SASKATCHEWAN

Convocation procession in the Bowl, May 1928. A-1666

President's Message

PETER MACKINNON

I want to express a very warm welcome to the graduates, families and friends who join us today for this very important ceremony. It is here at Convocation that we recognize and celebrate the accomplishments and achievements of our students as well as the contributions and support of their loved ones to their success. You should be proud of this day and of the commitment and sacrifice that it represents.

We at the University of Saskatchewan are very proud of our accomplishments and it is thanks in large part to you, our students, who have helped us to achieve our goal of building a world-class institution of higher learning.

We extend to you our very best wishes for the future. We hope that you will stay in touch with us through our University of Saskatchewan alumni family, and that we will have the opportunity to welcome you 'home' to our campus many times in the years ahead.

Warmest congratulations!

Alumni Message

HEATHER MAGOTIAUX

Welcome and congratulations to our graduates. Today, our graduates make one of life's great transitions—from university students to University of Saskatchewan alumni.

I encourage you to take a moment to reflect upon the investment made during your time at the U of S—years of intense effort and the support of others through many valuable connections you have made with fellow students, with faculty and with people beyond the borders of our campus. I hope your reflection fills you with the same pride your loved ones and supporters have for your great accomplishment.

Your transition to U of S alumni sheds new light on these relationships and allows them to grow as you embark on a lifelong journey of learning and discovery. Connections mature as you, like many before you, push the boundaries of knowledge in your chosen field and impact the world around you. You have the potential to leave a legacy to which future generations will aspire.

As you progress through life's many transitions, stay in touch with the University of Saskatchewan, with your college and with your classmates so we can celebrate your successes together.

Congratulations to the class of 2010, and welcome to the U of S alumni family.

The Chancellor

VERA PEZER

Dr. Pezer has a long association with the University of Saskatchewan, earning her undergraduate and graduate degrees from the university and serving as associate vice-president (Student Affairs and Services) from 1991–2001. Dr. Pezer first joined the university in 1966 in Student Counselling Services and as a part-time instructor in the Department of Psychology. She would later become director of student counselling, an assistant professor of psychology and assistant dean, College of Arts and Science. Under her leadership, student retention and academic success were enhanced and the university's first offices dedicated to student emergency financial assistance, disability services for students, and aboriginal student support programs established.

She has held volunteer and leadership roles with the Saskatoon Board of Police Commissioners, Saskatchewan Centennial Gala, Hope Cancer Race for Recovery, Saskatoon Housing Coalition, Persephone Theatre and the YWCA. Dr. Pezer has also contributed widely to professional and amateur sports organizations. She is a member and current chair of the 1989 Jeux Canada Games Foundation, director of the 1991 Scott Tournament of Hearts and ceremonies chair of the 1989 Brier. As a sport psychologist, Dr. Pezer served as an adviser and trainer to Canadian curling teams in two Olympic Games.

An accomplished athlete in her own right, Dr. Pezer is a four-time Canadian ladies' curling champion, a Canadian softball champion, and two-time member of the Saskatchewan senior women's golf team. She has received a place of honour in the Saskatoon and Saskatchewan Sports Halls of Fame and in the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame. In 2003, Dr. Pezer completed her first book, The Stone Age: A Social History of Curling in the Prairies. She has just published her second, titled Smart Curling. Dr. Pezer was honoured with a Saskatchewan Centennial Medal in 2006, and in 2002, received the University of Saskatchewan Alumni Award of Achievement.

OUR SONG

(An excerpt)

*Sing for Saskatchewan,
And let your song ring out,
And rise for Saskatchewan,
Saskatchewan we shout.
Think of the days you've known,
Inside the greystone walls,
Then rise for Saskatchewan,
Give your song, your heart,
your all.*

OUR TEAM

The U of S Huskies are at the centre of our school spirit. With over 350 athletes, 15 teams and countless championship titles, the U of S has developed a reputation as a dominant player in interuniversity sports.

Great Minds

the University of Saskatchewan has been building a proud tradition.

We have evolved from a prairie college to a centre of excellence in education and research. Our students, faculty, staff and alumni are a testament to our success. Their example has set a precedent for institutions across Canada, North America and the world.

Looking BACK

POPULATION

In 1907, the year the University of Saskatchewan was established, the population of Saskatoon was roughly 4,500 and the province of Saskatchewan, 210,000.

