have supported you during your academic pursuits. On this occasion, I offer you my sincerest congratulations.

With your degree in hand, you join more than 155,000 USask alumni around the world. As part of that esteemed group, you help share the USask story, a story that tells people in Canada and internationally that your institution is a distinguished member of Canada's top research-intensive universities, with an enormous impact on the country and, in select areas, the world.

Neither you nor I know exactly what the future holds for you. You might pursue further education this fall. You might start down your career path in a week or two. You might even get on a plane later today leading to an entirely different kind of learning experience. But what I do know is that no matter what direction you take, your time at USask has prepared you to face adversity and opportunity with equal measures of success, confidence and creativity. Because of that, awaiting you is a fulfilling and rewarding life in which you can contribute to what is important to you and to the world.

When you look at your degree, remember that you are backed by an excellent and rigorous university education. Also remember the people, supporters and experiences that were a part of your time at USask, because those memories are as valuable as the degree itself.

I hope you stay connected to the University of Saskatchewan and share with us the meaningful events that make up your life's story. As part of our worldwide alumni family, you hold a special place in our hearts and I hope that your time on campus holds an equally special place in yours.

CHANCELLOR

THE HONOURABLE ROY ROMANOW

Roy Romanow was elected Chancellor effective November 1, 2016 for a three-year term.

Chancellor Romanow served in public office in Canada for more than 30 years. His provincial political career began in 1967 when he was first elected to the Saskatchewan Legislature. From 1971 to 1982 he served as deputy premier and attorney general of Saskatchewan. He played a key role in the federal-provincial negotiations that resulted in the Constitution Act 1982, which includes the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms. During this time, he also led the reorganization of Saskatchewan's court system, the creation of the Saskatchewan Human Rights Commission, and the introduction of a modern Legal Aid system.

In 1987, Chancellor Romanow became the leader of the Opposition and served in this role until 1991. He then served as premier of Saskatchewan from 1991 to 2001. During this period, major health reforms were introduced based on programs of well-being, which balanced the delivery of health care more appropriately between acute care and preventative programs. A significant achievement of the Romanow government was turning Saskatchewan's large fiscal deficits into balanced budgets.

The 2019 Spring Convocation will be Chancellor Romanow's last as chancellor. We thank him for his service.

After his tenure as premier, Chancellor Romanow was appointed by then Prime Minister Jean Chrétien in 2001 to head the Royal Commission on the Future of Health Care in Canada, which resulted in a final report entitled Building on Values.

Chancellor Romanow, an officer of the Order of Canada and recipient of the Saskatchewan Order of Merit, has also received the Pan American Health Organization's 2003 Administration Award for his work with the Health Commission and his commitment to human rights and justice initiatives. In 2004, he became a member of the federal Privy Council through a five-year appointment to Canada's Security Intelligence Review Committee. From 2008 to 2013, Chancellor Romanow was the advisory board co-chair and spokesperson for the Canadian Index of Wellbeing. He currently serves as a member of the Elections Canada Advisory Board, and as the co-chair of the Canadian Alliance to End Homelessness.

Currently, Chancellor Romanow is a senior fellow in public policy in the Department of Political Studies at the University of Saskatchewan. He received both his BA, 1960, and LLB., 1964, from USask. He is recognized as one of the 100 Alumni of Influence and is the recipient of numerous honorary degrees from Canadian universities.

WELCOME TO OUR NEW HOME

Convocation is always a special celebration at the University of Saskatchewan, marking the end of a journey and the doorway into new possibilities and opportunities for our students. This spring ceremony is even more meaningful, as it is the first time we bring our convocation ceremony back to campus since 1967 and start a new tradition in Merlis Belsher Place.

This new home for convocation and athletics would not have been possible without the many alumni, volunteers, community members and organizations who contributed to the Home Ice Campaign. Founding donor Merlis Belsher, with his $12.25-million gift, led the way and inspired the hundreds of supporters who followed his lead. Together, $29 million was raised towards this new facility to support Huskie sports teams and community athletes, which officially opened October 26, 2018.

Merlis Belsher Place also houses the new Ron and Jane Graham Sport Science and Health Centre, an innovative hub for researchers, physiotherapists, dietitians, mental health professionals, sport psychologists and trainers. Ron and Jane Graham generously donated $2.068 million to fund the new centre, which helps athletes at all levels—from grassroots to Olympic contenders—return to play sooner after injury. It will help researchers engineer new approaches to concussion treatment and give Huskie student-athletes access to leading sport science technologies.

