Convocation*

UNIVERSITY OF SASKATCHEWAN

Convocation procession in the Bowl, May 1928. A-1666

President's Message

PETER MacKINNON

I want to express a very warm welcome to the graduates, families and friends who join us today. Convocation is the university's most important ceremony, for it is here that we celebrate the accomplishments of our students and the contributions of their loved ones to their success. You should be proud of this day and of the commitment and sacrifice that it represents.

We at the University of Saskatchewan are very proud of our accomplishments, and it is thanks in large part to you, our students, who have helped us to achieve our goal of building a world-class institution of higher learning.

As we celebrate our successes with pride and anticipate our future with excitement, the University of Saskatchewan is ready to expand on the original vision of our founders. Our mission now is to engage fully in all we do, to enlighten all we serve, and to explore all aspects of our world. We hope that you—our graduates—will carry on this same mission as you engage, enlighten and explore within your own new life.

We extend to you our very best wishes for the future. We hope that you will stay in touch with us through our University of Saskatchewan alumni family, and that we will have the opportunity to welcome you 'home' to our campus many times in the years ahead.

Warmest congratulations!

The Chancellor

VERA PEZER

Dr. Pezer has a long association with the University of Saskatchewan, earning her undergraduate and graduate degrees from the university and serving as associate vice-president (Student Affairs and Services) from 1991–2001. Dr. Pezer first joined the university in 1966 in Student Counselling Services and as a part-time instructor in the Department of Psychology. She would later become director of student counselling, an assistant professor of psychology and assistant dean, College of Arts and Science. Under her leadership, student retention and academic success were enhanced and the university's first offices dedicated to student emergency financial assistance, disability services for students, and aboriginal student support programs established.

She has held volunteer and leadership roles with the Saskatoon Board of Police Commissioners, Saskatchewan Centennial Gala, Hope Cancer Race for Recovery, Saskatoon Housing Coalition, Persephone Theatre, the River Landing Destination Centre and the YWCA. Dr. Pezer has also contributed widely to professional and amateur sports organizations. She is a member and current chair of the 1989 Jeux Canada Games Foundation, director of the 1991 Scott Tournament of Hearts and ceremonies chair of the 1989 Brier. As a sport psychologist, Dr. Pezer served as an adviser and trainer to Canadian curling teams in two Olympic Games.

An accomplished athlete in her own right, Dr. Pezer is a four-time Canadian ladies' curling champion, a Canadian softball champion, and two-time member of the Saskatchewan senior women's golf team. She has received a place of honour in the Saskatoon and Saskatchewan Sports Halls of Fame and in the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame. In 2003, Dr. Pezer completed her first book, The Stone Age: A Social History of Curling in the Prairies. She has just published her second, titled Smart Curling. Dr. Pezer was honoured with a Saskatchewan Centennial Medal in 2006, and in 2002, received the University of Saskatchewan Alumni Award of Achievement.

Alumni Message

HEATHER MAGOTIAUX

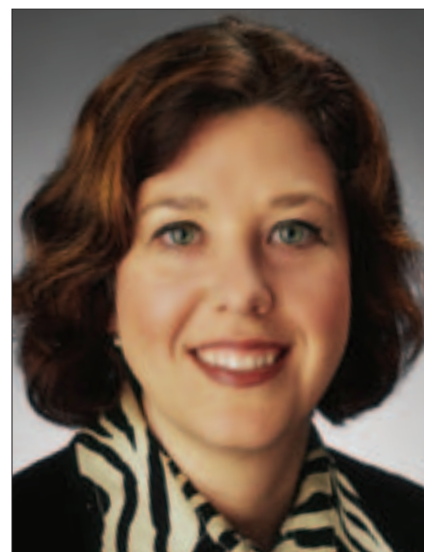

Convocation marks one of life's great transitions. Today, graduates make the transition from students to alumni. As with any transition we should take the time to reflect upon the many accomplishments that have been made so far; accomplishments of our students that continue to make the University of Saskatchewan one of our country's premier educational institutions.

