

A message from
President Peter MacKinnon

I want to express a very warm welcome to the graduates, families and friends who join us today. Convocation is the University's most important ceremony, for it is here that we celebrate the accomplishments of our students and the contributions of their loved ones to their success. You should be proud of this day, and of the commitment and sacrifice that it represents.

We at the University of Saskatchewan salute you - our graduates - and we extend to you our very best wishes for the future. We hope that you will stay in touch with us through our University of Saskatchewan alumni family, and that we will have the opportunity to welcome you 'home' to our campus many times in the years ahead.

Warmest congratulations!

University of Saskatchewan

2001 Fall Convocation

The word “Convocation” arises from the Latin “con” meaning “together,” and “vocare” meaning “to call.” Our Convocation ceremony is a calling together of the new graduates of the University of Saskatchewan, symbolizing the historical practice of calling together all former graduates. In current times, the major functions of Convocation are the election of representatives to University governing bodies and the admission of candidates to degrees. The Chancellor, elected by convocation as its Chair, is the highest official and spokesperson of the University.

The Convocation ceremony marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges. Candidates for degrees, known as graduands, having completed the requirements of a course of study, are recommended by college faculties and the University Council to receive degrees from the University of Saskatchewan.

The ceremony, solemnized in the presence of the University community and family and friends of the graduands, consists of three parts: a procession marking the leaving of the old status and entering the new; the President's statement to the graduands, the Secretary's petition and the Chancellor's consent for their admission; followed by individual presentation by their Dean and admission by the Chancellor to the degrees to which they are entitled. As graduates are admitted to their degrees, a graduation hood, which has a colour symbolizing a particular degree, is placed over each graduate's head. A banner displaying the University crest is hung above the stage, as a symbol of the University's authority to confer degrees.

Following the conferring of degrees and acceptance of each graduate as a member of Convocation, a reception is held – a celebration on the occasion of the formal transition from the role of learner to the role of producer and contributor in the field of the graduate's choice.

We honour and welcome this year's graduates!

The Chancellor

W. Thomas (Tom) Molloy

Tom Molloy was born and raised in Saskatoon. He attended St. Thomas More College and later the College of Law, both at the University of Saskatchewan. He received his B.A. and LL.B. in 1964.

He has practiced law in Saskatoon since graduation and is with the MacPherson Leslie & Tyerman's Saskatoon office. He has represented the Government of Canada as the Chief Federal Negotiator in the successfully concluded treaties in Nunavut and with the Nisga'a in British Columbia and an Agreement in Principle with the Sechelt Indian Band. He presently represents Canada in treaty negotiations in British Columbia, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Nunavut. Mr. Molloy has been described as "Canada's most expert treaty negotiator."

Mr. Molloy recently authored a book The World is our Witness: The Historic Journey of the Nisga'a into Canada. The book has won two Saskatchewan Book Awards, The Brenda MacDonald Riches First Book Award and the Non-fiction Award which was sponsored by the University of Saskatchewan.

For his work in the community he has received a number of awards including the City of Saskatoon Certificate of Distinguished Community Service; Rotary Golden wheels Award for Excellence, Saskatoon B'nai Brith "Proud of You Award", and the Head of the Public Service Award for Excellence in Service Delivery.

In 1996 he was made an officer of the Order of Canada, with a citation that reads: He is widely known for his role as Chief Negotiator for the Government of Canada in the Nunavut land Claim Agreement. His integrity, commitment to a just settlement and personable rapport have also been valuable in his leadership of numerous cultural, educational and charitable groups, not only in Saskatchewan but also nationally, including the Meewasin Foundation and PRIDE Canada.

The University of Saskatchewan Alumni Association awarded him the 2000 Alumni Honour Award in recognition of receiving notable acclaim for professional achievements, which in turn has enhanced the image of the University of Saskatchewan and its alumni. In January 2001, The Canadian Bar Association Saskatchewan Branch named him as the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award.

Master Teacher Award

Jack Hope

The Master Teacher Award was established to emphasize the importance of teaching at the University of Saskatchewan and to recognize and honour those faculty members who excel in teaching. The Selection Committee has named Professor Jack A. Hope of the Department of Curriculum Studies to be the recipient of this prestigious award at this Convocation. Professor Hope obtained all three of his degrees at the University of British Columbia, his B.Sc. in 1965, his M.A. in 1972, and his doctorate in Mathematics Education in 1984. He was appointed to the faculty of the College of Education at the University of Saskatchewan in 1972 and promoted to Full Professor in 1987.

