

A message from
President Peter MacKinnon

I want to express a very warm welcome to the graduates, families and friends who join us today. Convocation is the University's most important ceremony, for it is here that we celebrate the accomplishments of our students and the contributions of their loved ones to their success. You should be proud of this day, and of the commitment and sacrifice that it represents.

We at the University of Saskatchewan salute you - our graduates - and we extend to you our very best wishes for the future. We hope that you will stay in touch with us through our University of Saskatchewan alumni family, and that we will have the opportunity to welcome you 'home' to our campus many times in the years ahead.

2002 Spring Convocation

The word "Convocation" arises from the Latin "con" meaning "together," and "vocare" meaning "to call." Our Convocation ceremony is a calling together of the new graduates of the University of Saskatchewan, symbolizing the historical practice of calling together all former graduates. In current times, the major functions of Convocation are the election of representatives to University governing bodies and the admission of candidates to degrees. The Chancellor, elected by convocation as its Chair, is the highest official and spokesperson of the University.

The Convocation ceremony marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges. Candidates for degrees, known as graduands, having completed the requirements of a course of study, are recommended by college faculties and the University Council to receive degrees from the University of Saskatchewan.

The ceremony, solemnized in the presence of the University community and family and friends of the graduands, consists of three parts: a procession marking the leaving of the old status and entering the new; the President's statement to the graduands, the Secretary's petition and the Chancellor's consent for their admission; followed by individual presentation by their Dean and admission by the Chancellor to the degrees to which they are entitled. As graduates are admitted to their degrees, a graduation hood, which has a colour symbolizing a particular degree, is placed over each graduate's head. A banner displaying the University crest is hung above the stage, as a symbol of the University's authority to confer degrees.

Following the conferring of degrees and acceptance of each graduate as a member of Convocation, a reception is held – a celebration on the occasion of the formal transition from the role of learner to the role of producer and contributor in the field of the graduate's choice.

The Chancellor

W. T. (Tom) Molloy

Tom Molloy was born and raised in Saskatoon. He attended St. Thomas More College and later the College of Law, both at the University of Saskatchewan. He received his B.A. and LL.B. in 1964. He has practiced law in Saskatoon since graduation and is with the MacPherson Leslie & Tyerman's Saskatoon office. He has represented the Government of Canada as the Chief Federal Negotiator in the successfully concluded treaties in Nunavut and with the Nisga'a in British Columbia and an Agreement in Principle with the Sechelt Indian Band. He presently represents Canada in treaty negotiations in British Columbia, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Nunavut. Mr. Molloy has been described as "Canada's most expert treaty negotiator."

Mr. Molloy recently authored a book The World is our Witness: The Historic Journey of the Nisga'a into Canada. The book has won two Saskatchewan Book Awards, The Brenda MacDonald Riches First Book Award and the Non-fiction Award which was sponsored by the University of Saskatchewan.

For his work in the community he has received a number of awards including the City of Saskatoon Certificate of Distinguished Community Service; Rotary Golden Wheels Award for Excellence, Saskatoon B'nai Brith "Proud of You Award", and the Head of the Public Service Award for Excellence in Service Delivery.

In 1996 he was made an officer of the Order of Canada, with a citation that reads: He is widely known for his role as Chief Negotiator for the Government of Canada in the Nunavut Land Claim Agreement. His integrity, commitment to a just settlement and personable rapport have also been valuable in his leadership of numerous cultural, educational and charitable groups, not only in Saskatchewan but also nationally, including the Meewasin Foundation and PRIDE Canada.

The University of Saskatchewan Alumni Association awarded him the 2000 Alumni Honour Award in recognition of receiving notable acclaim for professional achievements, which in turn has enhanced the image of the University of Saskatchewan and its alumni. In January 2001, The Canadian Bar Association Saskatchewan Branch named him as the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award.

