SASKATCHEWAN

Convocation procession in the Bowl, May 1928. A-1666

The graduation lists shown in this program were prepared prior to convocation and may not reflect final college decisions regarding each student's eligibility for graduation. As a result, some of the students listed in this program may not have been formally approved to receive the degree or diploma indicated. The registrar maintains the official list of graduates.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

PETER MacKINNON

I want to express a very warm welcome to the graduates, families and friends who join us today for this very important ceremony. It is here at Convocation that we recognize and celebrate the accomplishments and achievements of our students as well as the contributions and support of their loved ones to their success. You should be proud of this day and of the commitment and sacrifice that it represents.

We at the University of Saskatchewan are very proud of our accomplishments and it is thanks in large part to you, our students, who have helped us to achieve our goal of building a world-class institution of higher learning.

We extend to you our very best wishes for the future. We hope that you will stay in touch with us through our University of Saskatchewan alumni family, and that we will have the opportunity to welcome you back to campus many times in the years ahead.

Warmest congratulations!

ALUMNI MESSAGE

HEATHER MAGOTIAUX

Congratulations to the class of 2011—the 100th University of Saskatchewan graduating class.

Our first graduating class in 1912 was small with just eight graduates. Little did those farmers, politicians and business people know that their fellow alumni would one day include a Canadian prime minister, Nobel Prize winners, Olympic medalists, Rhodes Scholars, literary prize winners, and leaders in almost every imaginable profession and field of study.

As you pass from U of S student to U of S alumnus, you stand with over 135,000 living graduates who, year after year, continue to build upon the foundation of success that traces back to those eight men and women. Just as you had the support of your family, classmates, professors and numerous others to help you achieve success as a student, you now have the support of your U of S alumni family to help you along your journey of learning and discovery.

My hope is that future generations will look upon your achievements with respect and wonder, aspiring to build upon your success—just as you build upon the legacy left by the first 100 years of U of S graduates. I encourage you to share your success with us, so we can celebrate together and share it with the world.

Congratulations class of 2011, and welcome to the U of S alumni family.

Heather Magotiaux
Vice-President, University Advancement

THE CHANCELLOR

VERA PEZER

Dr. Pezer has a long association with the University of Saskatchewan, earning her undergraduate and graduate degrees from the university and serving as associate vice-president (Student Affairs and Services) from 1991–2001. Dr. Pezer first joined the university in 1966 in Student Counselling Services and as a part-time instructor in the Department of Psychology. She would later become director of student counselling, an assistant professor of psychology and assistant dean, College of Arts and Science. Under her leadership, student retention and academic success were enhanced and the university's first offices dedicated to student emergency financial assistance, disability services for students, and aboriginal student support programs established.

She has held volunteer and leadership roles with the Saskatoon Board of Police Commissioners, Saskatchewan Centennial Gala, Hope Cancer Race for Recovery, Saskatoon Housing Coalition, Persephone Theatre and the YWCA. Dr. Pezer has also contributed widely to professional and amateur sports organizations. She is a member and current chair of the 1989 Jeux Canada Games Foundation, director of the 1991 Scott Tournament of Hearts and ceremonies chair of the 1989 Brier. As a sport psychologist, Dr. Pezer served as an adviser and trainer to Canadian curling teams in two Olympic Games.

An accomplished athlete in her own right, Dr. Pezer is a four-time Canadian ladies' curling champion, a Canadian softball champion, and two-time member of the Saskatchewan senior women's golf team. She has received a place of honour in the Saskatoon and Saskatchewan Sports Halls of Fame and in the Canadian Curling Hall of Fame. In 2003, Dr. Pezer completed her first book, The Stone Age: A Social History of Curling in the Prairies. She has just published her second, titled Smart Curling. Dr. Pezer was honoured with a Saskatchewan Centennial Medal in 2006, and in 2002, received the University of Saskatchewan Alumni Award of Achievement.

OUR SONG

(An excerpt)

*Sing for Saskatchewan,
And let your song ring out,
And rise for Saskatchewan,
Saskatchewan we shout.
Think of the days you've known,
Inside the greystone walls,
Then rise for Saskatchewan,
Give your song, your heart, your all.*

— Words and music by Neil Harris, 1951

OUR TEAM

The U of S Huskies are at the centre of our school spirit. With over 350 athletes, 15 teams and countless championship titles, the U of S has developed a reputation as a dominant player in interuniversity sports.

Great Minds

the University of Saskatchewan has been building a proud tradition. We have evolved from a prairie college to a centre of excellence in education and research. Our students, faculty, staff and alumni are a testament to our success. Their example has set a precedent for institutions across Canada, North America and the world.

Looking BACK

POPULATION

In 1907, the year the University of Saskatchewan was established, the population of Saskatoon was roughly 4,500 and the province of Saskatchewan, 210,000.