Our reflection should not end there. We also need to take the time to contemplate those accomplishments not yet realized, as you, our graduates, embark on a new beginning. Today, as you join a distinguished and accomplished group of alumni, we cannot help but look forward to your future endeavours—accomplishments yet to be achieved. You have a responsibility not only to live up to the high standards your fellow alumni have set, but also to exceed them. Yours will be the legacy to which future generations will aspire.

As you progress through life's many transitions, stay in touch with the University of Saskatchewan, with your college and with your classmates so we can celebrate your successes together.

Celebrate your success. Never stop learning. Achieve greatness. Congratulations to the class of 2009.

Our Song

(An excerpt)

*Sing for Saskatchewan,
And let your song ring out,
And rise for Saskatchewan,
Saskatchewan we shout.*

*Think of the days you've known,
Inside the greystone walls,
Then rise for Saskatchewan,
Give your song, your heart,
your all.*

Our Team

The U of S Huskies are at the centre of our school spirit. With over 350 athletes, 15 teams and countless championship titles, the U of S has developed a reputation as a dominant player in interuniversity sports.

Great Minds

THORVALDSON BUILDING

the University of Saskatchewan has been building a proud tradition. We have evolved from a prairie college to a centre of excellence in education and research.

Our students, faculty, staff and alumni are a testament to our success. Their example has set a precedent for institutions across Canada, North America and the world.

Looking BACK

POPULATION

In 1907, the year the University of Saskatchewan was established, the population of Saskatoon was roughly 4,500 and the province of Saskatchewan, 210,000.

Saskatoon's population today tops 200,000; Saskatchewan's grazes the million mark.

STUDENTS/FACULTY

In 1909, five faculty members taught the first group of 70 students. Classes were initially held in the Drinkle building in downtown Saskatoon.

Currently more than 1,000 faculty members mentor a student body of nearly 20,000.

COLLEGES

Arts and Science and Agriculture were the first two colleges to be established at the U of S—in 1908 and 1909, respectively. Today, 13 colleges and four schools offer 58 degrees, diplomas and certificates in over 100 areas of study.

TUITION

In 1909, tuition fees were $6 per class. Today the cost ranges from approximately $800 to $1,400 per class.

GRADUATES

In 1912, the U of S honoured its first graduating class of seven students. The ceremony was held at Nutana Collegiate. At this year's convocation spring and fall ceremonies, we will honour nearly 4,000 new graduates.

“The atmosphere of Saskatoon will be changed. We shall rise to a higher plane of being.”

— Comment by local lawyer R.W. Shannon upon learning that Saskatoon had been chosen as home to the province's university

The University of Saskatchewan was established by the University Act on April 3, 1907, only 18 months after Saskatchewan became a province.

The people of the province, as well as their government, were instrumental in shaping the new university. The provincial government requested all residents who were graduates of a Canadian or British university to form the first convocation and elect the university's senate. In 1908, the board selected Professor Walter Charles Murray, of Dalhousie University, as the first president.

Classes in arts and science began in September, 1909, in downtown Saskatoon. Construction of the campus began in 1910 and the first buildings were occupied in the fall of 1912. They included the College Building (Administration Building), Saskatchewan Hall (a student residence), residences for the dean of agriculture and the president, a laboratory for engineering and a number of farm buildings.

College Building construction takes shape, November 1911. A-23

From the beginning, the university established an emphasis on research and teaching in a context of community service, and encouraged co-operation among departments and divisions in tackling common problems. The development of rust-resistant strains of wheat, for example, initiated by the university and federal and provincial research agencies, has been of untold value to the prairie economy.

In 1909, the university had 70 students and five professors, including the president. Today there are over 19,000 students studying in 13 colleges and four schools. This is the only university in Canada with five health-science colleges and a major teaching hospital on the same campus.

The University of Saskatchewan overlooks the South Saskatchewan River. Most early buildings on campus are collegiate gothic in style and are constructed in a local dolomite, popularly known as greystone. Subsequently constructed buildings also have greystone, as well as tyndall stone (pre-cut slabs quarried in Tyndall, Manitoba), concrete, brick, glass and aggregate facings.