Saskatoon's population today tops 200,000; Saskatchewan's grazes the million mark.

STUDENTS/FACULTY

In 1909, five faculty members taught the first group of 70 students. Classes were initially held in the Drinkle building in downtown Saskatoon.

Currently more than 1,000 faculty members mentor a student body of nearly 20,000.

COLLEGES

Arts and Science and Agriculture were the first two colleges to be established at the U of S—in 1908 and 1909, respectively. Today, 13 colleges and four schools offer 58 degrees, diplomas and certificates in over 100 areas of study.

GRADUATES

In 1912, the U of S honoured its first graduating class of seven students. The ceremony was held at Nutana Collegiate. At this year's convocation spring and fall ceremonies, we will honour nearly 4,000 new graduates.

“The atmosphere of Saskatoon will be changed.
We shall rise to a higher plane of being.”

— Comment by local lawyer R.W. Shannon upon learning that Saskatoon had been chosen as home to the province's university

The University of Saskatchewan was established by the University Act on April 3, 1907, only 18 months after Saskatchewan became a province.

The people of the province, as well as their government, were instrumental in shaping the new university. The provincial government requested all residents who were graduates of a Canadian or British university to form the first convocation and elect the university's senate. In 1908, the board selected Professor Walter Charles Murray, of Dalhousie University, as the first president.

Classes in arts and science began in September, 1909, in downtown Saskatoon. Construction of the campus began in 1910 and the first buildings were occupied in the fall of 1912. They included the College Building (Administration Building), Saskatchewan Hall (a student residence), residences for the dean of agriculture and the president, a laboratory for engineering and a number of farm buildings.

From the beginning, the university established an emphasis on research and teaching in a context of community service, and encouraged co-operation among departments and divisions in tackling common problems. The development of rust-resistant strains of wheat, for example, initiated by the university and federal and provincial research agencies, has been of untold value to the prairie economy.

In 1909, the university had 70 students and five professors, including the president. Today there are over 19,000 students studying in 13 colleges and four schools. This is the only university in Canada with five health-science colleges and a major teaching hospital on the same campus.

The University of Saskatchewan overlooks the South Saskatchewan River. Most early buildings on campus are collegiate gothic in style and are constructed in a local dolomite, popularly known as greystone. Subsequently constructed buildings also have greystone, as well as tyndall stone (pre-cut slabs quarried in Tyndall, Manitoba), concrete, brick, glass and aggregate facings.

The university offers many points of interest for visitors: the Diefenbaker Canada Centre, Museum of Natural Sciences, Museum of Antiquities, Biology Museum, Pharmaceutical Museum, the Observatory, the Gordon Snelgrove Gallery, the St. Thomas More Gallery, Rugby Chapel, the Little Stone Schoolhouse, the Memorial Gates, Patterson Garden and the Kenderdine Gallery.

LOOKING Forward

With sights firmly fixed on the future, the University of Saskatchewan has embarked on an ambitious effort to advance its already significant contribution of knowledge, innovation and leadership to the people and economy of this province, this country and the world.

Our plan commits energy and resources where they count the most—to enhancing the student experience, to encouraging collaboration and to supporting research, scholarly and artistic endeavour.

Success will require that University of Saskatchewan students be well prepared to thrive in the 'knowledge age,' that they be equipped to succeed. In the coming years, the university will explore improvement and innovation both inside the classroom and out, all the while ensuring the campus remains a welcoming place for aboriginal students, students from other parts of Canada and those from nations around the world.

The future will also see the university establish across the institution a culture of research and scholarship that attracts top faculty and students. Supporting this move are world-class facilities that are already in place, like the Vaccine and Infectious Disease Organization (VIDO), or are under construction, such as the $251-million Academic Health Sciences project. These and other facilities will play a role in shining the light on current and emerging areas of excellence.

In keeping with our founders' early vision, the University of Saskatchewan will continue to be a model of innovation, excellence, diversity and leadership throughout the post-secondary education sector, and beyond.

CONVO

The word “convocation” arises from the Latin “cum” meaning “together,” and “vocare” meaning “to call.” Our convocation ceremony is a calling together of the new graduates of the University of Saskatchewan, symbolizing the historical practice of calling together all former graduates. In current times, the major functions of convocation are the election of representatives to university governing bodies and the admission of candidates to degrees. The chancellor, appointed by senate as the chair of convocation, is the highest official and spokesperson of the university.