Saskatoon's population today tops 224,000; Saskatchewan's tops the million mark.

STUDENTS/FACULTY

In 1909, five faculty members taught the first group of 70 students. Classes were initially held in the Drinkle building in downtown Saskatoon.

Currently more than 1,000 faculty members mentor a student body of nearly 20,000.

COLLEGES

Arts and Science and Agriculture were the first two colleges to be established at the U of S—in 1908 and 1909, respectively. Today, 13 colleges and four schools offer 58 degrees, diplomas and certificates in over 100 areas of study.

GRADUATES

In 1912, the U of S honoured its first graduating class of seven students. The ceremony was held at Nutana Collegiate. At this year's convocation spring and fall ceremonies, we will honour nearly 4,000 new graduates.

“The atmosphere of Saskatoon will be changed.
We shall rise to a higher plane of being.”

— Comment by local lawyer R.W. Shannon upon learning that Saskatoon had been chosen as home to the province's university

The University of Saskatchewan was established by the University Act on April 3, 1907, only 18 months after Saskatchewan became a province.

The people of the province, as well as their government, were instrumental in shaping the new university. The provincial government requested all residents who were graduates of a Canadian or British university to form the first convocation and elect the university's senate. In 1908, the board selected Professor Walter Charles Murray, of Dalhousie University, as the first president.

Classes in arts and science began in September, 1909, in downtown Saskatoon. Construction of the campus began in 1910 and the first buildings were occupied in the fall of 1912. They included the College Building (Administration Building), Saskatchewan Hall (a student residence), residences for the dean of agriculture and the president, a laboratory for engineering and a number of farm buildings.

College Building construction takes shape, November 1911. A-23

From the beginning, the university established an emphasis on research and teaching in a context of community service, and encouraged co-operation among departments and divisions in tackling common problems. The development of rust-resistant strains of wheat, for example, initiated by the university and federal and provincial research agencies, has been of untold value to the prairie economy.

In 1909, the university had 70 students and five professors, including the president. Today there are nearly 20,000 students studying in 13 colleges and four schools.

The University of Saskatchewan is the only university in Canada with five health-science colleges and a major teaching hospital on the same campus.

The University of Saskatchewan overlooks the South Saskatchewan River. Most early buildings on campus are collegiate gothic in style and are constructed in a local dolomite, popularly known as greystone. Subsequently constructed buildings also have greystone, as well as tyndall stone (pre-cut slabs quarried in Tyndall, Manitoba), concrete, brick, glass and aggregate facings.

The university offers many points of interest for visitors: the Diefenbaker Canada Centre, Museum of Natural Sciences, Museum of Antiquities, Biology Museum, Pharmaceutical Museum, the Observatory, the Gordon Snelgrove Gallery, the St. Thomas More Gallery, Rugby Chapel, the Little Stone Schoolhouse, the Memorial Gates, Patterson Garden and the Kenderdine Gallery.

LOOKING Forward

With sights firmly fixed on the future, the University of Saskatchewan has embarked on an ambitious effort to advance its already significant contribution of knowledge, innovation and leadership to the people and economy of this province, this country and the world.

Our plan commits energy and resources where they count the most—to enhancing the student experience, to encouraging collaboration and to supporting research, scholarly and artistic endeavour.

Success will require that University of Saskatchewan students be well prepared to thrive in the ‘knowledge age,’ that they be equipped to succeed. In the coming years, the university will explore improvement and innovation both inside the classroom and out, all the while ensuring the campus remains a welcoming place for aboriginal students, students from other parts of Canada and those from nations around the world.

The future will also see the university establish across the institution a culture of research and scholarship that attracts top faculty and students. Supporting this move are world-class facilities that are already in place, like the Vaccine and Infectious Disease Organization (VIDO), or are under construction, such as the $251-million Academic Health Sciences project. These and other facilities will play a role in shining the light on current and emerging areas of excellence.

In keeping with our founders’ early vision, the University of Saskatchewan will continue to be a model of innovation, excellence, diversity and leadership throughout the post-secondary education sector, and beyond.

Spring Convocation

The first Convocation granting earned degrees was held Wednesday May 1, 1912 at the Collegiate Institute.

As a reporter for the Daily Phenix noted, the ceremony was the culmination of three years' work on the part of professors and students, and an event of great historical importance in the life of the university. While a handful of graduands huddled in the lower hall of the Collegiate Institute (now Nutana Collegiate) waiting to take their place in the convocation procession, the assembly hall was "comfortably filled" with students and interested outsiders, curious to witness the first seven graduates of the University of Saskatchewan take their B.A. degrees.