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Alan C. Cairns

Alan C. Cairns studied at the University of Toronto and Oxford University, from which he obtained a D. Phil. in 1963. He was a member of the Department of Political Science at the University of British Columbia from 1960 until his retirement in 1995. Since his retirement, Dr. Cairns has had visiting appointments and chairs at the University of Toronto, Queen's University, the University of Saskatchewan, York University, the University of Waterloo and the University of British Columbia. While at the University of Saskatchewan, Professor Cairns was the incumbent of the Law Foundation of Saskatchewan Chair in the College of Law and he taught in the Department of Political Studies. His list of academic contributions since his retirement is a four-page document.

Dr. Cairns is a well-known expert on constitutional and political issues. A fellow political scientist at York University described Professor Cairns as "the leading student of Canadian politics" as a way of capturing the contribution, which he has made to academic analysis and public debate on questions concerning constitutional developments in Canada. As a writer and commentator, Professor Cairns has brought a meticulous scholarly sensibility, a keen awareness of constitutional priorities, and a passion about the constitutional future of the country to bear on issues of pressing and significant concern to the citizens of Canada.

He has published countless articles and books over his career and is still active in his research and writing.

In recognition of his achievements, he has been made an Officer of the Order of Canada and a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. He was awarded the first Governor General's International Award for Canadian Studies, and was the recipient of the prestigious Canada Council Killam Scholarship 1989-1991. The career of Professor Cairns demonstrates that the scholarly role – that patient, disinterested, orderly process of attempting to understand and explain historical events and societal phenomena – is not subordinate or inferior to direct involvement in the political or administrative process. The task of reflecting on the significance of public events is important to any democratic society which is to function properly, and there can be few better examples of mastery of this craft than Professor Cairns.

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Margaret (Peggy) L. McKercher

Peggy McKercher has made outstanding contributions to her alma mater, her city, her province and country in areas of enormous significance.

Mrs. McKercher graduated from the University of Saskatchewan where she was active in student government and excelled as an all-round athlete. She was a recipient of the Spirit of Youth Award, and is a member of the University's Athletic Wall of Fame. She is a former faculty member. Mrs. McKercher served as the University representative and subsequent Chair of the Meewasin Valley Authority in its formative years, contributing to an innovative and invaluable concept in civic conservation, beautification and development. Her leadership and administrative skills were also utilized as Vice-Chair of Wanuskewin Heritage Park, which was developed and built by MVA, and which houses a state of the art University of Saskatchewan Archaeological lab interpreting 6000 years of Plains Indian history.

Peggy McKercher's appreciation of history and our cultural heritage is further manifested in her service as a Board member of the National Capital Commissions' Canadiana Fund, the Saskatchewan Arts Board, and most recently as the Saskatchewan representative on the Trans Canada Trail Foundation Advisory Board. Peggy McKercher has chaired the University's Committee on Heritage Buildings, and has worked tirelessly in support of the restoration of our beautiful College Building.

Mrs. McKercher's skills and energies have been directed in service on the Mayor's South Downtown Task Force, the Saskatchewan Medical Research Foundation, the Saskatchewan Order of Merit Advisory Committee, and the Canadian Water Resources Board of Directors. She has served as chair of the Sherbrooke Community Centre Fund Raising Campaign. She was the first woman to be elected to the Rural Municipality of Corman Park Council and served as Deputy Reeve and on a range of committees.

Peggy McKercher's ongoing love of sports and understanding of the positive force physical activity can be in our lives, led to her work on the Jeux Canada Games Board of Directors and the ParticipACTION Board of Directors.

Mrs. McKercher was honoured as Saskatoon Citizen of the Year in 1989, and has been the recipient of numerous other awards including the Rosalie Early Memorial Award; the Governor General's Canada 125 Award; the Ernst and Young,

Bank of Montreal Award for Socially Responsible Entrepreneur of the Year, Western Canada for 1994. In 1995 Peggy McKercher was invested in the Order of Canada. On November 21, 2001 she was awarded the Saskatchewan Order of Merit.

In 1995 Peggy McKercher assumed the role of Chancellor of the University of Saskatchewan and her term of office concluded in 2001. For six years Peggy McKercher's quiet dignity, gracious personality and sound wisdom served the University of Saskatchewan in ceremony, governance and everyday life in an outstanding manner. Her work on behalf of this University, city, province and nation are truly worthy of recognition.