The convocation ceremony marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges.

The ceremony, solemnized in the presence of the university community and family and friends of the graduands, consists of three parts: a procession marking the leaving of the old status and entering the new; the president's statement to the graduands, the secretary's petition and the chancellor's consent for their admission; followed by individual presentation by their dean and admission by the chancellor to the degrees to which they are entitled. As graduates are admitted to their degrees, a graduation hood, which has a colour symbolizing a particular degree, is placed over each graduate's head.

The members of convocation in their academic robes march in procession into the ceremony in the following order: graduands in the order in which their degrees are to be conferred; faculty; board of governors; senate; guests of honour; the president; the chancellor; the lieutenant governor. When the members of convocation reach their places they remain standing during the Vice-Regal Salute, the singing of O Canada and the invocation.

ORDER OF THE CEREMONY

The first business is the conferring of honorary degrees, followed by convocation address, president's statement to the graduands, the conferring of degrees and the presentation of awards. The meeting is closed by the chancellor rising and asking the audience to join in the singing of God Save the Queen and leading the procession in the reverse order out of the hall.

DEGREE CEREMONY

The ceremony comprises the petition, the admission and the presentation.

THE PETITION

The university secretary on behalf of all the candidates, addresses the chancellor and senate in these words:

"Eminent Chancellor, Mr. President, members of the University Senate and Board, I present to you the petition of the Council of this University that the candidates to be named, having fulfilled all the requirements of the bylaws, may, with your permission, be admitted to the degrees and certificates to which they are entitled".

THE ADMISSION

The chancellor then addresses the candidates in these words:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the legislature of this province, and with the consent of the council of this university, I consent to admit you to the degrees and certificates to which you are entitled and to invest you with all the powers, rights and privileges pertaining thereto."

THE PRESENTATION

The dean of the faculty, or designate, followed by the candidates of that faculty, approaches the chancellor from the left and presents the candidates with these words:

"Eminent Chancellor, on behalf of the faculty of _____, I present to you these scholars and ask that you will confer on them the degree of _____."

As the dean speaks the candidate's name in full, the candidate moves forward in front of the chancellor. Then the chancellor says, "I admit you" and the university secretary or the registrar places the hood over the candidate's head. Hereupon the candidate passes to the chancellor's right, is greeted by the president, and receives the degree parchment.

DEGREES IN ABSENTIA

In such cases, the university secretary says:

"Eminent Chancellor, in the name of the faculties, I ask you to grant the degrees and certificates, in absentia, to those students who have met the requirements to graduate, but were not able to be present today."

The Convocation Ceremony

ACADEMIC COSTUMES

Academic costume lends an element of colourful pageantry to the convocation proceedings. This traditional clothing—worn on a daily basis at universities in earlier times—is now more commonly reserved for ceremonial functions.

At the University of Saskatchewan, the following academic costume is adopted to be worn upon all appropriate occasions:

The gown resembles a long cape with full sleeve cut to elbow and terminating in a point for the bachelor's degree; with long sleeve and a semi-circular cut at the bottom for the master's degree; and with round open sleeves for the doctor's degree. The material is black for the bachelor's degree, and black material or silk for the master's and doctor's degrees. The doctor's gown may have a border down the front on either side of a color distinctive of the character of the degree.

The hoods for the bachelor's and master's degrees are of black broadcloth. For the doctor's (Ph.D.) degree the hood is scarlet cloth with a blue lining. The master's and doctor's hoods have a lining and the bachelor's an edging (and in some cases, a lining) of a color distinctive of the character of the degree.

W. Brett Wilson, BE, co-founded one of Canada's leading energy-focused investment banks to become one of the country's foremost business leaders. He has earned a reputation for his philanthropy and co-stars on CBC TV's The Dragons' Den. He was instrumental in the creation of the Centre for Entrepreneurial Excellence at the University of Saskatchewan.

Donald Worme, LLB, a member of the Kawacotoose First Nation, is a founding member of the Indigenous Bar Association of Canada and one of Saskatchewan's leading advocates for criminal law and treaty litigation. He has been actively involved in the development of public policy for aboriginal and treaty rights and recently received a National Aboriginal Achievement Award.

