

A message from
President Peter MacKinnon

I want to express a very warm welcome to the graduates, families and friends who join us today. Convocation is the University's most important ceremony, for it is here that we celebrate the accomplishments of our students and the contributions of their loved ones to their success. You should be proud of this day, and of the commitment and sacrifice that it represents.

We at the University of Saskatchewan salute you - our graduates - and we extend to you our very best wishes for the future. We hope that you will stay in touch with us through our University of Saskatchewan alumni family, and that we will have the opportunity to welcome you 'home' to our campus many times in the years ahead.

Warmest congratulations!

University of Saskatchewan

2003 Spring Convocation

The word “Convocation” arises from the Latin “con” meaning “together,” and “vocare” meaning “to call.” Our Convocation ceremony is a calling together of the new graduates of the University of Saskatchewan, symbolizing the historical practice of calling together all former graduates. In current times, the major functions of Convocation are the election of representatives to University governing bodies and the admission of candidates to degrees. The Chancellor, elected by Convocation as its Chair, is the highest official and spokesperson of the University.

The Convocation ceremony marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges. Candidates for degrees, known as graduands, having completed the requirements of a course of study, are recommended by college faculties and the University Council to receive degrees from the University of Saskatchewan.

The ceremony, solemnized in the presence of the University community and family and friends of the graduands, consists of three parts: a procession marking the leaving of the old status and entering the new; the President’s statement to the graduands, the Secretary’s petition and the Chancellor’s consent for their admission; followed by individual presentation by their Dean and admission by the Chancellor to the degrees to which they are entitled. As graduates are admitted to their degrees, a graduation hood, which has a colour symbolizing a particular degree, is placed over each graduate’s head. A banner displaying the University crest is hung above the stage, as a symbol of the University’s authority to confer degrees.

Following the conferring of degrees and acceptance of each graduate as a member of Convocation, a reception is held—a celebration on the occasion of the formal transition from the role of learner to the role of producer and contributor in the field of the graduate’s choice.

We honour and welcome this year’s graduates!

The Chancellor

W. T. (Tom) Molloy

Tom Molloy was born and raised in Saskatoon. He attended St. Thomas More College and later the College of Law, both at the University of Saskatchewan. He received his B.A. and LL.B. in 1964. He has practiced law in Saskatoon since graduation and is with the MacPherson Leslie & Tyerman's Saskatoon office. He has represented the Government of Canada as the Chief Federal Negotiator in the successfully concluded treaties in Nunavut and with the Nisga'a in British Columbia and an Agreement in Principle with the Sechelt Indian Band. He presently represents Canada in treaty negotiations in British Columbia, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Nunavut. Mr. Molloy has been described as "Canada's most expert treaty negotiator."

Mr. Molloy recently authored a book The World is our Witness: The Historic Journey of the Nisga'a into Canada. The book has won two Saskatchewan Book Awards, The Brenda MacDonald Riches First Book Award and the Non-fiction Award which was sponsored by the University of Saskatchewan.

For his work in the community he has received a number of awards including the City of Saskatoon Certificate of Distinguished Community Service; Rotary Golden Wheels Award for Excellence, Saskatoon B'nai Brith "Proud of You Award" and the Head of the Public Service Award for Excellence in Service Delivery.

In 1996 he was made an officer of the Order of Canada, with a citation that reads: He is widely known for his role as Chief Negotiator for the Government of Canada in the Nunavut Land Claim Agreement. His integrity, commitment to a just settlement and personable rapport have also been valuable in his leadership of numerous cultural, educational and charitable groups, not only in Saskatchewan but also nationally, including the Meewasin Foundation and PRIDE Canada.

The University of Saskatchewan Alumni Association awarded him the 2000 Alumni Honour Award in recognition of receiving notable acclaim for professional achievements, which in turn has enhanced the image of the University of Saskatchewan and its alumni. In January 2001, The Canadian Bar Association Saskatchewan Branch named him as the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award.

Honorary Doctor of Letters

Buffy Sainte-Marie

Born on a Cree reservation in the Qu'Appelle Valley, Saskatchewan, Buffy Sainte-Marie was adopted and raised in Maine and Massachusetts. She received a Ph.D. in Fine Arts from the University of Massachusetts and also holds degrees in both Oriental Philosophy and Education, influences which form the backbone of her music, visual art and social activism.

As a college student in the early 1960s, Buffy Sainte-Marie became known as a writer of protest songs and love songs. She also had a unique career outside the United States, working in Europe, Canada, Australia, Hong Kong and Japan. She wrote songs and essays, established a scholarship foundation to fund Native American study, spent time with indigenous people in far away countries, received two medals from Queen Elizabeth II and presented a colloquium to Europe's philosophers. She has served as an Adjunct Professor at York University, at Saskatchewan Indian Federated College and at Evergreen State College in Washington.