Master Teacher Award

Donna Greschner

The Master Teacher Award was established to emphasize the importance of teaching at the University of Saskatchewan and to honour those faculty members who excel in teaching. The Selection Committee has chosen Professor Donna Greschner of the College of Law to be the recipient of this prestigious award at this Convocation. Professor Greschner was born in rural northwest Saskatchewan and attended school there. She came to the University of Saskatchewan, graduating with a Bachelor of Commerce degree with Great Distinction in 1979 and a Bachelor of Laws with Great Distinction the following year as Outstanding Graduate. In 1982, she earned a graduate law degree from Oxford University on a Commonwealth Scholarship, returning as a member of our law faculty the same year. In 1991, she was promoted to the rank of Professor of Law.

A former student has written: "Her knowledge and passion for a seemingly tedious subject, Constitutional Law, was not only refreshing, but infectious. Six years later I can quote verbatim from her opening lecture where she spoke of our Constitution as a 'living, breathing' instrument. I left the class with a clear understanding of the material and a lasting love of the subject." She also unselfishly found the time to offer survival tips like how to deal with volumes of reading in the middle of the night and overcome hand cramps during examinations. Her students have nominated her three times for the USSU Teaching Excellence Award, and in the College's formal evaluation of her teaching, her faculty colleagues always assessed her as "superior." According to her Dean, "Professor Greschner is in the select company of outstanding teachers in this law college and in the legal professorate in Canada."

Professor Greschner has taught every type of course offered by the College: large classes (upper year and first year), seminars, theory courses, legal writing, and the Law Review course. Her teaching techniques include problem-solving, web-based learning, talking circles, multi-media, small-group discussion, Socratic methods, Oxford debates, role-playing, and lecturing.

Great teachers also demonstrate expertise, enthusiasm, and empathy. Professor Greschner's students praise her subject mastery, her contagious enthusiasm, and her concern for their education and well-being. As one student put it, "few professors are in the same league as Donna Greschner."

A Master Teacher is expected to be a worthy researcher as well. Evidence of her academic excellence rests in Professor Greschner's published work, including a book, many book chapters and refereed articles, and invited conference presentations around the world in such places as South Africa, Australia, and Hong Kong.

A story is told of a senior Oxford Don who gave advice to a junior faculty member: "Don't try to prove that you're clever. We're all clever here. Be kind." "Donna wears her outstanding academic achievement lightly," her students tell us, "bringing to her teaching, mentorship, and collegial activities rare elements of personal thoughtfulness toward students and her fellow faculty members." She is a superb emissary of her discipline, touching everyone she encounters with her passionate curiosity and knowledge. The University of Saskatchewan is indeed fortunate to have such a fine teacher on its staff. She is most deserving of this honour.

President's Service Award

Heather Kuttai

A mention of Heather Kuttai's name across the University of Saskatchewan campus quickly shows why the Director of Disability Services for Students is being honoured with the President's Service Award at Spring Convocation 2002.

In their support of her nomination for the award, students, staff and faculty came forward with glowing descriptions of the qualities Heather has brought to the U of S since she became the first occupant of her position in 1994. They unreservedly praise her as dedicated, understanding, compassionate, responsive, insightful, creative, practical, fair, enthusiastic, and showing great leadership and warmth.

One co-worker said, "Heather's dedication and commitment are boundless. She leads through inspiration, support and respect for others, which has earned her national acknowledgement for the service and initiatives she has provided."

All who have worked with Heather note she continually goes the extra mile to help students succeed in their programs, and to help faculty and staff appreciate how a bit of accommodation on their part can provide an equal opportunity to higher education for a student with a disability.

Heather has firsthand experience of the challenges faced by students with disabilities. A wheelchair user since the age of 6, when an injury damaged her spinal cord, Heather graduated from the U of S in 1994 with a B.A. in Sociology.