Colette Bourgonje, BA, BEd, is a 10-time Paralympic medalist. She has won four wheelchair racing medals in four summer games and six cross-country sit-ski medals in five winter games, including two medals—a silver and a bronze—at the 2010 Paralympics in Vancouver.

Guy Vanderhaeghe, BA, MA, DLitt, is a best-selling, award winning author. Among his many writing awards are two Governor General Awards—for Man Descending and The Englishman's Boy—and the Canadian Bookseller's Association Ex Libris Award for The Last Crossing.

Hon. Sylvia Fedoruk, BA, MA, LLD, was chief medical physicist for the Saskatchewan Cancer Foundation for 35 years and was involved in the development of the Cobalt 60 unit, which pioneered radiation treatment for cancer. She was the first female to serve as Lieutenant Governor of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Malcolm Wilson, MSc, PhD, was co-recipient of the 2007 Nobel Peace Prize, awarded jointly to former U.S. Vice-President Al Gore and the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change. He is a leading climate change researcher and is involved with several provincial, national, and international carbon capture projects.

Honorary Doctor of Laws

GORDIE HOWE

Arguably the best at his profession in the entire world, Gordon "Gordie" Howe played more National Hockey League games than any other player in history. For twenty seasons he finished in the top five among scorers and he was awarded the Art Ross Trophy (leading scorer) six times, the Hart Trophy (most valuable player) six times, was part of four Stanley Cup teams, and named to the NHL All-Star team twenty-three times. He played in the NHL until he was fifty-two years old. Internationally recognized and respected as "Mr. Hockey," he has also been named to the Hockey Hall of Fame and the Canadian Sports Hall of Fame and has been recognized with an NHL Lifetime Achievement Award and the Order of Canada.

Gordie Howe has shown continually his ability to rise above adversity to achieve success. He overcame the odds of being from an economically disadvantaged family, from having a limited formal education, and from being physically weak to become a dominant figure in a sport that requires superior physical ability and mental strength.

Beyond his prowess on the ice, Gordie Howe is an international philanthropist. He and his late wife Colleen established the Howe Foundation which raises money for registration fees and equipment to enable children from across North America to play hockey. As a player he was known for always being generous with his time to sign autographs or offer advice to young players. In recent years, he has supported numerous charitable projects ranging from building a new university rink in New England to participating in summer Kidsport events in his hometown of Saskatoon. Gordie also works with Toronto's BayCrest Hospital through the Gordon and Colleen Howe Foundation to fund dementia research, and serves as spokesperson with Lifestyle Hearing Network to promote better hearing across Canada.

Gordie Howe is a role model for generations of Canadians who have seen how he took raw talent and limited opportunities and transformed them into success through his dedication, tenacity, and hard work.

Honorary Doctor of Science

DENNIS SKOPIK

As a professor and scientist at the University of Saskatchewan, and now at the Jefferson National Laboratory in Newport News, Virginia, Professor Skopik has made major contributions to the science of nuclear physics. Of particular significance and impact to the University, city, province and nation, Dr. Skopik also led the team that established the Canadian Light Source synchrotron at the University of Saskatchewan.

Dennis Skopik earned his B.Sc. at Defiance College (Physics and Mathematics), a M.Sc.

from the College of William and Mary, and his Ph.D. in Nuclear Physics from the American University.

Dr. Skopik came to the University of Saskatchewan in 1970 to work with Dr. Leon Katz at the Saskatchewan Accelerator Laboratory. He was appointed as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Physics and promoted through the professorial ranks to become a full professor in 1979 when only 37 years old. He later became the Director of the Saskatchewan Accelerator Laboratory (SAL) and served in that capacity until 1999.

Through Professor Skopik's leadership, staff at the Saskatchewan Accelerator Laboratory provided the initial design for a Canadian synchrotron facility. Based on this design the Natural Sciences and Engineering Council of Canada (NSERC) conducted a national competition to determine the optimal site for such a facility. Dennis then directed the University of Saskatchewan team that prepared an application. Throughout this competition, and subsequent to the award of the synchrotron project to the University of Saskatchewan, Dennis Skopik provided the leadership which resulted in the recruitment of federal, provincial, municipal and private sector funding in a partnership hitherto unknown in the scientific world and culminating in a decision by provincial and federal authorities to proceed with constructing the Canadian Light Source.