Thanks to Ron and Jane Graham

and their additional $4 million in funding, Merlis Belsher Place is also home to two new NBA-length practice courts for Huskie basketball, ensuring they have every advantage to elevate their game. USask now has a multi-sport complex on par with our excellent student-athletes.

The Home Ice Campaign showed all of us the power of our community and what it means to be 'with the pack'. This outpouring of support will not be forgotten. And now, when our graduating students walk the halls of this arena, taking their place among our more than 155,000 alumni world-wide and celebrating a momentous milestone for themselves, we will have even more history and memories here to share.

GRADUATION POWWOW

With its origins dating back to the 1980s, the university's annual powwow celebrates the academic success of Métis, First Nations and Inuit graduates from the University of Saskatchewan and local secondary schools. The powwow also celebrates the Indigenous community and culture at USask and around the province and is the largest annual Indigenous event held by the university, attracting more than 2,500 participants each year.

In 2015, in collaboration with Indigenous leaders, Elders and other campus stakeholders, we developed a suite of symbols representing Indigenous cultures from across Saskatchewan. These symbols help promote and communicate Indigenous initiatives and partnerships at the university.

This year, the buffalo symbol was chosen to represent the Graduation Powwow and convocation. According to some Elders, the bison symbolizes subsistence, strength and the ability to persevere.

BUFFALO PIN

A buffalo pin is given to all Indigenous USask and high school graduates honoured at the Graduation Powwow. The intention of this gift is to honour the students and to pass along this symbol that was gifted to us by the Elders.

A GUIDE TO OUR CEREMONY

At the University of Saskatchewan, our convocation marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges. During the event, we also award degrees to honorary degree recipients, celebrate the academic achievements of our most talented graduates, and acknowledge our most distinguished teachers and researchers.

Convocation is a time to congratulate graduates and share stories of hard work, creativity and accomplishment—our president and honorary degree recipients tell these stories at convocation.

THE CHANCELLOR

The chancellor, appointed by senate as the chair of convocation, is the highest official and spokesperson of the university.

HONOUR SONG

Honour songs are a First Nations tradition that demonstrate respect for an individual or group in recognition of their accomplishments.

FLAGS

At convocation we display the Canadian flag, Saskatchewan flag, Treaty 6 flag, Métis flag and University of Saskatchewan flag.

ORATORS

The post of orator can be traced back hundreds of years to universities in the United Kingdom, including Oxford and Cambridge. Traditionally orators served as the official voice of the university, composing letters, giving speeches and presenting candidates for honorary degrees. Our orators are volunteers—USask alumni, staff and faculty—who present the candidates at our ceremonies.

THE CONVOCATION CEREMONY

PROCESSION

To start the ceremony, everyone stands as an honour song begins, and graduands and the platform party enter. The platform party includes faculty, members of the Board of Governors and University Senate, guests of honour, the president, chancellor and lieutenant governor.

THE PETITION

The university secretary on behalf of all the candidates, addresses the chancellor and senate in the following words:

“Eminent Chancellor, Mr. President, members of the University Senate and board, I present to you the petition of the council of this university that the candidates to be named, having fulfilled all the requirements of the bylaws, may, with your permission, be admitted to the degrees, diplomas and certificates to which they are entitled”.

THE ADMISSION

The chancellor then addresses the candidates:

“By virtue of the authority vested in me by the legislature of this province, and with the consent of the council of this university, I consent to admit you to the degrees, diplomas and certificates to which you are entitled and to invest you with all the powers, rights and privileges pertaining thereto.”

THE PRESENTATION

“Eminent Chancellor, on behalf of the faculty of _____, I present to you these scholars and ask that you will confer on them the degree/diploma/certificate of _____.”

Each candidate then comes forward and the degree hood is placed on their shoulders. As the orator speaks the candidate's name in full, the candidate moves forward in front of the chancellor. Then the chancellor says,

“I admit you.”

The candidate then passes the chancellor, is greeted by the dean of the college, or designate, and receives their parchment.

In the case a graduand is absent, the university secretary says:

“Eminent Chancellor, in the name of the faculties, I ask you to grant the degrees, diplomas and certificates, in absentia, to those students who have met the requirements to graduate, but were not able to be present today.”

ACADEMIC DRESS

A black gown is worn by those graduating with bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees. The gown has pointed sleeves at the bottom for the bachelor's degree, long sleeve and a semi-circular cut at the bottom for the master's degree, and round open sleeves for the doctor's degree. The doctoral gown incorporates green and gold on the front and sleeve panels.