The university offers many points of interest for visitors: the Diefenbaker

Canada Centre, Museum of Natural Sciences, Museum of Antiquities, Biology Museum, Pharmaceutical Museum, the Observatory, the Gordon Snelgrove Gallery, the St. Thomas More Gallery, Rugby Chapel, the Little Stone Schoolhouse, the Memorial Gates, Patterson Garden and the Kenderdine Gallery.

LOOKING forward

With sights firmly fixed on the future, the University of Saskatchewan has embarked on an ambitious effort to advance its already significant contribution of knowledge, innovation and leadership to the people and economy of this province, this country and the world.

Our plan commits energy and resources where they count the most—to enhancing the student experience, to encouraging collaboration and to supporting research, scholarly and artistic endeavour.

Success will require that University of Saskatchewan students be well prepared to thrive in the ‘knowledge age,’ that they be equipped to succeed. In the coming years, the university will explore improvement and innovation both inside the classroom and out, all the while ensuring the campus remains a welcoming place for aboriginal students, students from other parts of Canada and those from nations around the world.

The future will also see the university establish across the institution a culture of research and scholarship that attracts top faculty and students. Supporting this move are world-class facilities that are already in place, like the Vaccine and Infectious Disease Organization (VIDO), or are under construction, such as the $251-million Academic Health Sciences project. These and other facilities will play a role in shining the light on current and emerging areas of excellence.

In keeping with our founders’ early vision, the University of Saskatchewan will continue to be a model of innovation, excellence, diversity and leadership throughout the post-secondary education sector, and beyond.

The word “convocation” arises from the Latin “cum” meaning “together,” and “vocare” meaning “to call.” Our convocation ceremony is a calling together of the new graduates of the University of Saskatchewan, symbolizing the historical practice of calling together all former graduates. In current times, the major functions of convocation are the election of representatives to university governing bodies and the admission of candidates to degrees. The chancellor, elected by convocation as its chair, is the highest official and spokesperson of the university.

The convocation ceremony marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges.

The ceremony, solemnized in the presence of the university community and family and friends of the graduands, consists of three parts: a procession marking the leaving of the old status and entering the new; the president’s statement to the graduands, the secretary’s petition and the chancellor’s consent for their admission; followed by individual presentation by their dean and admission by the chancellor to the degrees to which they are entitled. As graduates are admitted to their degrees, a graduation hood, which has a colour symbolizing a particular degree, is placed over each graduate’s head.

ENTRANCE

The members of convocation in their academic robes march in procession into the ceremony in the following order: graduands in the order in which their degrees are to be conferred; faculty; board of governors; senate; guests of honour; the president; the chancellor; the lieutenant governor. When the members of convocation reach their places they remain standing during the Vice-Regal Salute, the singing of O Canada and the invocation.

ORDER OF THE CEREMONY

The first business is the conferring of honorary degrees, followed by convocation address, president's statement to the graduands, the conferring of degrees and the presentation of awards. The meeting is closed by the chancellor rising and asking the audience to join in the singing of God Save the Queen and leading the procession in the reverse order out of the hall.

DEGREE CEREMONY

The ceremony comprises the petition, the admission and the presentation.

THE PETITION

The university secretary on behalf of all the candidates, addresses the chancellor and senate in these words:

"Eminent Chancellor, President, I present to you the petition that the candidates to be named, having fulfilled all the requirements of the statutes, may be admitted to the degrees and certificates to which they are entitled".

THE ADMISSION

The chancellor then addresses the candidates in these words:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the legislature of this province, and with the consent of the council of this university, I consent to admit you to the degrees and certificates to which you are entitled and to invest you with all the powers, rights and privileges pertaining thereto."

THE PRESENTATION

The dean of the faculty, or designate, followed by the candidates of that faculty, approaches the chancellor from the left and presents the candidates with these words:

"Eminent Chancellor, on behalf of the faculty of _____, I present to you these scholars and ask that you will confer on them the degree of _____."