Professor Jack Hope is an inspired and inspiring teacher, influencing hundreds of students to become teachers, and he continually challenges his colleagues to be better teachers. Professor Hope's work in curriculum development has benefited the province, and it has been widely recognized as some of the most significant work done in mathematics education in Canada. His work on the "Common Essential Learnings," and his monograph "Charting the Course" helped define how mathematics should be taught in every school in Saskatchewan.

Professor Hope demonstrates a deep commitment to social justice and equity. In his work with First Nations educators in the ITEP (Indian Teacher Education Program) and SUNTEP (Saskatchewan Urban Native Teachers Education Program), Professor Hope, on his own initiative, worked with aboriginal teacher education programs to redesign mathematics courses to fit the philosophy of their programs. He not only created new courses, he also drove to Prince Albert weekly for four years to implement them.

Professor Hope has modeled the kind of leadership that will make programs at the U of S relevant for a changing population of students. In his usual fashion, he has taken no credit for it.

The praise given to Professor Hope by his students over the years has been consistent and enthusiastic. He is known as a teacher who combines theory and practice, and he teaches with enthusiasm, humour, professionalism and exceptional skill. More important, Professor Hope's students see themselves differently after completing one of his courses. He empowers his math students, helping them see they are capable of doing things they never thought they could. This is a rare and precious gift. As one student said: "I don't hate math anymore! I can only hope that I will be a little like him when I teach math to my students."

Professor Hope is also a first-rate scholar. His research, which includes work in the area of number sense and mental math, informs his classroom practice, and has earned him an international reputation. He has written more than 30 textbooks and monographs that are used in schools around the world, and he publishes regularly in refereed professional journals.

Professor Hope demonstrates honesty and integrity in every aspect of his work, and his colleagues and students have come to rely on him to cut through the fog of difficult challenges. Professor Hope has been an exemplary teacher throughout his career, distinguishing himself as a leader in education, and making important and lasting contributions to the province, the University of Saskatchewan, and to countless children and teachers.

Distinguished Researcher Award

John Courtney

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contribution to scholarship through the creation, expansion and critique of knowledge. The University has selected John Courtney, Professor in the Department of Political Studies, as the Fall 2001 recipient.

Professor Courtney earned his B.A. (1958) at the University of Manitoba, his M.B.A. (1960) at the University of Western Ontario, and his Master's (1962) and Ph.D. (1964) at Duke University. He joined the University of Saskatchewan faculty in 1965.

Professor Courtney is a world-renowned expert on the fundamental institutions of electoral democracy due to his innovative research into political parties, the electoral system, and representation. His most recent book, Commissioned Ridings: Designing Canada's Electoral Districts (2001) is widely considered to be the definitive look at Canadian electoral boundaries.

He also examined the Canadian political system in his previous books, Do Conventions Matter?: Choosing National Party Leaders in Canada (1995) and The Selection of National Party Leaders in Canada (1973).

Professor Courtney brought his knowledge and expertise to government in 1987 when he served on the Federal Electoral Boundaries Commission. His co-authored report for the Department of External Affairs on International Cooperation for the Development of Human Rights and Democratic Institutions led to the creation in Montreal of the centre of the same name.

One of Canada's best-known political scientists, Professor Courtney is frequently asked to testify before parliamentary committees and has appeared as an expert witness in several important cases involving Canada's electoral laws.

A highly regarded teacher, Professor Courtney often serves as external examiner on graduate committees across Canada and as an analyst on radio and television. He has been a visiting scholar at universities in the United States, Germany, Israel and England. In 1990-91, he held the Mackenzie King Chair in Canadian Studies at Harvard University.

In addition to his own books, he has edited or co-edited five books and written 31 book chapters and 26 articles. He has received numerous federal research grants and was awarded the prestigious Killam

Research Fellowship in 1998.

He served as a member of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council (SSHRC) for six years, including a stint as Vice-President from 1989-91. His 1989 report on the SSHRC Research Grants Program led to a fundamental overhaul of social science and humanities research funding nationally.

He has served on the board of the Canadian Political Science Association, including a term as president in 1987-88 and as English-language editor of the Canadian Journal of Political Science for three years.