The hoods for the bachelor's and master's degrees are black. The master's and doctor's hoods have a lining and the bachelor's has an edging (and in some cases, a lining) of a color distinctive of the degree. Doctor's hoods have a green satin lining with gold trim, and the honorary degree hoods feature a white satin trim. A velvet Beefeater-style hat with a green, gold and white tassel is also part of the doctor's dress.

50 YEARS

DENTISTRY PROGRAM MARKS MILESTONE

In 1968, the College of Dentistry at the University of Saskatchewan welcomed its first intake of students into the Doctor of Dental Medicine (DMD) program. Since that time, faculty, staff and more than 1,000 graduates have helped support the college in establishing itself as a leader in dental education and community outreach.

Since opening its doors 50 years ago, the college has provided the majority of Saskatchewan dentists, with two thirds of practising dentists in Saskatchewan being USask graduates. Two presidents of the Canadian Dental Association are also graduates of the College of Dentistry.

To supplement the DMD program, the college has now added three new undergraduate educational programs: the Dental Assisting Certificate, Bachelor of Science in Dentistry program (BSc DENT) and International Dental Degree Program (IDDP). Plans are well underway for three new graduate programs, the first graduate programs in the college's history.

The college looks forward to another 50 years as a leader in dental education, with new emphasis on research, community outreach and engagement.

WCVM HONOURS CLASS OF '69

Since the 27 members of the Western College of Veterinary Medicine's (WCVM) first graduating class received their degrees in 1969, these alumni have become strong supporters of their alma mater. Members of this class are special guests at our 2019 Spring Convocation ceremonies. For some, this will be their first time attending convocation: by the time their own graduation happened, many of the veterinarians were already practising in communities across Western Canada, filling the region's desperate need for veterinarians.

The class of 1969 began their philanthropic efforts with the establishment of the college's first class fund, which has raised money for an expansion of the WCVM's veterinary teaching hospital (now the WCVM Veterinary Medical Centre), a research award, and the annual WCVM '69 Class President Award. Established in 2004, this award recognizes students' contributions to the college and student life.

Today we celebrate the class of 1969 for their service to the veterinary profession, their contributions to Western Canada's regional veterinary college and to USask and for setting such a wonderful example of philanthropy for generations of WCVM graduates.

Today is a moment to celebrate and honour all of your hard work, perseverance and accomplishments. You did it!

No matter the path you choose, I encourage you to let your passion lead you. Nelson Mandela said, “Education is the most powerful weapon, which you can use to change the world,” and you have created a network and a foundation to be a force for good. The world needs your creativity, resilience

Be proud, and step forward boldly.
This is not the destination but a milestone to celebrate on your journey.

USask alumni have demonstrated self-discipline and resourcefulness.
You can be proud of your USask

While the memories of your first day of classes at USask might have faded a little, and although you may still be trying to forget the angst that accompanied exam-writing, convocation should be a most unforgettable celebration of your university experience! With well-deserved degrees in hand, lifelong friendships to cherish, opportunity abounds—carpe diem!

Whenever I return to the USask campus (to attend meetings, deliver guest lectures or just hang out), it always feels like a piece of home. I hope it will be a treasure trove of happy memories for you. USask is a place that enlightens, emboldens and empowers us to take on challenges. A key part of your mission has been accomplished and even better things lie ahead.

I wish each of you the very best on this day and every day forward!

You did it! Congratulations and welcome to the USask alumni! Earning a university degree is the greatest milestone in academia, so relish this moment and give thanks to those who supported you along the way. Put a frame around that piece of paper and be proud of your accomplishment. When you hang it on the wall, I hope you will reflect on the person you became over the past years. It took grit and perseverance to get that sucker, but it also took loads of self discovery, failure and patience.

You are more resilient having earned a university degree. Carry that resiliency forward into the rest of your life. Dare to be different, hone your craft, take risks and never be afraid to ask for help.

As you enter the next stage of your life, build a community around you. Get involved with a special interest group, volunteer for something important to you or join a professional network. The connections you make will open doors you never dreamed possible.

Congratulations graduates and welcome to the USask alumni league! Unless you are graduating a second or third time—if that's the case, welcome back!

In addition to your accomplishment of achieving your degree, you are now part of a growing community of esteemed graduates who are all making incredible differences in this world.

I encourage you all to go and test your new skills, build new ones and learn, create, grow—knowing you have earned this opportunity that is built off a solid base and your commitment to developing your potential.

I encourage you to stay involved in the community, share your new-found skills and expertise, and look for meaningful ways to contribute to society's needs and solutions. I found great meaning and fulfillment in my involvement at USask as an alumnus and graduate student.