As the dean speaks the candidate's name in full, the candidate moves forward in front of the chancellor. Then the chancellor says, "I admit you" and the university secretary or the registrar places the hood over the candidate's head. Hereupon the candidate passes to the chancellor's right, is greeted by the president, and receives the degree parchment.

DEGREES IN ABSENTIA

In such cases, the university secretary says:

"Eminent Chancellor, in the name of the faculties, I ask you to grant the degrees and certificates, in absentia, to those students whose names appear in the printed program and who were not able to be present today."

The chancellor replies:

"At the request of the faculties I authorize these degrees and certificates to be granted."

The Convocation Ceremony

ACADEMIC COSTUMES

Academic costume lends an element of colourful pageantry to the convocation proceedings. This traditional clothing—worn on a daily basis at universities in earlier times—is now more commonly reserved for ceremonial functions.

At the University of Saskatchewan, the following academic costume is adopted to be worn upon all appropriate occasions:

The gown resembles a long cape with full sleeve cut to elbow and terminating in a point for the bachelor's degree; with long sleeve and a semi-circular cut at the bottom for the master's degree; and with round open sleeves for the doctor's degree. The material is black for the bachelor's degree, and black material or silk for the master's and doctor's degrees. The doctor's gown may have a border down the front on either side of a color distinctive of the character of the degree.

The hoods for the bachelor's and master's degrees are of black broadcloth. For the doctor's (Ph.D.) degree the hood is scarlet cloth with a blue lining. The master's and doctor's hoods have a lining and the bachelor's an edging (and in some cases, a lining) of a color distinctive of the character of the degree.

Honorary Doctor of Laws

W. THOMAS MOLLOY, O.C., Q.C.

Tom Molloy was born and raised in Saskatoon. He attended St. Thomas More College and later the College of Law, both at the University of Saskatchewan. He received his B.A. and LL.B. in 1964. He has practised law in Saskatoon since graduation and is with MacPherson Leslie & Tyerman's Saskatoon office. He served as Chancellor of the University of Saskatchewan from 2001 to 2007.

Tom played a leading role in many landmark aboriginal claims settlements in Canada, including the lengthy negotiations with the Inuit of Nunavut that led to the creation of the Territory of Nunavut in 1999. Tom helped launch Canada's participation in the British Columbia Treaty Commission process and continues to represent Canada in negotiations. In July 2008 Tom was appointed by the Government of Ontario as its principal representative for the Six Nations-Haldimand Tract land claims negotiations.

One of Tom's most significant achievements was as head of the team that negotiated the Nisga'a Final Agreement, the first modern-day treaty in the history of British Columbia. Tom's award winning book, The World is Our Witness: The Historic Journey of the Nisga'a into Canada, won the First Book Award and Non-Fiction Award which was sponsored by the University of Saskatchewan.

Tom has also concluded treaties with the Inuit of Northern Quebec's Nunavut and Labrador claims and with the L'heidli T'enneh of British Columbia (not ratified). He helped establish a treaty process in the Province of Nova Scotia with the Mikmaq and concluded a Framework Agreement to guide the process. In the Gaspé area of Quebec he helped to establish a treaty process with the Mikmaq and government of Quebec. Tom has been involved in negotiations in British Columbia, Ontario, Quebec, Manitoba, Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Yukon, Northwest Territories and Nunavut. He has been described as "Canada's most expert treaty negotiator".

For his work in the community he has received a number of awards including the City of Saskatoon Certificate of Distinguished Community Service, Rotary Golden Wheels Award for Excellence, Saskatoon B'nai Brith "Proud of You Award" and the Head of the Public Service Award for Excellence in Service Delivery.

In 1996 he was made an Officer of the Order of Canada.

The University of Saskatchewan Alumni Association awarded him the 2000 Alumni Honour Award in recognition of receiving notable acclaim for professional achievements, which in turn has enhanced the image of the University of Saskatchewan and its alumni. In 2001, both St. Thomas More College and the Newman Centre presented Tom with a Distinguished Alumnus Award. The Canadian Bar Association Saskatchewan Branch also named him as the recipient of the Distinguished Service Award. In 2007, he was named by the University of Saskatchewan as a 100 Alumni of Influence honoree.