Professor Courtney's work has helped shape political studies in Canada and the nation itself.

President's Service Award

Merry Beazely

Lauded by colleagues as an outstanding individual who has made an exceptional contribution to the University of Saskatchewan, Merry Beazely is being honored at Fall Convocation 2001 for her 25 years of leadership and service to students, faculty and staff.

After earning two Bachelor of Science degrees at the U of S, in Biology in 1970 and in Home Economics in 1975, Merry went on to complete a one-year graduate dietetic internship at Royal University Hospital. Before joining the U of S staff, she served as Editorial Assistant for the Botanical Gazette, a scientific journal published by the University of Chicago Press under the editorship of Dr. Taylor Steeves of the Biology Department.

Merry joined the University staff in 1976 as Administrative Assistant in the College of Home Economics. Her broad range of responsibilities included: helping to develop and implement new Family and Consumer Studies and Foods and Nutrition programs; assisting in nutrition teaching; making enhancements to the research program, student orientation, student counselling, public relations and budget planning; and administering scholarships and awards.

In 1987, with the phasing out of the College and the transfer of some areas to other units on campus, Merry became Administrative Assistant in the College of Pharmacy and was instrumental in developing the Nutrition undergraduate program in that College — which was to become the College of Pharmacy and Nutrition in 1994. In 1998 Merry was appointed Executive Assistant to the Dean of Pharmacy and Nutrition, to take on added responsibilities, including helping the College through accreditation review of its professional programs and the U of S Systematic Program Review of its graduate and undergraduate programs.

Over the years, Merry has also been an active contributor to many University initiatives including such areas as Services for Students with Disabilities and the Managed Rehabilitation Program.

Merry's co-workers say they can't help but use superlatives when describing her. "She inspires others with commitment, enthusiasm, extra effort and dedication." "The impact she has had (on the University) has been most significant." "Merry's greatest characteristic is her amazing ability to bring out the best" in her work and associations with others. "Merry is an exceptional individual that I, and others, have come to know, respect and admire. She is, without a doubt, one of the most dedicated individuals I know at the University."

Her superior professional skills and her enthusiastic, caring and positive interpersonal skills are an inspiration to all at the U of S.

The U of S established the President's Service Award in 1995 to recognize exceptional contributions by non-academic staff. It honors individuals who have enhanced the work environment by providing extraordinary service to the University community, who have inspired, supported and respected the endeavors of others, and who have achieved this distinction through dedication and commitment.

Alumni Award of Achievement

W. Thomas (Tom) Molloy

Mr. Tom Molloy, a prominent lawyer with MacPherson Leslie & Tyerman in Saskatoon, has made important contributions to the community life of Saskatoon and to the volunteer sector in Canada.

His participation in volunteer organizations touches nearly every facet of life in a community – health, business, sports, recreation, community and family relationships. Most recently, he has served in executive positions with the Canadian Landmine Foundation, the James P. Mahoney Institute of Family, PRIDE Canada Ltd. and the Kidney Research Foundation of Saskatchewan. Mr. Molloy's commitment to voluntary service includes former executive positions with the Meewasin Foundation, Habitat for Humanity, the Wanuskewin Heritage Park Board, the Saskatoon Foundation, the Friends of Saskatchewan Children (responsible for the establishment of Saskatoon's Ronald McDonald House), the St. Paul's Hospital Board of Trustees, and The Partnership.

Mr. Molloy has also made remarkable contributions to the political and constitutional development of Canada through his role over the past two decades as Chief Negotiator for the Government of Canada in land claims. He was Chief Negotiator in the Nunavut Land Claims Agreement, which led to the creation of Nunavut. He played a key role in the conclusion of the Nisga'a Treaty, the first modern treaty with First Nations people in British Columbia, and is the first treaty to include self-government provisions. He concluded an Agreement in Principle with the Sechelt Indian Band. Mr. Molloy continues to be involved in the negotiations with other

First Nations and Inuit in British Columbia, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Nunavut.

Mr. Molloy has been tireless in communicating with the public to explain the significance of the land claims settlement process. He recently published a book The World is Our Witness: The Historic Journey of the Nisga'a into Canada which has won two book awards. He has carried out his responsibilities conscientiously and modestly, and in a way which has earned him the respect of all those involved in the land claim process.