So be proud, have humility and enjoy what you have worked so hard to achieve.

GERALD McMASTER

Born near North Battleford, Sask. on the Red Pheasant First Nation, Dr. Gerald McMaster (PhD, Amsterdam) is a Plains Cree artist, curator and professor. In the words of one of his honorary degree nominators, he has made significant contributions “to visual arts, arts administration, and to inclusion and reconciliation.”

McMaster studied at universities in Canada, the United States and Europe, before returning to Saskatchewan in 1977 as co-ordinator of the Indian Art Program at the Saskatchewan Indian Federated College, now the First Nations University of Canada. In 1981, he moved to Ottawa to become the first Indigenous curator at the Canadian Museum of Civilization. Between 2000 and 2004, he served in several curatorial positions at the Smithsonian National Museum of the American Indian in Washington, D.C. He then became the curator of Canadian art at the Art Gallery of Ontario from 2005 to 2012.

In 2014, McMaster was appointed to the faculty of OCAD University in Toronto and became the Tier 1 Canada Research Chair in Indigenous Visual Culture and Curatorial Practice there in 2015.

A continuing focus of McMaster’s work has been to increase the representation of Indigenous art and artists in galleries and museums and to modify the way culturally sensitive objects have been handled and displayed.

Acknowledging the importance of the traditions of his home community in Saskatchewan, his varied national and international experience has led him increasingly to explore aspects of the global context for Indigenous art. In his current position as a Canada Research Chair, he is working with international collaborators on research projects that examine “contact zones” where two or more cultures interact with each other and explore how relationships affect Indigenous artistic expression. McMaster also continues to pursue the question, which has interested him throughout his career, of how Indigenous voices can bring new perspectives to established disciplines such as art, history and anthropology. His own artistic work was said by a nominator to include “sometimes caustic but always thoughtful commentaries on Canadian mainstream-Aboriginal relations.”

In summing up his career, one of his honorary degree nominators said, “His understanding, ability to create bridges to people who have had little knowledge of First Nations, and his remarkable attention to detail and professionalism, are extraordinary.”

The importance of McMaster’s contribution to the promotion of an Indigenous presence in the Canadian and international art world has been widely recognized through awards and appointments. He has served as Canadian Commissioner at the Venice Biennale (1995), the Sydney Biennale (2012) and Venice Architecture Biennale (2018). He holds an honorary degree from Emily Carr University, awarded in 2014. He is an officer of the Order of Canada and a recipient of a National Aboriginal Achievement Award. In 2018, McMaster was also named adjunct curator at the Remai Modern.

TIM HEARN

Tim Hearn grew up in Regina, and received a bachelor's degree in science at the University of Manitoba. He began his career with Imperial Oil as a marketing representative in North Battleford, Sask. and took on positions of increasing responsibility in the company, including close to a decade managing international business ventures associated with Imperial Oil and its parent company Exxon Mobil. He capped his 40-year career at Imperial Oil with a term as chairman and chief executive officer from 2002 to 2008. During that time, he oversaw the move of the company's head office from Toronto to Calgary. Hearn's profile in the oil and gas industry was acknowledged with his induction into the Saskatchewan Oil Patch Hall of Fame in 2011.

Following his retirement from Imperial Oil, Hearn established an investment and advisory company, Hearn & Associates, that he continues to operate.

Hearn has also served on the boards of a number of major enterprises, including the Royal Bank of Canada. One of his honorary degree nominators said, "Often talking about 'first principles' in the boardroom, Tim brings strategic thinking, intelligence and discipline to the board table and is always a consummate team player." Another nominator of Hearn commented that "he understands the power of human talent and leadership and continues to apply his skills at our company to mentor and advance our people."

Hearn chaired the board of the C.D. Howe Institute, a prominent Canadian policy think tank and was a founding member of the advisory board of the Public Policy School at the University of Calgary (U of C). He has also been a member of the Dean's Medical School Advisory Board at the U of C. He was a Canadian representative on the Commission for Environmental Co-operation, a body formed under the North American Free Trade Agreement.

Hearn has used not only his personal resources but his skills to support a range of public causes. He has chaired major fundraising campaigns for the University of Alberta and Tyndale University College.

One cause that benefited from Hearn's support was the Calgary Campaign to End Homelessness. As chair and board member of the Calgary Homeless Foundation, he worked to build non-profit networks and to secure financial support for the campaign. One of his honorary degree nominators, who worked with him on this project, described his role as a philanthropist: "He opens doors, writes letters and makes calls; and people listen. He and his wife Susan are major philanthropists in our country, and they do not seek so much to have others know of their generosity, as to inspire others to look beyond themselves and fix what can and should be fixed."