As the procession, including President Walter Murray, Chancellor Edward L. Wetmore, members of the faculty, senate and board of governors, wound its way up the stairs and down the aisle to the platform, the reporter was clearly impressed with the spectacle, describing "the flowing robes with hoods of white, slate blue, violet, gold, apple blossom, scarlet, according to the various degrees carried by the owners, a very imposing sight."

The following year, the ceremony would move to Convocation Hall in the newly completed College Building. In 1931, Convocation moved off campus to the larger facilities of Third Avenue United Church. The ceremony moved back to campus in 1950 to the University Gymnasium in the newly completed Physical Education Building. Aside from a few Special Convocations, the ceremony has been held at TCU Place since 1968.

This spring over 3,000 graduands will receive degrees during our convocation ceremonies. Though much has changed at the University of Saskatchewan during the 100 years since the first graduating class, the ceremony itself remains virtually unchanged.

The class of 1912

The University of Saskatchewan had from its inception intended that women should have access to higher education. The University Act bolstered that aim, stating “no woman shall by reason of her sex be deprived of any advantage or privilege accorded to male students of the university.” In fact, of the three students from the class of 1912 who earned graduation honours, two were women. Mary Oliver, high honours in Classics and the Copland Scholarship, and Marion Pettit, honours in English and History. David Hossie earned honours in Latin and English and was Rhodes Scholar.

Might Mary Oliver, the best student that year, have been a favourable contender for the Rhodes Scholarship? It is impossible to say since it was a privilege out of her reach. Oxford University, host institution for the Rhodes, did not confer degrees on women until 1920; and the Rhodes remained unavailable to women until 1976. (University Archives)

Twin brothers DOUGLAS (BA'12, LLB'15) and HOWARD (BA'12) MCCONNELL enrolled at the U of S in 1909 after moving to Saskatoon from Ontario in 1907.

Douglas (top photo) dived into athletics; Howard focused on politics, becoming the first president of the Student's Representative Council (SRC). Both pursued law studies, Douglas at the U of S and Howard at Osgood Hall in Toronto.

Both built successful legal practices in Saskatchewan, but Howard's involvement in politics brought him into the limelight. In 1922, he became the first U of S grad to become Mayor of Saskatoon. In 1927, he was elected to the provincial legislature as MLA for Saskatoon, serving until 1934. Howard was also a member of the U of S Senate from 1923-1946, and was instrumental in raising funds to erect the Memorial Gates. Howard passed away in 1957 and Douglas, who was the last surviving member of the original graduating class, died in 1978.

MARION BRUCE PETTIT (BA'12) Like many early students, Marion Bruce Pettit (BA'12) was born in Ontario. She began her university career at Victoria College (University of Toronto). When her family moved west, she transferred to the U of S to complete her degree. She earned honours in English and History, while also serving on the SRC and as a councillor for Penta Kai Deka, the society for female students established in 1911. After leaving the U of S, Marion married lawyer George Cruise. She passed away in 1955.

MARY ISABELLA OLIVER (BA'12) was one of the brightest students of her year. Mary not only earned a Copland Scholarship, but was the president—and likely a founding member—of the Penta Kai Deka Society. She would earn a degree with high honours in Classics, and serve as University librarian. Mary went on to marry fellow alumnus Frank Lloyd (BA'14). She passed away in 1961.

The life of WILLIAM EXTON (W.E.) LLOYD remains somewhat of a mystery. We know his date of birth—January 10, 1890—and that he was the recipient of the first exam ever given at the U of S, which was a matriculation exam delivered in September of 1909. We know, too, that he was a member of the first U of S track and field team, as well as a member of the original Graduation Year Book Board. Although William appears in this photo wearing his convocation robes, it appears he actually did not graduate from the U of S.

DAVID NEIL HOSSIE, D.S.O, K.C., Q.C. (BA'12) was the university's first Rhodes Scholar. A brilliant student, he entered on a Meilicke Exhibition Entrance Scholarship, earned the prestigious Copland Scholarship two years in a row, then capped it all with the 1912 Rhodes Scholarship. He entered Oxford University, but soon put his academic career on hold to serve in World War I, for which he was honoured with the Distinguished Service Order. After the war, David completed his MA at Oxford and returned to Canada, becoming a partner in a prominent Vancouver law firm. He died in 1962.

JOHN JAMES MOORE (BA'12) was the only member of the first graduating class to have been born and raised in Saskatchewan (although at the time of his birth it was technically still considered the North-West Territories). At the U of S, he played football, boxed and served as president of the Literary Society. He wanted to become a lawyer, but like many young men was inspired to enlist in the 196th Battalion, which was made up of students and faculty from Canada's four western universities. John was killed in action in 1917, most likely at Vimy Ridge. He was only 26.