Dennis has been a supervisor and mentor to 12 graduate students, several who went on to doctoral or post-doctoral work at MIT. His peers elected him as a Fellow of the American Physics Society in recognition of his contributions to nuclear physics. He has served as a member of numerous committees, societies and Boards, including: Chairman, Division of Nuclear Physics, Canadian Association of Physicists; Executive Committee Member, Canadian Institute for Nuclear Physics; Member of the Program Advisory Committee for MIT's Bates Linear Accelerator Center; and Member of the Nuclear Physics Review Panel for the Department of Energy, Washington, D.C. His advice is widely sought by numerous physics laboratories and organizations throughout the world.

Honorary Doctor of Letters

IAN E. WILSON

In 1999, Ian E. Wilson was appointed as the 7th National Archivist of Canada. With Roch Carrier, then National Librarian, he led the process to amalgamate these two national institutions to create a new knowledge institution for the digital age: Library and Archives Canada. In 2004, Ian E. Wilson was appointed as the first Librarian and Archivist of Canada. On his retirement five years later, the Government gave him the unusual distinction of naming him Emeritus.

Born in Montreal, Quebec, he obtained his Master's degree from Queen's University in 1974 and returned this past year to receive an Honorary Doctorate of Law (LL.D). Honours include: Member of the Order of Canada, an Honorary Doctorate of Letters (D.Litt) from York University, fellow of both the Canadian and American archival associations, Commandeur de l'Ordre des Arts et des Lettres (France), and the Award of Merit from the Association for Canadian Studies.

Mr. Wilson's career is distinguished in many areas, including archival and information management, university teaching and government service. He began his career at Queen's University Archives, later becoming Saskatchewan's Provincial Archivist and Chairman of the Saskatchewan Heritage Advisory Board. He was Archivist of Ontario. He has taught as an Adjunct Professor in the Faculties of Information Studies and Graduate Studies of the University of Toronto. In March 2008, Mr. Wilson was elected President of the International Council of Archives.

He chaired the Consultative Group on Canadian Archives on behalf of the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council. The Group's report, Canadian Archives (1980) — generally known as the Wilson Report — has been described as “a milestone in the history of archival development in Canada.”

Over a 40 year career, Dr. Wilson has worked diligently to make archives accessible and interesting to a wide range of audiences. He has helped safeguard the integrity of archival records while at the same time encouraging the public to use them. He has published extensively on history, archives, heritage and information management and has lectured nationally and internationally. He is now working with the University of Waterloo in establishing the Stratford Institute, an innovative think tank focused on the impact of digital media in modern society.

Honorary Doctor of Letters

MARGARET (KESSLERING) WEIERS

Born on a farm near Viceroy, Saskatchewan in 1928, Margaret (Kesslering) Weiers graduated at age twenty from the University of Saskatchewan with a B.A. in English. As an early feminist, social reformer, and fierce nationalist, she embarked on a stellar forty-year career in journalism, beginning with the Regina Leader-Post and ending with the Toronto Star. She was at one time the only woman on the Star's editorial board and earned a reputation for her forceful, articulate editorials on a wide range of topics. During her time at the Star, she wrote on a variety of subjects: health, social policy, the law, municipal and provincial politics, human rights, women's rights, and international affairs. In 1969 she won the Canadian Women's Press Club Memorial Award for best news story and in 1979 she was the first journalist to receive a special award from the American Association on Mental Deficiency for what the citation called "outstanding socially responsible journalism". Upon her retirement, she was feted by colleagues as a "social reformer and fierce nationalist" as well as a journalist who 'brought a feminist viewpoint to the editorial board in 1972".

Margaret also served briefly as a Foreign Service Officer with the Department of External Affairs in the mid-1950s and was at the United Nations in New York when former Canadian prime minister and Nobel Peace Prize winner Lester Pearson defused the Suez Crisis. She later wrote about women's diplomatic experiences in her book, Envoys Extraordinary: Women of the Canadian Foreign Service. Margaret never let questions about her gender get in the way of doing her job to the best of her abilities. She has also continuously downplayed her many contributions, selflessly shunning the spotlight at every opportunity. But like her own family who homesteaded in Saskatchewan, she is a true pioneer who blazed a trail for other women to follow. They unanimously agree they owe Margaret a deep debt of gratitude.