HONORARY DOCTOR OF LAWS

DON SEAMAN

Don Seaman was born in Rouleau, Sask., in 1925, to parents who encouraged their four children to take advantage of educational opportunities. Like his two brothers, Doc and B.J., he pursued a degree in mechanical engineering at the University of Saskatchewan, graduating in 1947.

Seaman began his career with Canadian Industries Limited in Shawinigan, Que., but soon joined his brothers in business associated with the infant oil industry in Alberta and Saskatchewan. In an interview with the Glenbow Institute in 2000, he described the excitement of being involved in drilling and oilfield service activities in those early days and of introducing pioneering technology into the oil exploration field. The company he participated in with his brothers, the Seaman Engineering and Drilling Company, became Bow Valley Industries, a major energy company that eventually had 15 subsidiaries and was an important international player in the oil industry.

Seaman retired from Bow Valley in 1988 at which time he formed his own company, D.R.S. Resource Investments, through which he has pursued interests in the nurturing of oil and gas service companies and in land development. His contributions to the oil and gas industry have been recognized by his induction into the Saskatchewan Oil and Gas Hall of Fame, his inclusion on the USask College of Engineering Wall of Distinction, and the award of a life membership in the Canadian Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors.

Among Seaman's honorary degree nominators were a number of Calgary entrepreneurs who expressed gratitude for his mentoring and encouragement as they took their places in a thriving Calgary economy. He is described as a "role model for leadership, integrity and entrepreneurial success."

Along with other members of his family, Seaman has been a prominent philanthropist. He and his brothers provided financial support for the establishment of a medical imaging research centre at the University of Calgary, and they also supported the communications program for students in the College of Engineering at USask. He was also the largest donor to the USask Space Design Team.

Inspired by his involvement in sports in small-town Saskatchewan, Seaman collaborated with the Town of Okotoks, Alta., to help build a state-of-the-art baseball stadium, named Seaman Stadium, in recognition of his contributions to the project. This program provides young athletes opportunities to further their ability in the sport at an elite level and in higher education through scholarships, which is the true driving force behind his support.

One of his nominators commented, "Don Seaman epitomizes the salt-of-the-earth, hard-working, passionate entrepreneur that Saskatchewan produces." In a career that has now spanned over seven decades, Seaman continues to participate vigorously and contribute significantly to his chosen profession.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF LETTERS

LOUISE HALFE

Louise Halfe—Sky Dancer—is a Cree poet and writer, Elder and teacher. Born in Two Hills, Alta., she attended a residential school as a child and has drawn on this experience to explore resiliency, reconciliation and the legacy of colonialism in her poetry. One nominator interviewed her after the publication of her first book, Bear Bones and Feathers, and said, “We were blown away by her guts, her strength, her unflinching gaze and her courageous words.” In her subsequent poetic work, she has continued to examine and illuminate uncomfortable themes and to celebrate the resilience of her family and her people. Her volumes of poetry have received numerous literary awards, and she served for two years as Saskatchewan’s Poet Laureate, a position that allowed her to mentor young poets and writers. In 2001, she became the first Indigenous poet to have her work included in a standard Canadian poetry anthology, and now, according to one of her nominators, it would be “unthinkable” for her work not to be included in any general anthology of Indigenous writing in Canada.

Halfe has participated as an instructor in university courses, and as a speaker and reader at numerous conferences, workshops and literary festivals in Canada and abroad. She is an Elder and advisor on Indigenous traditions at the Gordon Oakes Red Bear Student Centre at the University of Saskatchewan. In this role she provides advice and encouragement to the growing number of Indigenous students on campus and helps build bridges between the Indigenous and non-Indigenous members of the university community.

Throughout her career, Halfe has dedicated herself to assisting and advocating for the vulnerable in the community. In her work on issues of mental health, addictions and violence against women and children, she has used her wide knowledge of Indigenous traditions and teachings to bring messages of confidence and healing to those she encounters.

In 2018, a selection of her poems was released, entitled Sóhkêyihta. Halfe has said that this term can be understood as meaning “Have courage. Be brave. Be strong.” One of her nominators said the term characterizes “her writing enterprise and her sharing of healing work beyond that writing.”

DIGVIR S. JAYAS

From humble beginnings as a student and farmhand working outside of New Delhi, India, to serving as a distinguished professor and vice-president at the University of Manitoba (U of M), Digvir Jayas' career may be proof that you reap what you sow.