Honorary Doctor of Laws

KEVIN G. LYNCH

Mr. Lynch is one of the most respected and influential public servants in Canada. His commitment to public service and Canada is unparalleled.

Kevin Lynch was appointed Clerk of the Privy Council and Secretary to the Cabinet by the Prime Minister in 2006. As Clerk of the Privy Council and head of the Public Service of Canada, he plays a pivotal role in developing the Government of Canada agenda. Not only does he guide policy development and implementation, but is the chief public policy adviser to the Prime Minister.

Mr. Lynch has demonstrated a deep and passionate commitment to Canada throughout his career. In his previous senior positions, as Canada's executive director to the International Monetary Fund in Washington, deputy minister of finance and deputy minister of industry, Mr. Lynch excelled as a leader in the Government of Canada.

Throughout his career, Mr. Lynch has demonstrated unmatched commitment to maintaining strong personal links to the private, academic and non-government sectors. As a result, he is well known and widely respected in all parts of Canada. As one nominator stated "Dr. Lynch is one of the architects of the Innovation Agenda in Canada, an initiative that has transformed the research and technology landscape of the country in many ways critical to its international competitiveness in today's knowledge economy. The future sustainability of the high standard of living of all Canadians is dependent to a significant degree on this knowledge base".

Through the years, Mr. Lynch has shown tremendous interest and commitment to Saskatchewan, and, in particular, the University of Saskatchewan. As deputy minister of industry, he played a critical role in the development of the government's innovation agenda, which established the policy foundation that made the Canadian Light Source project at the U of S possible.

Honorary Doctor of Science

HUGO LENNART NORDH

Lennart Nordh was born in Mariestad, Sweden. Following high school and military service, Lennart entered Stockholm University where he completed his B.Sc. and Ph.D. before being awarded a "Docent" in 1977, less than 10 years after completing his baccalaureate.

He worked with the European space program and was a research associate with Stockholm University Observatory before being appointed associate professor in astronomy at Stockholm University.

Before the Swedish government could pass an act appointing him to a chair in astronomy at Stockholm University, Dr. Nordh moved into scientific administration and worked with the Swedish National Space Board to develop the Swedish space program.

In 1998 Dr. Nordh became director of science for the Swedish National Space Board, a position he still holds. He served as head of the Swedish delegation to the Science Program Committee from 1998 until July 2008, when he was elected chair of the same committee. In 1993 Dr. Nordh assumed the role of programme scientist for the then proposed Odin satellite. Canada joined the Odin program in 1994 with the provision of the OSIRIS instrument led by the University of Saskatchewan. This satellite mission, which was launched in 2001, has provided the university with many opportunities including significant contract support.

The efforts of the Canadian scientists and graduate students, particularly those at the University of Saskatchewan, have been strongly supported by Dr. Lennart Nordh. His world class leadership of the Odin satellite project has persuaded many countries to emulate his approach.

Even with his heavy administrative load Dr. Nordh has been an outstanding mentor for the Odin astronomy mission, which has culminated with the first detection of molecular oxygen in a star formation region.

Earned Doctor of Science

W. M. (MIKE) INGLEDEW

Mike Ingledew was born in Vancouver and raised in Nelson, British Columbia. He graduated from the University of British Columbia in 1965 with a B.Sc. and in 1969 with a Ph.D.—both in Microbiology. He then spent a National Research Council (NRC) postdoctoral year in Madrid Spain studying microbial physiology.

Dr. Ingledew began his career in 1970 at the University of Saskatchewan as an industrial microbiologist teaching fermentation science, fuel alcohol production and brewing. He and his students published 170 research papers and book chapters, and presented 225 invited presentations worldwide, the majority of which relate to yeast and alcohol production in industry. He was editor-in-chief for the American Society of Brewing Chemists Journal and reviewed hundreds of papers for other journals.