In the eight years since joining the U of S staff, she has developed a staff of one full-time, two part-time and about 35 casual employees, and the number of students being helped has shot up from 50 in 1994 to about 750 today. The list of initiatives she has developed since 1994 is long, and includes:

an exam accommodation program, a note-taking program, library assistance, academic support groups for students with learning disabilities, an accessibility inventory of campus, Disability Awareness Week at the U of S, and a mentoring program. Heather also works to integrate students with disabilities into larger campus programs, such as the annual fall Orientation. One highlight of her U of S career was the Board of Governors' adoption in 1997 of a University policy for students with disabilities. And in 1999 and 2000 she produced two videos, "Teaching Students With Disabilities" and "Faces of Diversity", which have become invaluable tools for raising awareness, and which she has shown at talks across North America and as far away as Austria. Last year she won the "Excellence in Service to Students with Disabilities" award from the Canadian Association of Disability Service Providers in Post-Secondary Education.

Not stopping at that, Heather has been a world-class member of Canada's wheelchair target-shooting team. At the 1988 Paralympics in Seoul, South Korea she won two silver medals and at the 1992 Barcelona Paralympics she won a bronze. She is well on her way to competing in the 2004 Paralympics in Athens.

Heather's real target at the U of S is helping students succeed in their University experience. And they say she's hitting the mark. As one student put it: "She has made it possible for me to flourish in my academic career ... I can safely say I would not be where I am today without her assistance, guidance and support."

The President's Service Award recognizes exceptional contributions by non-academic U of S staff.

Distinguished Researcher Award

Ali H. Rajput

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contribution to scholarship through the creation, expansion and critique of knowledge. The University has selected Ali H. Rajput, Professor in the Division of Neurology, College of Medicine as the Spring 2002 recipient of this award.

Professor Rajput earned Bachelor of Medicine and Bachelor of Surgery degrees (1958) at the University of Sind, Pakistan and a Master of Science degree (1966) in neurology at the University of Michigan. He was appointed a Fellow of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada in 1966.

With the exception of one year's sabbatical at the Mayo Clinic, he has spent his 35-year career at the University of Saskatchewan. He served as head of the Division of Neurology from 1985 to 2001. He is currently an associate member of the Department of Psychiatry and the Department of Community Health and Epidemiology.

Professor Rajput is one of the world's foremost researchers on Parkinson's disease. He has done substantial research on levodopa, the first effective long-term treatment for Parkinson's disease. His work has settled controversy about possible toxic side effects of the drug, enabling physicians to prescribe levodopa without hesitation to patients who would benefit.

Professor Rajput's studies on levodopa therapy have changed standard practices in neurology. He has found that the drug is not toxic to humans and that timely levodopa administration prolongs survival in Parkinson's disease patients. Patients now receive lower, more beneficial doses of levodopa. He has also done extensive study of clinical diagnosis in Parkinsonism.

He has recently discovered a compound in the brains of Parkinson's patients that could be related to the cause of the disease, making prevention of Parkinson's a possibility. He has also done significant clinical research on Alzheimer's pathology that has potential applications for helping both Alzheimer's and Parkinson's patients.

He has balanced clinical practice with teaching, administrative duties and research, acting as a mentor and collaborator to faculty, residents and students throughout his career.

Professor Rajput has been honoured with many awards including the Saskatchewan Order of Merit in 1993, the Order of Canada (Officer) in 1997, and the Morton Schulman Award from the Parkinson Society of Canada in 2001.

He has served on national and international committees, and has published numerous book chapters, articles and papers. He is a reviewer for many professional journals and granting agencies. He is also in demand as a consultant, guest lecturer, and media resource on Parkinson's disease and research.

Professor Rajput has made important discoveries in neurology and has played a leading role in his field, provincially, nationally and internationally. He is a worthy recipient of this award.

Governor General's Academic Medals

These medals are awarded to the undergraduate student and graduate student with the highest academic standing.

Kristopher Chad Breen (Silver Medal)

Kristopher Breen graduated from Walter Murray Collegiate from the Advanced Program in Saskatoon in 1997. Kristopher enrolled in the College of Engineering in September 1996 to pursue a double degree in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science. He is graduating with a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering with Great Distinction and with a Bachelor of Science Three-Year Degree with a major in Computer Science with Great Distinction.