Distinguished professor, Dr. Digvir S. Jayas (PhD) was educated at the G.B. Pant University of Agriculture and Technology in Pantnagar, India, the U of M and the University of Saskatchewan. Before assuming the position of vice-president (research and international), he held several positions at the U of M, including vice-president (research) and associate vice-president (research), associate dean (research) in the Faculty of Agricultural and Food Sciences, department head of Biosystems Engineering and interim director of the Richardson Centre for Functional Foods and Nutraceuticals. He is a registered professional engineer and a registered professional agrologist and is currently serving as the interim president of the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada.

Jayas is a former Tier I (Senior) Canada Research Chair in Stored-Grain Ecosystems. He conducts research related to drying, handling and storing grains and oilseeds and digital image processing for grading and processing operations in the agri-food industry. He has authored or co-authored more than 900 technical articles in scientific journals, conference proceedings and books dealing with issues of storing, drying, handling and quality monitoring of grains. He has collaborated with researchers in several countries and has had significant impact on the development of efficient grain storage, handling and drying systems in Canada, China, India, Ukraine and the United States.

As a child growing up under the charge of his grandparents on a farm southeast of New Delhi, Jayas saw first-hand food loss and spoilage.

In a interview with the Winnipeg Free Press from January 2019, Jayas recalled, "there were many issues which I thought could be solved by applying engineering to agriculture. I said something could be done, but at that time I was not sure I would become a professor working in that area."

In 1980, Jayas came to Canada where he completed his master's degree in agricultural engineering at the U of M, and finished his PhD at USask. He later returned to the U of M as an assistant professor in the agricultural engineering department. While not necessarily anticipating to be an instrumental part in the academic pursuits of hundreds of students and researchers in Manitoba and other parts of Canada, Jayas said he has always been motivated to teach and to help others understand, explore and solve complex problems.

Jayas has received awards from several organizations in recognition of his research and professional contributions and most recently was appointed to the Order of Canada in 2018.

He has served as the president of the Agriculture Institute of Canada, Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of Manitoba (Engineers and Geoscientists Manitoba), Canadian Institute of Food Science and Technology, Canadian Society for Bioengineering, Engineers Canada and Manitoba Institute of Agrologists. He currently chairs the board of directors of RESOLVE, a prairie research network on family violence, TRIUMF, Canada's national particle accelerator centre, and the Smartpark Advisory Committee.

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCHER AWARD

ALISON NORLEN

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contributions to scholarship through the creation, expansion and critique of knowledge. Alison Norlen, a professor of painting and drawing in the Department of Art and Art History, is the spring 2019 recipient of this prestigious award.

One of Canada's leading contemporary artists, Norlen is renowned for her large-scale drawings and complex sculpture installations. She received her Master of Fine Arts from Yale University in 1989 and joined the University of Saskatchewan in 1999. Since then, Norlen's work has been featured in 28 solo exhibitions, five two-person exhibitions and more than 50 group exhibitions. Her work has been exhibited in major Canadian galleries including the National Gallery of Canada, the Winnipeg Art Gallery, Toronto's Power Plant Gallery and the Mendel Art Gallery. Her work has also been showcased internationally in the United States, China, South Korea, the Netherlands, Mexico and Brazil.

Some of Norlen's most ambitious and celebrated exhibitions include Beacon, a 40-foot lighthouse she built for the Nuit Blanche Festival in Toronto in 2012; Entourer, a 20 by 16 foot breaking wave sculpture she created for the 300th Anniversary of New Orleans at Luna Fête, the city's annual festival of light, art and technology in 2018; and Glimmer (Zeppelin), a 16 by 35 foot mixed media piece, commissioned in 2017 by Cadillac Fairview, which hangs in the Calgary City Centre Building. Her works have also been acquired by other major public institutions including the National Gallery of Canada, the Confederation Centre for the Arts, the Mackenzie Art Gallery, the Winnipeg Art Gallery, the Saskatchewan Arts Board and Canada Council for the Arts, as well as numerous private collectors in Canada and the United States.

An internationally recognized expert in a variety of sculpture techniques, including wire construction and precision welding, Norlen has served as a juror for several Canadian Council for the Arts competitions as well as on numerous boards for Canadian art institutions, including the Mendel Art Gallery, the Plug In Gallery, the Remail Modern and the AKA Gallery. In 2013, she was awarded the University of Saskatchewan College of Arts and Science's inaugural Distinguished Researcher Award, an award she received again in 2018. She was also awarded the USask Students' Union Teaching Excellence Award for 2018/19.