Earned Doctor of Science

VIPEN SAWHNEY

Professor Vipen Sawhney has earned a national and international reputation for his outstanding research in the area of plant development. He has published over 100 papers in refereed journals, co-edited a book and written over 20 book chapters and reviews. The impact of his work is evidenced by the more than 50 invitations he has received to present symposia talks and seminars around the world.

Professor Sawhney has made major contributions in both basic and applied science. His fundamental research on plant reproduction, particularly pollen development and male sterility in plants, is recognized internationally. His group has demonstrated the importance of the tapetum, hormones and environmental factors for pollen development. Most recently Professor Sawhney's lab has applied a battery of modern proteomics technologies to determine the key proteins involved in pollen and tapetum development. This cutting edge research has yielded very important information regarding several proteins and their functions during pollen development.

Professor Sawhney's research also has important applications in the area of hybrid seed production. Hybrids are important to agriculture because they show increased vigour and have a higher yield. Professor Sawhney has developed a male-sterile mutant in tomato which is attracting considerable attention internationally for hybrid seed production and has been licensed to a seed company in Italy and transferred to agricultural universities in China, Mongolia and India.

In addition to being a highly respected and successful scientist, Professor Sawhney has won awards for his teaching prowess, including the College of Arts and Science Teaching Excellence Award and the University of Saskatchewan Master Teacher Award. He is known for his enthusiasm for plant biology and his compassion for his students, both undergraduate and graduate. He is truly a gifted teacher. Literally thousands of young university students have been turned on to plants by Professor Sawhney.

Professor Sawhney is also a talented administrator. He directed the affairs of the department of biology as head, was appointed Rawson Professor for distinguished service, served as vice president and president of the Canadian Botanical Association, and president of the International Association of Sexual Plant Reproduction. His contributions to the Canadian Botanical Association were recognized with the Mary Elliott Service Award and recently by the association's most prestigious award, the Lawson Medal, for the excellence of his lifetime contribution to Canadian botany.

Despite his success as a research scientist, teacher and administrator, Professor Sawhney remains a humble individual and a fine human being.

President's Service Award

GORDON HERMAN

For over 40 years, Gordon Herman's stewardship of the University of Saskatchewan's electrical infrastructure has made the experience of being on campus much safer and more enjoyable for everyone. His commitment to this important job makes him a worthy recipient of one of two President's Service Awards to be handed out this year.

Referring to campus as his "home away from home," Herman has always shown great concern for the image of the University of Saskatchewan, and for what he can do to ensure the institution stands above the rest. He strives constantly to ensure the electrical infrastructure is well maintained and meets all codes and standards to ensure it never fails to support the university's academic and research activities. His concern for on-the-job safety earned him the Workplace Safety and Environmental Protection Safety Recognition Award in 2005.

Noted by many for his problem-solving abilities, Herman is always ready to take on unusual challenges. He is the designer and builder of a very special piece of equipment used at the university—a ride-on sweeper or mini-zamboni used for cleaning gymnasium floors. Built some 20 years ago, the machine has been painted green and embellished with the Huskie logo, making it a very popular attraction in the Physical Activity Centre gym. In addition to being a designer and builder, Herman is noted for his skill as a carpenter, welder, driver, seaman and equipment operator.

Admired for his knowledge, managerial skill, meticulous approach to his work and for his genuine caring personality by all those he comes in contact with, both on campus and off, Gordon Herman has set the bar high as a winner of the President's Service Award. He will be retiring soon from the university but he will leave behind a legacy of commitment and service that will endure for years to come.

Award for Distinction in Outreach and Engagement

MARGARET CROSSLEY

The efforts of Dr. Margaret Crossley exemplify the ideals of outreach and engagement at the University of Saskatchewan.

Dr. Crossley has been a professor in the department of psychology at the University of Saskatchewan since 1994, where she has earned a reputation for seamlessly blending research, hands-on clinical training for graduate students, supervision of graduate student research, and public service. She goes to great lengths to make herself available to her students—efforts that earned her the University of Saskatchewan Alumni Association's Alumni Mentorship Award in 2005. A former student states, "She always made time to listen to a student's needs and has seemed relentless in her desire to help students achieve the highest level that was within their reach."