Kristopher Breen has received outstanding grades and this has earned him fifteen scholarships and awards during his academic career, including the prestigious U of S Chancellors' Scholarship, the R.W. Begg Scholarship and the Teruo Natori Scholarship, three U of S scholarships, the APEGS Book Prize, the 2002 Association of Professional Engineers and Geoscientists of Saskatchewan (APEGS) Gold Medal and an NSERC Postgraduate (PGSA) Graduate Scholarship to carry on his studies.

Kristopher has been active in the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers (IEEE), serving as a Student Branch Chair and Academic Director and found the Saskatoon Annual IEEE Golf Tournament. An accomplished athlete, he was also a member of the 1999 National Championship Huskies Volleyball team and the 1997 Canada Games Saskatchewan Volleyball team.

Kristopher Breen will be pursuing a M.Sc. in Computer Engineering at the University of Alberta in September 2002 and doing research in the area of computer memory architecture. After obtaining his M.Sc. he hopes to work in the semiconductor industry for a few years before pursuing a Ph.D. in Computer Engineering

Jonathan Albert Fugelsang grew up in Thunder Bay, Ontario where he attended Riverdale Elementary School and Fort William Collegiate High School graduating in 1991. He completed his Bachelor of Arts degree majoring in Psychology at Lakehead University in 1995. Jonathan began his graduate studies under the supervision of Professor Valerie Thompson in 1995. He successfully defended his Ph.D. thesis "Foundations of Human Causal Reasoning" in August 2001 and graduated in October 2001. Jonathan's dissertation research examined factors that contribute to people's attributions of causality. Specifically, he developed novel experimental methodologies that permitted him to quantify how people's evaluation of objective evidence is influenced by their prior beliefs. His research at the University of Saskatchewan has resulted in five publications in major scientific journals as well as several papers currently under review. Jonathan now resides in Hanover, New Hampshire where he is continuing to conduct research on human decision making as a Research Associate at Dartmouth College.

History of the University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan was established by the University Act on April 3, 1907, only 18 months after Saskatchewan became a province.

The people of the province, as well as their government, were instrumental in shaping the new University. The provincial government requested all residents who were graduates of a Canadian or British university to form the first Convocation and elect the University's Senate. The Senate, in turn, elected five members to the first Board of Governors, while the province appointed three. In 1908, the Board selected Professor Walter Charles Murray, of Dalhousie University, as the first President.

Classes in Arts and Science began in September, 1909, in downtown Saskatoon. Construction of the campus began in 1910 and the first buildings were occupied in the fall of 1912. They included the College Building (Administration Building), Saskatchewan Hall (a student residence), residences for the Dean of Agriculture and the President, a laboratory for Engineering, and a number of farm buildings.

From the beginning, the University established an emphasis on research and teaching in a context of community service, and encouraged co-operation among departments and divisions in tackling common problems. The development of rust-resistant strains of wheat, for example, initiated by the University and federal and provincial research agencies, has been of untold value to the prairie economy.

In 1909, the University had 70 students and 5 professors, including the President. Today there are over 19,000 students studying in 13 colleges and 1 school. This is the only university in Canada with five health-science colleges and a major teaching hospital on the same campus. The University offers Spring and Summer Session, Evening Courses, Independent Studies courses and Distance Education as well as on-campus daytime courses.

The University of Saskatchewan overlooks the South Saskatchewan River from a 755 hectare site. The campus consists of 147 hectares with the remaining being a research park, the University farm and experimental plots.

Most early buildings on campus are Collegiate Gothic in style and are constructed in a local dolomite, popularly known as greystone. Subsequently constructed buildings also have greystone, as well as Tyndall stone (pre-cut slabs quarried in Tyndall, Manitoba), concrete, brick, glass and aggregate facings.

The University offers many points of interest for visitors: the Diefenbaker Canada Centre, Museum of Natural Sciences, Museum of Antiquities, Biology Museum, Pharmaceutical Museum, the Observatory, the Gordon Snelgrove Gallery, the St. Thomas More Gallery, Rugby Chapel, the Little Stone Schoolhouse, the Memorial Gates, Patterson Garden, and the Kenderdine Gallery.