Mike spent a year as an NRC Senior Industrial Fellow at Molson of Canada in Montreal, a sabbatical in the Viticulture and Enology Department at the University of California, and another at Broin and Associates in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. He has extensive industrial liaison and consulting experience in industry and has been involved in the training of more than 1,700 young industry employees at 33 industry short courses, including 24 years at The Alcohol School. His specialization is very high gravity fermentation—the increasing of alcohol concentration in fermentors to as high as 23%, and elucidation of the problems caused by bacterial end products in the fuel alcohol industry. His research is in industrial practice.

In 1999, Mike received the Alltech Medal of Excellence for his work in “advancing the biochemistry of yeast for alcohol processing” and in 2006 the Fuel Alcohol Workshop Award of Excellence for “outstanding work in research and technology advances in industry” as well as other recognitions.

Mike retired from the university in June 2007. He misses his teaching of undergraduates and graduate students, but is especially proud of the research support he received from NRC/NSERC for over 42 straight years.

Since his retirement Mike has been appointed Scientific Director of Ethanol Technology Institute, a subsidiary of Lallemand Inc., one of the largest yeast producers in the world. He is responsible for the planning and operation of the Alcohol Schools in Toulouse, France and Montreal, and acted as senior editor and co-author of The Alcohol Textbook published just 7 weeks ago.

Mike and his wife Lynne now reside in Parksville, B.C. but still cheer for the Saskatchewan Roughriders. Mike is thrilled to receive the Earned D.Sc. degree from this institution to which he gave all he had in his 37 years in Saskatoon.

President's Service Award

PARKASH VIRDI

For over 25 years, Parkash Virdi, known almost universally simply as PK, has made it her job to help people—colleagues, faculty members and instructors, and especially students—in a way that is a credit both to herself and to the University of Saskatchewan.

PK's first job at the U of S was as a clerk steno in what was then Extension and Community Relations. Today, she holds the position of program assistant for distance learning, off-campus and certificate programs in the Centre for Continuing and Distance Education (CCDE). It is a job that involves managing the logistical details that go along with providing a wide range of programs involving hundreds of courses delivered to thousands of students spread across the country. But beyond her organizational skills, intense work ethic and loyalty to the university, it is the personal touch PK brings to her job that helped earn her the President's Service Award.

In letter after letter, PK's nominators made a point of commenting on her generosity of spirit and compassion, particularly for the students involved in the university's distance education programs. An enthusiastic lifelong learner herself, PK has a good understanding of the student experience and a knack for gently offering her problem-solving skills to other students navigating their way through various issues. Her years of work experience have resulted in a wide network of contacts throughout the province she can call on to rally support for a student in need.

For PK, the academic and personal success of students is a top priority, and she sets about playing her part in that success with patience, courtesy and a sense of humour.

To those who know her, work with her or have been mentored by her, Parkash Virdi is a role model for service to students at the University of Saskatchewan as well as a worthy recipient of the President's Service Award.

Award for Distinction in Outreach and Engagement

ROBERT (BOB) BORS

Dr. Bob Bors' contributions to fruit breeding and establishing commercially viable fruit crop production in North America and around the world enhances the University of Saskatchewan's tradition of outreach and engagement.

Dr. Bors is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Plant Sciences at the College of Agriculture and Bioresources. Since joining the University of Saskatchewan in 1999, he has taught undergraduate and graduate level courses specializing in fruit crop production, plant propagation and nursery management, and greenhouse structures and crops. His scholarly work includes dozens of invited lectures, one book, and a number of academic journals, magazine articles, technical reports and fact sheets.

Dr. Bors' accomplishments in breeding and developing winter hardy fruit crops are internationally recognized. He has been instrumental in breeding and commercializing Dwarf Sour Cherries, the prairie apple and Haskap (also called blue honeysuckle) for colder climates. Nurseries in seven provinces are now propagating University of Saskatchewan varieties. Besides maintaining huge fruit germplasm collections inherited from predecessors, he has personally amassed hundreds of Haskap and interspecific strawberry plants that are the most genetically diverse collections in the world. He has cooperative fruit projects across Canada and with researchers in the United States, Russia, Mongolia and Japan. Dr. Bors has been an invited lecturer to many of these locations and he has hosted visitors from these regions to share his vast knowledge and research expertise.