As a neuropsychologist, Dr. Crossley specializes in the early-stage detection and diagnosis of dementia. In 1994, she established the Aging Research Memory Clinic, providing services to clients and their families in Saskatoon and area. She served as director of the clinic until 2004, when the clinic was integrated with the Rural and Remote Memory Clinic, the flagship initiative of the New Emerging Team on Cognitive Aging.

The Rural and Remote Memory Clinic was established by Dr. Crossley as an interprofessional assessment, training, and research setting to serve patients and their families residing in rural and remote regions of Saskatchewan. Together with other health professionals in neurology, nursing, physical therapy, and geriatric medicine, Dr. Crossley and her graduate student trainees provide a one-stop assessment clinic. The full-day clinics in Saskatoon are supported with telehealth-facilitated follow-up and intervention services.

Through the Aging Research and Memory Clinic and the Rural and Remote Memory Clinic, Professor Crossley and her students have provided neuropsychological services to hundreds of patients and consultations to hundreds of families free of charge—and the number of potential clients and their families interested in becoming involved with the clinic continues to grow.

During a 2007 site visit to the Saskatoon Health Region by the Canadian Council for Health Services, the Rural and Remote Memory Clinic was recognized as a best practice service for its unique and successful integration of interdisciplinary collaboration, training and research.

Dr. Crossley has become "a model to emulate" and her activities in the community bring distinction to the University of Saskatchewan, making her a worthy recipient of the Award for Distinction in Outreach and Engagement.

Distinguished Researcher Award

JOHN TSE

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contribution to scholarship through the creation, expansion, and critique of knowledge. Dr. John Tse, Canada Research Chair in Materials Science and professor in the department of physics and engineering physics, is a 2010 recipient.

In a career that has spanned more than three decades, Dr. Tse has established an international reputation as an outstanding experimental and theoretical and materials scientist whose colleagues have described him as a pioneer in his field—equally at home in both theory and experiment.

Dr. Tse is recognized as a leader in the application of sophisticated computational and experimental methods to determine the relationship between the structure and properties of complex solids. As a Canada Research Chair, he explores the behaviour of materials under high pressures and temperatures—research that could lead to advanced alloys and electronics, as well as a better understanding of the chemistry and dynamics of Earth's molten iron core.

In one of his most recent achievements, Dr. Tse has identified a new family of superconductors. Along with colleagues in Germany, he produced the first experimental proof that superconductivity can occur in hydrogen compounds known as molecular hydrides, which is the first step in designing better superconducting materials for a wide variety of industrial uses.

Dr. Tse is a prolific scientist who had authored or co-authored more than 410 peer-reviewed publications with many in prestigious journals such as Nature, Science, Physical Review Letters, and Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences. He is frequently invited to speak on his work nationally and internationally and has served on national and international professional review and planning committees. He has acted as a referee and reviewer for numerous leading journals. He played a key role in the development of the Canadian Light Source, including acting as Chair of the Oversight Committee during the construction of the CLS and sitting on the Beamline Advisory Committee.

In recognition of an outstanding career, Dr. Tse has garnered numerous awards and honours. He was elected as a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada in 2008, twice won the Steacie Institute for Molecular Science Outstanding Achievement Award (2000 and 2003), and was appointed as a Distinguished Scholar at the National Science Council in Taiwan (2003-2004). He also received the Noranda award of the Chemical Institute of Canada in 1995.

Dr. Tse earned his B.Sc. from the Chinese University of Hong Kong and his Ph.D. (chemistry) from the University of Western Ontario. He joined the National Research Council after graduation, eventually achieving the distinguished rank of Principal Research Officer at the prestigious Steacie Institute of Molecular Sciences before coming to the U of S in 2004.

Master Teacher Award

ALLAN DOLOVICH

Professor Allan Dolovich is a native of Winnipeg and obtained his B.Sc. and M.Sc. degrees in Mechanical Engineering from the University of Manitoba in 1984 and 1986. He went on to complete a Ph.D. at the University of Waterloo and began his career at the University of Saskatchewan in 1990. From his very early days at our institution, he distinguished himself as a superb teacher and immediately established a reputation among the students as a gifted lecturer and someone who takes a very personal and direct interest in the success of every student he encounters. He won the inaugural College of Engineering Teaching Excellence Award in 1997, the Saskatoon Engineering Society Educator of the Year Award in 2003, and has been nominated for a USSU Teaching Excellence Award six times—receiving the award in 2003.