Buffy and her son, Dakota Starblanket Wolfchild, became well known for their five years on Sesame Street, where they taught us that "Indians still exist." Her song "Up Where We Belong," as recorded by Joe Cocker and Jennifer Warnes for the film An Officer and A Gentleman, won an Academy Award in 1982. She received the Order of Canada in 1998.

She helped establish a new Juno Awards category for Music of Aboriginal Canada, and was chosen by the United Nations to proclaim the International Year of Indigenous People. Buffy Sainte-Marie continues to draw huge crowds, but never forgets her own people and performs regularly on the smallest of reservations across North America. Her art and music are also teaching tools, and she uses these continually to enlighten.

Currently she operates the Cradleboard Teaching Project whose interactive multimedia CD-ROM SCIENCE: Through Native American Eyes serves children across North America.

Honorary Doctor of Laws

Bernard M. Michel

Bernard Michel graduated in engineering from the Ecole Polytechnique in Paris, France in 1960. He has subsequently had a distinguished career in engineering and management in the mining and the nuclear industry in both Europe and North America.

Bernard Michel has recently (March 21, 2003) retired as chair and CEO of Cameco Corporation, the world's largest uranium supplier. Mr. Michel played a leadership role in the growth and development of Cameco into a Canadian blue chip company, and is respected nationally and internationally for his management skills and business acumen. He is frequently invited to speak at international gatherings of the nuclear industry, and is a forceful advocate of Saskatchewan's mining industry and of Canada's nuclear technology in these fora and in media interviews worldwide.

Under his leadership, Cameco has been a significant supporter of education at all levels for Saskatchewan's northern residents, with particular interest in promoting education for Aboriginal students. To honour his personal and professional commitment to this objective, Cameco has recently established the Bernard Michel scholarship for Saskatchewan aboriginal students. In addition, the University of Saskatchewan has been a significant beneficiary of funds to support remedial programs for northern students entering engineering and science fields (CAPES); support of a scholarship for women in geological sciences; and provision of equipment for new state of the art geological laboratories. In 1995, the company established a Cameco Chair in aqueous and environmental geochemistry, headed currently by Dr. Jim Hendry.

Mr. Michel was awarded the French Order of the Legion d'Honneur, in the rank of Chevalier, in 1998. He was a long-time member of the board of directors and executive committee of the Canadian Nuclear Association, and still serves on the board of directors of Ipsco Inc., and the Canadian Light Source Inc.

Mr. Michel, in a quiet and unassuming manner, has been a sincere friend of the University of Saskatchewan, a stalwart supporter of the province and an excellent ambassador of the Canadian mining and nuclear industry. In the words of Rita Mirwald, Senior Vice-President Human Resources and Corporate Relations at Cameco, "Should Mr. Michel be fortunate enough to be selected for this honor [an honorary degree], it would provide a most fitting capstone to his distinguished professional career in the Canadian mining industry and an acknowledgement of his steadfast dedication to furthering the interests of the province".

Distinguished Researcher Award

David Smith

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contribution to scholarship through the creation, expansion and critique of knowledge. David E. Smith, Professor of Political Studies, College of Arts & Science, is the recipient of the Spring 2003 award.

Professor Smith earned a Bachelor of Arts at the University of Western Ontario (1959), and both a Master of Arts (1962) and a Doctorate of Philosophy (1964) from Duke University. He began his career at the University of Saskatchewan in 1964, first as a member of the Department of Economics and Political Science and then in 1985 as a member of the newly created Department of Political Studies. In 1987 he joined a select group of individuals to be awarded a Doctorate of Letters by the University.

Professor Smith is a leading authority on constitutional governance in Canada. In particular, his scholarship explores the central political institutions and political processes of Canadian democracy. His recent monographs, The Invisible Crown: The First Principle of Government and The Republican Option in Canada: Past and Present, are ground-breaking and highly creative analyses of previously understudied aspects of Canadian political life. His most recent work, The Canadian Senate in Bicameral Perspective, will be released in the upcoming year. His scholarship has not only contributed to political studies in Canada, but has informed studies of comparative politics generally.

Professor Smith's scholarly work covers a broad spectrum. He has examined prairie political culture, political leaders and public intellectuals, Canadian broadcasting, and emergency government. His early work on the politics of Saskatchewan remains a classic in the field.