The Alumni Award of Achievement was determined on April 30, 2001 and Mr. Molloy was elected the 12th Chancellor of the University of Saskatchewan on June 6, 2001.

Nominated by the U of S College of Law Dean, Dr. Beth Bilson, BA'67, MA'70, LLB'77, PhD (Univ. of London)'83, and Mr. A. Robson Garden, BA'68, LLB'73, both of Saskatoon, the U of S Alumni Association is proud to bestow the prestigious honour of the 2001 Alumni Award of Achievement to Mr. William Thomas (Tom) Molloy, O.C., Q.C., in recognition of his outstanding contributions to his profession, community and the University of Saskatchewan.

President's Medal

This medal is awarded to the undergraduate student with the highest academic standing at Fall Convocation.

Trustin Scott Domes

Trustin Domes graduated from Walter Murray Collegiate Institute in Saskatoon in 1998, with his Secondary Education Diploma with High Distinction. Trustin enrolled in the College of Arts and Science in September 1998 and is graduating with a Bachelor of Science Three-year Degree with a major in Anatomy and Cell Biology with Great Distinction.

Trustin has been the recipient of numerous awards during his academic career both in high school and at university. He received the Saskatoon School Board Award of Excellence in 1998. He was the recipient of the University of Saskatchewan President's First and Best Scholarship from 1998 through 2001. While attending the College of Arts and Science he was named on the Dean's Honour List from 1999 to 2001, received the University of Saskatchewan Undergraduate Scholarship as well as numerous other awards. Most recently Trustin was awarded an NSERC Undergraduate Research Award in the summer of 2001.

During the summer of 2001 Trustin did his NSERC-funded summer research in the Department of Anatomy and Cell Biology. Professor Juurlink, Head, Department of Anatomy and Cell Biology describes Trustin as a "brilliant, hardworking, conscientious summer student who learned very quickly" and that "he is gifted intellectually and technically".

Mr. Domes is currently enrolled in the Faculty of Medicine at the University of Alberta where he is pursuing his medical degree. Trustin plans on gaining "Special Training in Research" by completing a research project during his course at the University of Alberta.

History of the University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan was established by the University Act on April 3, 1907, only 18 months after Saskatchewan became a province.

The people of the province, as well as their government, were instrumental in shaping the new University. The provincial government requested all residents who were graduates of a Canadian or British university to form the first Convocation and elect the University's Senate. The Senate, in turn, elected five members to the first Board of Governors, while the province appointed three. In 1908, the Board selected Professor Walter Charles Murray, of Dalhousie University, as the first President.

Classes in Arts and Science began in September, 1909, in downtown Saskatoon. Construction of the campus began in 1910 and the first buildings were occupied in the fall of 1912. They included the College Building (Administration Building), Saskatchewan Hall (a student residence), residences for the Dean of Agriculture and the President, a laboratory for Engineering, and a number of farm buildings.

From the beginning, the University established an emphasis on research and teaching in a context of community service, and encouraged co-operation among departments and divisions in tackling common problems. The development of rust-resistant strains of wheat, for example, initiated by the University and federal and provincial research agencies, has been of untold value to the prairie economy.

In 1909, the University had 70 students and 5 professors, including the President. Today there are over 18,000 students studying in 13 colleges and 1 school. This is the only university in Canada with five health-science colleges and a major teaching hospital on the same campus. The University offers Spring and Summer Session, Evening Courses, Independent Studies courses and Distance Education as well as on-campus daytime courses.

The University of Saskatchewan overlooks the South Saskatchewan River from a 755 hectare site. The campus consists of 147 hectares with the remaining being a research park, the University farm and experimental plots.

Most early buildings on campus are Collegiate Gothic in style and are constructed in a local dolomite, popularly known as greystone. Subsequently constructed buildings also have greystone, as well as Tyndall stone (pre-cut slabs quarried in Tyndall, Manitoba), concrete, brick, glass and aggregate facings.

The University offers many points of interest for visitors: the Diefenbaker Canada Centre, Museum of Natural Sciences, Museum of Antiquities, Biology Museum, Pharmaceutical Museum, the Observatory, the Gordon Snelgrove Gallery, the St. Thomas More Gallery, Rugby Chapel, the Little Stone Schoolhouse, the Memorial Gates, Patterson Garden, and the Kenderdine Gallery.

You are invited to visit our campus at any time!