MASTER TEACHER AWARD

VINCE BRUNI-BOSSIO

Vince Bruni-Bossio is an associate professor in the Department of Management and Marketing and the director of the Edwards Experiential Learning Initiative (EELI) at the Edwards School of Business. Bruni-Bossio exemplifies the qualities of a master teacher through his devotion to the scholarship and practice of experiential learning and his tireless contributions to the teaching and learning environment at the University of Saskatchewan.

Bruni-Bossio has developed a teaching philosophy based on his martial arts background with three tenets: teaching the principles behind the lesson, creating real-life learning contexts and walking together through a learning situation. Students express their appreciation of this course structure of learning why, learning how and learning together. Bruni-Bossio's students have completed more than 150 problem-solving projects for community partners, all under his supervision. Bruni-Bossio demonstrates positive teaching by devoting exceptional amounts of time, energy and enthusiasm to ensure his students obtain knowledge and skills they can take out into the world after graduation. This type of experiential learning also benefits the community organizations with which he and his students work.

Bruni-Bossio's area of expertise is business strategy and governance, and his academic publications and consulting work reflect this knowledge. In addition, his interest in experiential learning has led to conference presentations and publications in this area of scholarship. As director of EELI, he seeks to increase capacity, coordination, communication and celebration of experiential learning opportunities, as well as foster new and emerging experiential learning initiatives at the Edwards School of Business. He shares his expertise across campus as well, as strategic advisor for the Indigenous Content General ReXquirement Process in Arts and Science, the chair of the Teaching, Learning, and Academic Resources Committee of Council, and through other strategic advising roles and projects.

Bruni-Bossio was awarded the Edwards School of Business Most Effective Professor Award (2015), the USask Student Union's Teaching Excellence Award (2015), the Provost's Award for Outstanding New Teacher (2016), the Provost's College Award for Teaching (2017) and the MBA Most Outstanding Teaching Award (2017). Perhaps one of Bruni-Bossio's students sums up his far-reaching impact best: "Bravo Vince! Thank you for everything that you taught us this year, and more importantly thank you for teaching us how to learn."

ARINJAY BANERJEE

Arinjay Banerjee was born in Calcutta, India in 1990. He completed his Bachelor of Science degree with a double major in Microbiology and Biochemistry from the University of Mumbai in 2012. Later that year he joined the National Institute of Virology, in Pune, India to start his Master of Science program in Virology. As part of this program, he attended the Western College of Veterinary Medicine (WCVm) at the University of Saskatchewan to complete his Master's thesis project under the guidance of Dr. Vikram Misra. Banerjee was awarded a gold medal by the University of Pune for exceptional academic performance during his Master's program. Banerjee completed his MSc in 2014 and started his PhD in the laboratory of Misra in the fall of 2014.

For his doctoral research, Banerjee studied emerging viruses and their interactions with wildlife reservoirs, such as bats. He carried out molecular and immunological studies at WCVm and collaborated with Dr. Darryl Falzarano (PhD) at VIDO-InterVac to carry out infection studies at the high containment level 3 laboratory. Banerjee's research identified several adaptations in the bat immune system that allow them to co-exist with viruses that cause lethal disease in other mammals, such as humans. He used Middle East respiratory syndrome coronavirus for his infection studies. There are currently no approved vaccines or therapeutics for this human pathogen and understanding how bats control this virus may one day enable scientists to identify therapeutic targets in humans.

During his doctoral studies, Banerjee published 11 peer-reviewed manuscripts. In addition to research articles, he has published nine open access articles with The Conversation for the non-scientific community. These articles have been re-distributed by news outlets such as Vancouver Sun, National Post, The West Australian, SudQuest, British Broadcasting Corporation, Scroll.in, The Weather Network, Daily Mail, Business Insider and World Economic Forum and have been read by over 220,000 people.

Banerjee has been the recipient of multiple academic, science communication and travel scholarships and awards, including the Saskatchewan Innovation and Opportunity Scholarship and the Department of Veterinary Microbiology Devolved scholarship. He has presented his research at multiple institutional, national and international conferences and has won several speaker awards. Along with his supervisor, Banerjee has also authored research grants that have funded portions of his research during his PhD.

Banerjee's dedication towards interdisciplinary collaboration lead to him being elected as the Secretary General of Students for One Health, as part of the One Health Commission, a not-for-profit organization based in the United States. In addition, he served on many institutional committees and boards at USask to represent the graduate student body.

Banerjee is currently a postdoctoral research fellow at McMaster University. Banerjee is continuing his research with Dr. Karen Mossman (PhD) to investigate how wildlife reservoirs, such as bats, harbor emerging viruses that cause serious disease in humans. He is also training multiple undergraduate students and sits on two inter-city committees dedicated at protecting citizens from pathogens that emerge in wildlife, such as bats, raccoons and skunks.