Professor Smith's career is also characterized by a tremendous investment of time and energy in public service. He has been actively involved in the Canadian Political Science Association both as president and as a member of the executive, and in the Humanities and Social Science Federation of Canada. He has contributed to the work of Parliament - providing expert testimony to parliamentary committees considering measures such as the Clarity Bill, and the Royal Assent Bill, and has served as a Commissioner of electoral boundaries.

He also served as chair of the Department of Political Studies at the University.

Professor Smith is a member of the Royal Society of Canada and has been awarded a number of prestigious fellowships including the Killam Research Scholarship 1994-1995, and SSHRC's Jules and Gabrielle Leger Fellowship 1992-93.

Professor Smith has made nationally and internationally recognized contributions to the fields of Western Canadian and constitutional studies. He is a deserving recipient of this award.

Distinction in Public Service and Extension Award

James Dosman

The Award for Public Service and Extension recognizes a member of faculty who has made an outstanding effort to further the University's public service and extension mission and has extended the University's expertise to the wider community. James Dosman, Director of the Institute of Agricultural, Rural and Environmental Health, is the recipient for Spring 2003.

Dr. Dosman earned a Doctor of Medicine from the University of Saskatchewan in 1963. After working for four years as a general practitioner in Saskatoon, he completed a residency in internal and respiratory medicine at McGill University. In 1975 he joined the University of Saskatchewan as the founding head of the Division of Respiratory Medicine, College of Medicine.

In 1986, Dr. Dosman was instrumental in creating the Centre for Agricultural Medicine to do research and carry out programs relevant to the health of Saskatchewan farmers. He has served as director of the Centre since its inception and has expanded and diversified its programs to the point in 2001 when, under his leadership, it became the Institute of Agricultural, Rural and Environmental Health. It's the only institute in Canada that provides research, education, and health promotion to agricultural and rural populations.

In 1988, Dr. Dosman, in conjunction with the Saskatchewan Association of Rural Municipalities (S.A.R.M.) and rural municipal councils, established the Agricultural Health and Safety Network. Unique in Canada, this program provides education services, respiratory health and hearing screening programs, courses in emergency preparedness and other educational opportunities to the rural population. The program now extends directly to more than 25,000 Saskatchewan farm families.

Dr. Dosman has also been instrumental in establishing rural health safety programs at the national and international levels. In 1992, he became the chair of the newly-created Canadian Coalition of Agricultural Health and Safety, and oversaw a number of new initiatives, including the first annual Agricultural Health and Safety Conference, the Canadian Agricultural Injury Surveillance Program, and the Canadian Agriculture Safety Program.

Dr. Dosman is a well-recognized presence in rural communities, attending numerous agriculture meetings, speaking at conferences, and supporting many research projects which have helped reduce dangers in the agriculture profession.

Dr. Dosman's work with the people of Saskatchewan is characterized by a creative and innovative approach to problems and issues, as well as a true concern for the lives of rural people. His endeavours have brought the University to the people of the province. Dr. Dosman is a worthy recipient of the award.

Master Teacher Award

Sheila Rutledge Harding

The Master Teacher Award was established to emphasize the importance of teaching at the University of Saskatchewan and to recognize and honour those faculty members who excel in teaching. The Selection Committee has chosen Professor Sheila Rutledge Harding of the College of Medicine to be the recipient of this prestigious award at this Convocation. Born in Peterborough, Ontario, Professor Harding earned her M.D. at the University of Western Ontario in 1981. Before coming to the College of Medicine, University of Saskatchewan, in 1988, she did residency training in Internal Medicine and Hematology in London, Ontario, and Toronto. In 1997, she was a Lecturer at the University of Toronto. She was also Hematologist-in-Charge of the Blood Transfusion Laboratory, Toronto General Hospital. Dr. Harding is currently a Professor in the Department of Pathology, with a speciality in Hematology.

Among her students and colleagues, Dr. Harding is a respected educator, highly regarded for her teaching and her desire to help her students succeed. It is hard to decide which is her major strength: rapport with students or her ability to communicate and teach effectively. One of her students has written, "Her ability to break down complex problems into logical sequences has made these topics memorable . . . As first-year medical students, we often heard that medical school was like 'drinking from a fire hose.' Dr. Rutledge Harding made sure we knew we weren't the first to feel overwhelmed." Another student says, "As an educator, she was responsible for the curriculum changes that have been recently made at the U of S, resulting in a much greater emphasis on student-centered learning." This kind of skill and dedication has led to her being nominated for several teaching awards, including the Teaching Excellence Award, College of Medicine, in 1999. All who wrote on Dr. Harding's behalf celebrate the breadth of her expertise and the depth of her enthusiasm for medical education.