Experts from the United States, Japan, and England have claimed that Bob's coleus breeding is cutting edge. Not bad for a part time winter project that grew out of labs in some of his classes. These coleus are being tested internationally.

Dr. Bors' commitment to outreach and engagement is most evident in his commitment to the creation of food industries for local crops. He is not satisfied simply to create or improve upon a fruit cultivar, he wants to help establish a viable industry in which crops can flourish, growers can succeed and consumers can enjoy locally grown and produced products. One of his supporters spoke about his commitment and accessibility to external partners by stating that "on a continuous basis, he contributes to the fruit industry through his teaching, research, service, leadership and expertise." Another producer stated that "in addition to his scholarly work at the University, Dr. Bors demonstrates repeatedly his availability to organizations, to speak and discuss his work at the U of S with growers and participate in the strategic decisions for the development of our industry." His propagation of local fruit crops enhances community and research partnerships and his knowledge creation with fruit cultivars has produced commercially sustainable industries that support economic development locally, nationally and internationally.

The passion and commitment that Dr. Bors exhibits exemplifies the spirit of outreach and engagement and makes him a truly worthy recipient of the award.

Distinguished Researcher Award

SOLEDADE PEDRAS

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contribution to scholarship through creation, expansion, and critique of knowledge. Chemistry professor Soledade Pedras, Canada Research Chair in Bio-organic and Agricultural Chemistry, is the 2009 award recipient.

For 15 years, Dr. Pedras has been exploring the chemical relationship between plants and their pathogens. She has earned a stellar international reputation for her innovative research, and colleagues across the globe have described her as a pioneer at the forefront of her field whose work has worldwide impact.

Dr. Pedras' research has attracted funding from the Natural Sciences and Engineering Research Council of Canada, Canada Research Chairs (CRC) Program, and the Canada Foundation for Innovation, as well as the provincial government and the University of Saskatchewan. The investment has paid off. Dr. Pedras and her research team have uncovered what she calls a "green" crop protection agent, called paldoxins, that can help protect plants from a variety of diseases without harming other living organisms.

Put simply, Dr. Pedras has discovered that wild species of the crucifer family of plants—including broccoli, cauliflower, turnips, as well as mustard, canola, and rapeseed—produce a chemical defense against disease-causing fungi that cultivated crops do not. By creating a synthetic compound, this naturally occurring defense mechanism can be transferred from the wild to the farm. This breakthrough, currently being patented, is set to have a profound effect on crop protection and increase quality and productivity around the world.

During her distinguished career, Dr. Pedras has authored or co-authored more than 120 papers in refereed journals and has presented her research at regional, national, and international conferences. She has also contributed to the academic community as a member of the CRC College of Reviewers Committee, a member of the selection committee for the prestigious Killam Prizes and Research Fellowships, and as a member of the NATO Postgraduate Fellowships Committee. She currently sits on the Editorial Board of Phytochemistry, a leading international journal of plant chemistry, plant biochemistry and molecular biology.

In recognition of her distinguished contributions to the field of chemistry, Dr. Pedras received the Clara Benson Award from the Canadian Society for Chemistry in 2003. She was also awarded the USSU Teaching Excellence Award in 1995 and named Thorvaldson Professor in the Department of Chemistry from 2003 to 2008.

While Dr. Pedras is a dedicated scholar, she has also displayed tremendous commitment to teaching and learning by supervising numerous graduate theses, post-doctoral fellows, research associates, and visiting scientists.

Dr. Pedras earned B.Sc. and Licentiate degrees from the University of Porto in Portugal and a Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the University of Alberta. She has served as a Visiting Fellow and Research Scientist at the National Research Council's Plant Biotechnology Institute and has acted as a consultant for numerous companies and organizations.

Master Teacher Award

LESLEY BIGGS

An award-winning researcher in her field of the study of alternative medicine, and a skilled and generous administrator, Dr. Lesley Biggs's primary distinction has nonetheless been as a creative, passionate, and engaging teacher.