MAX V. BIRK

Max Birk was born in Wuppertal, North Rhine-Westphalia, Germany, in 1983. He received his graduate degree in psychology from the University of Trier, Germany, in 2012. Under the supervision of Dr. Regan Mandryk (PhD), he completed his PhD in computer science at the University of Saskatchewan in 2018.

Birk's dissertation is about investigating avatar customization as an interaction technique for improving adherence in technology-enabled services for health. Digital health interventions have shown promise for improving physical and mental health on a global scale; but the largest barrier for effective technology-based treatment is participants' fading engagement with the applications—even the best digital interventions will not work if people don't use them. Engaging users through design presents an elegant solution to the problem; however, research on digital health interventions has been primarily focused on the evaluation of new interventions and not on improving adherence through engaging interaction design. Drawing inspiration from game-design—an area of interactive technology that is known to draw people in and keep them coming back, Birk's dissertation investigates avatar customization as a game-based motivational design strategy across a series of four studies. Overall, his results showed that avatar customization increases motivation over time and in the moment of use, suggesting that avatar customization is a viable strategy to address the engagement barrier that thwarts the efficacy of technology-enabled services for health.

Birk received several awards and scholarships during his PhD studies, including the Graduate Students' Association Excellence in the Sciences Award, the COGECO Graduate Communications Scholarship, the Geddes Graduate Scholarship in Computer Science and the Bill Buxton Award for the best Canadian dissertation in human-computer interaction. He has presented his work at several international conferences including giving an invited talk at the Games Developer Conference Europe 2016. Birk has co-authored 25 peer-reviewed papers in his academic career, four of these received ACM honourable mentions or best paper awards.

Birk is currently an assistant professor in the Department of Industrial Design at Eindhoven Technical University in the Netherlands. He is teaching undergraduate classes in game design and data science, and has continued to study the effects of game-based motivational design strategies in-the-wild.

HAYLEY BOWLING

Hayley Bowling, from Calgary, is graduating with great distinction with a bachelor's degree of science in animal bioscience.

Through Bowling's studies, she has developed a passion for the health, management and welfare of many species, as well as One Health, particularly the interplay between animal and human health. Bowling's interest in animal welfare led her to complete an undergraduate research thesis on practical environmental enrichment strategies for piglets in farrowing and nursery, for which she received an NSERC Undergraduate Student Research Award.

Bowling's extensive volunteer experience includes work at Dare to Dream Horse Rescue and the University of Saskatchewan's Poultry Centre, as well as at veterinary clinics and the SPCA. She has served as a student advisor on the USask START Advisory Committee and a peer mentor for the Peer Assisted Learning Program.

Bowling received numerous scholarships, including the Torvald and Margaret Tollefson Renewable Entrance Scholarship in Agriculture and Bioresources, the Arnold and Emily Robison Scholarship, the Harvey Scholarship, the Syngenta Achievement Award, the Robert T. Armstrong Scholarship and the Normal Horace Pearce Graduation Prize.

Bowling plans to pursue a career in veterinary medicine and to continue her work in research, teaching and public engagement.

JACQUES LANIECE

Jacques Laniece was born in France and immigrated to Canada when six months old. His first language is French, and he maintains a connection to his birth country, returning every other year to visit family. He began his studies at the U of S in Kinesiology and received the Heather Jean Dawe prize, given to the student with the highest average in first year Kinesiology. However, he found that physiology was what he was most passionate about and transferred to the Physiology and Pharmacology degree program in his second year.

Jacques is not only an outstanding scholar, but is also an ardent volunteer. His interests lie primarily with hospice and palliative care, and with youth mentorship. He is the youngest volunteer with the Prairie Hospice Society, where he has volunteered since November 2017, providing non-medical, practical, emotional, and spiritual support to those living with a terminal illness. In January 2018 he was matched with a mother suffering from a terminal illness who wanted someone to build a relationship with her 8 year old son. When she passed away in January 2019, he and the Prairie Hospice Society were able to transfer that relationship to the Big Brothers Big Sisters of Saskatoon, where that relationship has been able to continue. Jacques has also served as a volunteer English-French Translator for French immigrants seeking medical care through the Réseau Santé en Français.

On graduating, Jacques plans to travel in South-East Asia and Australia to celebrate finishing his degree and to broaden his cultural horizons before returning to study medicine in Canada. His long term goals are to work as a physician while maintaining an active role in palliative/ hospice care and youth mentorship.