With Dr. Jim Spooner, she helped to bring the Teaching Improvement Project Systems (TIPS) course to Saskatoon. She trained as a TIPS facilitator in Philadelphia and here, assuming local responsibility for the course in 1995. Dr. Harding's TIPS course developed a reputation for excellence beyond the city limits. The University of Calgary asked her to begin a TIPS course there, helping them organize and train their own facilitators. Their Director of Surgical Education, Dr. J. G. DesCoteaux comments: "She carries an incredible baggage of techniques and approaches, keeping the learning experience motivating and helping the learner retain the new knowledge."

A Master Teacher is expected to be a worthy researcher as well. Dr. Rutledge Harding has published numerous articles in refereed journals, participated in several research studies, and contributed to many conferences and conference proceedings. She is a highly respected and much sought-after professional hematologist and physician.

Students tell us that Sheila Rutledge Harding wears her outstanding academic achievements lightly. She has made outstanding contributions to this institution and to wider medical education and the higher education community in teaching and leadership. In the words of a fourth-year student: "Dr. Harding is amazing!" Her teaching is exemplary, as attested by both students and faculty. She has demonstrated leadership locally, nationally, and internationally. The University of Saskatchewan is indeed fortunate to have such a fine teaching colleague on its staff. She is most deserving of this honour.

President's Service Award

Eileen Herteis

Eileen Herteis brings an infectious passion for good teaching to the University of Saskatchewan. Colleagues of the Programme Director for The Gwenna Moss Teaching and Learning Centre (TLC) say when this is combined with her other qualities – good humour, excellent presentation skills, boundless helpfulness, and a warmth in dealings with faculty, staff and students – it all adds up to a truly outstanding contribution to the U of S.

This spring, they honour her with the U of S President's Service Award.

Her nominator and co-workers say Herteis "puts life and sparkle into all her University endeavours. She has made the University a better place in which to work and learn."

As the TLC's Programme Director, she organizes and presents instructional development workshops for faculty, sessional lecturers and graduate students, writes articles on teaching and learning, pulls together resource materials for the Centre and for its website, and co-ordinates the Peer Consultation program.

Colleagues applaud her excellence at all these activities, and note how she has inspired them to think more deeply about their teaching and work to improve it: "Eileen is the supporter, the encourager, the initiator and problem-solver..." "Always upbeat, (she) looks past faults in the rest of us to see our possibilities, and helps us get there." "Eileen Herteis excels in every way."

Herteis was born in a small town in southern Scotland and earned an undergraduate degree in English and Latin from the University of Glasgow. In 1977 she won a scholarship to study at McGill University in Montreal and there she earned a Master of Arts degree in English Literature. She also married a mining engineer, leading to a number of future relocations. At Kirkland Lake, in northern Ontario, Herteis found herself in demand to teach at local schools and at Northern College. "Teaching went from being the last thing I wanted to do, to the only thing."

She moved to Saskatoon in 1981 and taught classes at Saskatoon Business College and English as a Second Language for the U of S Extension Division. In 1988 she moved to Nova Scotia and taught at four universities – St. Mary's, Mount Saint Vincent, Technical University of Nova Scotia, and Dalhousie. She set up Dalhousie's first Orientation to Teaching program and worked for six years as program co-ordinator at its Instructional Development Office.

In 1997 Herteis, husband Brian and daughter Anne returned to Saskatoon and she rejoined the U of S staff, first working with Angie Wong in Prior Learning Assessment and Recognition (PLAR), then with Gwenna Moss in Instructional Development, and then with the new Teaching and Learning Centre when it opened in the summer of 2000.

Herteis loves the generosity of people at the U of S and the feeling that individuals matter. She gains satisfaction from finding ways to help good teaching gain recognition. And while she takes pride in organizing the high-profile conferences and workshops, "my true joy is in the small things, the one-on-one conversations with teachers, the chance to listen, be an ally, or boost morale. That's how I can make a difference."

Governor General's Academic Medals

These medals are awarded to the undergraduate student and graduate student with the highest academic standing.

Darin Brent White (Silver Medal)

Darin White was born and raised in Kindersley Saskatchewan. He graduates with a Bachelor of Science Degree with High Honours in Physiology. Darin is the recipient of the Earl of Bessborough Prize and the Haslam Medal as the most distinguished graduate in the College of Arts and Science for the May 2003 Convocation

Darin received the Saskatchewan Governor General's Medal upon graduating from Grade 12 and has been the recipient of numerous awards and scholarships during his academic career at the University of Saskatchewan. These awards include: the University of Saskatchewan Chancellor's First and Best Scholarship, University of Saskatchewan Undergraduate Scholarships, the SaskPower Scholarship, Dr. Valentine Gus Criswick Scholarship, just to name a few. Darin has also been named on the Dean's Honour List every year, and received an NSERC Undergraduate Research Award in 2002 and in 2003.