Her undergraduate training in psychology (B.A. 1980), and Master's and doctoral work in behavioural sciences (M.Sc. 1983; Ph.D. 1990), all at the University of Toronto, and her teaching first in the Department of Sociology at the University of Saskatchewan (1986-1997) and then in Women's and Gender Studies (1997-date) here have made her a teacher with an extraordinary breadth and depth of knowledge.

Always learning herself, and constantly looking for creative ways to communicate complex ideas in an accessible and memorable way, Professor Biggs revises her curricula and teaching methods as she learns more from classroom experiences, wide reading, teaching workshops, and participation in professional accreditation and standards committees, the latter outside the university.

Committed to inclusive learning spaces, Professor Biggs respects all students enough to be academically rigorous with them. Both undergraduate and graduate students testify to her effectiveness as a teacher, and a number of former students who have gone on to be faculty members elsewhere report how inspirational she was as a teacher and how excellent as a teaching mentor.

Dr. Biggs has supervised and served on the advisory committees of a staggering number of graduate students, and invests deeply in developing their full range of academic skills from proficiencies in research methodologies to writing and presentation abilities. Widely recognized as a model teacher, she is a sought-after leader for, and participant in, teaching workshops designed to enhance the instructional skills of the next generation of teachers.

Professor Biggs was a prime mover in the founding and the curricular and administrative development of the Department of Women's and Gender Studies, and she has repeatedly and selflessly taken on the task of chairing her department. Among her many contributions to teaching in this interdisciplinary field is her co-editing of an imaginative, widely adopted textbook. Her enthusiasm for the pursuit and communication of knowledge make her the kind of teacher that students remember gratefully long after they have left the university.

Governor General's Academic Medals

These medals are awarded to the undergraduate student and graduate student with the highest academic standing.

Gold Medal

MAUD CHLOÉ OLIVIA FERRARI

Maud Ferrari was born in Lyon, France, in 1981. She received a Maitrise (equivalent to a B.Sc.) in Biology of Populations and Ecosystems from the Université de Grenoble in 2003. Her undergraduate work included a one-year exchange program at Concordia University, Montreal, where she studied the effects of acid rain on fish chemoreception. Maud started her graduate work in the Department of Biology in September 2003 and completed her Ph.D. in January 2009. She was the recipient of a University Graduate Scholarship, the R.J.F. Smith Research Scholarship and the M.A. Ramsay Memorial Award.

Maud's research examined the behavioural and evolutionary ecology of predator recognition by fishes and larval amphibians. Her work focused on how prey learn to adjust the intensity of their antipredator behaviour to match the risk posed by the predator. For example, she showed that prey can very quickly learn the time of day at which predators are most dangerous, and can use information about known predators to recognize novel predators they encounter for the first time. Her work resulted in 27 peer-reviewed publications and has revolutionized the way behavioural ecologists view predator recognition.

Maud was awarded an NSERC post-doctoral fellowship to continue her research at the University of California, Davis, where she will use a behavioural approach to study the ecology of species invasions.

Silver Medal

BRITTANY NICOLE CAZAKOFF

Brittany Nicole Cazakoff graduates today with a B.Sc. Honours Degree with High Honours in Physiology. She is also the recipient of the Earl of Bessborough Prize awarded to the most distinguished graduate receiving a Bachelor of Science Four Year, Honours, or Certificate in Natural Sciences.

In addition to receiving this notable prize, Brittany has been the recipient of numerous other academic awards including the Governor General's Bronze Medal in 2004-2005, the Chancellor's Chernoff Family Award, and the University of Saskatchewan Entrance Scholarship, which was renewed in all four years of her university career.

Brittany has been a very active volunteer both on and off campus during her years at the university. Some of these volunteer activities include Orientation, Experience US!, Greystone Scholars Spend-a-Day, and acting as a mentor through the Big Brothers and Big Sisters Association of Saskatoon. As an in-school mentor Brittany spends two hours a week with an "at risk" elementary school student at his or her school. She has participated in a number of U of S intramural sports as well.

Brittany will continue her education in the College of Graduate Studies in September, pursuing a Master's Degree in Physiology.