In compiling the nomination for this award, many testimonials were enthusiastically provided by appreciative students. The overriding theme that comes through in these testimonials is the intense passion that he has for the act of teaching. Professor Dolovich channels this passion very effectively by the most thorough preparation imaginable, extremely engaging lecture mechanics, an unselfish standard of access for students, highly effective mentoring of new faculty, involvement in engineering education as a research topic, and a fundamental belief in the value and potential of every human being. He sees every student as a future professional who must be competent to perform analyses with accuracy, insight, and accountability.

Professor Dolovich spends many hours carefully considering how to present difficult concepts and how to choose examples that effectively lead students to discovery. As pointed out in his peer and student evaluations, he uses props and humour to great effect. His blackboard artistry is immaculate and students repeatedly comment on the crystal clear presentation of mathematical concepts that they always receive from Professor Dolovich. His devotion to teaching also manifests itself in his extensive mentoring of new faculty. Last year, two lecturers that he mentored won major teaching awards.

Professor Dolovich is also involved in engineering education as a research topic. This research is unique in that it involves undergraduate students both as the subject matter and as part of the research team.

Professor Dolovich is truly a master teacher in all senses. His superior dedication to students both in and out of the classroom, his desire to mentor other faculty, his desire to advance engineering education, and the intense admiration and appreciation of his students are shining evidence of a master teacher who has positively influenced the stature of our institution through his contributions to the student experience.

Governor General's Academic Medals

These medals are awarded to the undergraduate student and graduate student with the highest academic standing.

GOLD MEDAL

NEIL M. FOURNIER

Neil Fournier was born in Timmins, Ontario in 1980. In 2003, he received a Bachelor of Science in Behavioural Neuroscience from Laurentian University. Neil then pursued graduate studies at Dalhousie University. Following the completion of a Master of Science degree, Neil enrolled in the Doctoral program at the University of Saskatchewan where he continued his studies in the Department of Psychology under the guidance of Dr. Lisa Kalynchuk.

During his Ph.D. research, Neil has been the recipient of several awards. These include an NSERC Canada Graduate Scholarship, Savoy Foundation Award, Canadian Association of Neuroscience Research Prize, International Behavioural Neuroscience Society Award, Eli/Lilly CAN Young Neuroscientist Award, and Ontario Graduate Scholarship.

Neil's doctoral research focused on understanding the effect of seizures on new neurons generated in the adult brain. His work revealed that neurons born after even mild seizures have the potential to form pathological circuits that encourage the generation of future seizures. In addition, Neil and his co-workers also identified several molecular targets that are important in triggering the formation of these pathological circuits in the epileptic brain. He hopes to see that his work will one day help clinicians develop more effective treatments for people with epilepsy.

Neil was recently awarded a Postdoctoral Fellowship award from NSERC where he is continuing his work on neurogenesis at Yale University School of Medicine.

SILVER MEDAL

INGRID MARIE WIRTH

Ingrid grew up in Saskatoon, Saskatchewan. She graduates today with a Bachelor of Science Three-year Degree in Physiology with Great Distinction. Ms. Wirth is also the recipient of the Spring Convocation Three-year Medal, which is awarded to the most distinguished graduate graduating at Spring Convocation with a Three-year Degree.

Ingrid has excelled academically and has been awarded numerous scholarships and awards during her academic career to date, including the Chancellors' Scholarship, the John Spencer Middleton and Jack Spencer Gordon Middleton Undergraduate Scholarship, and the University of Saskatchewan Scholarship. She achieved recognition on the Dean's List after her first and second year of studies.

Ms. Wirth has been an active Health Program Volunteer with both the Saskatoon First Step and Saskatoon Cardio Rehab Clinics and is also a solo saxophone performer, providing entertainment for private and public functions.

Ingrid's interests include studying saxophone privately with a University of Saskatchewan saxophone professor, composing music for solo instruments, playing guitar and constructing 3-D puzzles of North American skyscrapers.

Ms. Wirth's future goals include obtaining a Doctor of Medicine Degree and establishing a practice as a clinician-scientist, treating patients and conducting research in the areas of respirology, allergy and asthma.