As well as excelling in his academics he is also a member of the University of Saskatchewan Track and Field team and was named CIAU First Team Academic All-Canadian.

Darin has been accepted to the M.D., C.M. Program at McGill University and has applications to M.D. programs pending at other institutions including the University of Saskatchewan. He intends to complete an M.D./Ph.D. and to pursue clinical practice, medical research, and medical education.

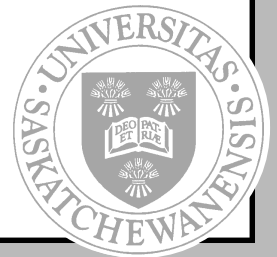

Nathan Colin Peters (Gold Medal)

Nathan Colin Peters was born to George and Patricia Peters in Faro, Yukon, on March 17th 1974. Nathan attended elementary school in Faro, Saskatoon, and Asquith, Saskatchewan. Nathan also attended high school in Asquith, graduating in 1992. Nathan continued his education at the University of Saskatchewan, receiving a 4-yr. B.Sc. Honours degree in Microbiology. In the fall of 1997, Nathan began graduate studies under the supervision of Dr. Peter Bretscher in the Department of Microbiology and Immunology. Nathan's graduate work involved the development of a novel assay system to allow for the quantitative and qualitative analysis of a specific type of lymphocyte, the activated CD4⁺T-helper cell, involved in initiating and regulating immune responses. Nathan used this system to provide evidence that the initiation of an immune response requires cooperation between CD4⁺T-helper cells, and in the absence of this cooperation an immune response is not initiated. Nathan's research is significant as it provides a context for understanding the prevention and initiation of immune responses. For instance, how autoimmunity such as diabetes may arise and how it might be averted, how strong responses to tumors might best be achieved, and how vaccines can be made to be more effective. Nathan will be continuing his studies as a post-doctoral fellow at the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Maryland. Nathan wishes to acknowledge the excellence of his supervisor, Dr. Peter Bretscher, the contributions of all those involved in his education, and the love and support of his family, especially that of his wife, Nuvyn.

History of the University of Saskatchewan

The University of Saskatchewan was established by the University Act on April 3, 1907, only 18 months after Saskatchewan became a province.

The people of the province, as well as their government, were instrumental in shaping the new University. The provincial government requested all residents who were graduates of a Canadian or British university to form the first Convocation and elect the University's Senate. The Senate, in turn, elected five members to the first Board of Governors, while the province appointed three. In 1908, the Board selected Professor Walter Charles Murray, of Dalhousie University, as the first President.

Classes in Arts and Science began in September, 1909, in downtown Saskatoon. Construction of the campus began in 1910 and the first buildings were occupied in the fall of 1912. They included the College Building (Administration Building), Saskatchewan Hall (a student residence), residences for the Dean of Agriculture and the President, a laboratory for Engineering, and a number of farm buildings.

From the beginning, the University established an emphasis on research and teaching in a context of community service, and encouraged co-operation among departments and divisions in tackling common problems. The development of rust-resistant strains of wheat, for example, initiated by the University and federal and provincial research agencies, has been of untold value to the prairie economy.

In 1909, the University had 70 students and 5 professors, including the President. Today there are over 19,000 students studying in 13 colleges and 1 school. This is the only university in Canada with five health-science colleges and a major teaching hospital on the same campus. The University offers Spring and Summer Session, Evening Courses, Independent Studies courses and Distance Education as well as on-campus daytime courses.

The University of Saskatchewan overlooks the South Saskatchewan River from a 755 hectare site. The campus consists of 147 hectares with the remaining being a research park, the University farm and experimental plots.

Most early buildings on campus are Collegiate Gothic in style and are constructed in a local dolomite, popularly known as greystone. Subsequently constructed buildings also have greystone, as well as Tyndall stone (pre-cut slabs quarried in Tyndall, Manitoba), concrete, brick, glass and aggregate facings.

The University offers many points of interest for visitors: the Diefenbaker Canada Centre, Museum of Natural Sciences, Museum of Antiquities, Biology Museum, Pharmaceutical Museum, the Observatory, the Gordon Snelgrove Gallery, the St. Thomas More Gallery, Rugby Chapel, the Little Stone Schoolhouse, the Memorial Gates, Patterson Garden, and the Kenderdine Gallery.

You are invited to visit our campus at any time!