JOHN STRAIN (BA'12, BSA'15) Born in County Down, Ireland, John Strain (BA'12, BSA'15) enrolled at the U of S in 1909 at the age of 24. He went on to study agriculture, earning his BSA in 1915. His life took a dramatic turn when he enlisted in the Queen's Battery in WWI. In France, he became a field instructor—not in the science of war, but at the University of Vimy Ridge, a soldier's university created by Capt. Edmund Oliver, the university's first professor of history and first principal of St. Andrew's College. John returned home in 1919 and farmed in the Birch Hills area until his death in 1973.

Honoris causa

Latin: 'for the sake of honour', usually describing an honorary university or college degree

The University of Saskatchewan has conferred more than 400 honorary degrees throughout its history. The honorary degree is the highest honour the university can bestow and is intended to award those who have made outstanding contributions to scholarship, education, the arts or public service, or to the local, Canadian or global public good.

Under University Senate bylaws, the following honorary degrees may be granted by the university:

Doctor of Civil Law, honoris causa – D.C.L.

Doctor of Laws, honoris causa – LL.D.

Doctor of Science, honoris causa – D.Sc.

Doctor of Letters, honoris causa – D. Litt.

Normally, one honorary doctorate is conferred at each convocation ceremony.

From former prime ministers to physicists to poets, 418 outstanding individuals have donned the university's doctoral robe, 'honoris causa' bringing honour to themselves and the University of Saskatchewan.

The Ceremony

The word “convocation” arises from the Latin “cum” meaning “together,” and “vocare” meaning “to call.” Our convocation ceremony is a calling together of the new graduates of the University of Saskatchewan, symbolizing the historical practice of calling together all former graduates. In current times, the major functions of convocation are the election of representatives to university governing bodies and the admission of candidates to degrees. The chancellor, appointed by senate as the chair of convocation, is the highest official and spokesperson of the university.

The convocation ceremony marks the transition from the role of student to the holder of a degree with its accompanying rights and privileges.

The ceremony, solemnized in the presence of the university community and family and friends of the graduands, consists of three parts: a procession marking the leaving of the old status and entering the new; the president’s statement to the graduands, the secretary’s petition and the chancellor’s consent for their admission; followed by individual presentation by their dean and admission by the chancellor to the degrees to which they are entitled. As graduates are admitted to their degrees, a graduation hood, which has a colour symbolizing a particular degree, is placed over each graduate’s head.

"I consent to admit you to the degrees and certificates to which you are entitled"

ENTRANCE

The members of convocation in their academic robes march in procession into the ceremony in the following order: graduands in the order in which their degrees are to be conferred; faculty; board of governors; senate; guests of honour; the president; the chancellor; the lieutenant governor. When the members of convocation reach their places they remain standing during the Vice-Regal Salute, the singing of O Canada and the invocation.

ORDER OF THE CEREMONY

The first business is the conferring of honorary degrees, followed by convocation address, president's statement to the graduands, the conferring of degrees and the presentation of awards. The meeting is closed by the chancellor rising and asking the audience to join in the singing of God Save the Queen and leading the procession in the reverse order out of the hall.

DEGREE CEREMONY

The ceremony comprises the petition, the admission and the presentation.

THE PETITION

The university secretary on behalf of all the candidates, addresses the chancellor and senate in these words:

"Eminent Chancellor, Mr. President, members of the University Senate and Board, I present to you the petition of the Council of this University that the candidates to be named, having fulfilled all the requirements of the bylaws, may, with your permission, be admitted to the degrees and certificates to which they are entitled".

THE ADMISSION

The chancellor then addresses the candidates in these words:

"By virtue of the authority vested in me by the legislature of this province, and with the consent of the council of this university, I consent to admit you to the degrees and certificates to which you are entitled and to invest you with all the powers, rights and privileges pertaining thereto."

THE PRESENTATION

The dean of the faculty, or designate, followed by the candidates of that faculty, approaches the chancellor from the left and presents the candidates with these words:

"Eminent Chancellor, on behalf of the faculty of _____, I present to you these scholars and ask that you will confer on them the degree of _____."

As the dean speaks the candidate's name in full, the candidate moves forward in front of the chancellor. Then the chancellor says, "I admit you" and the university secretary or the registrar places the hood over the candidate's head. Hereupon the candidate passes to the chancellor's right, is greeted by the president, and receives the degree parchment.

DEGREES IN ABSENTIA

In such cases, the university secretary says:

"Eminent Chancellor, in the name of the faculties, I ask you to grant the degrees and certificates, in absentia, to those students who have met the requirements to graduate, but were not able to be present today."

THE CONVOCATION CEREMONY

ACADEMIC COSTUMES

Academic costume lends an element of colourful pageantry to the convocation proceedings. This traditional clothing—worn on a daily basis at universities in earlier times—is now more commonly reserved for ceremonial functions.

At the University of Saskatchewan, the following academic costume is adopted to be worn upon all appropriate occasions: The gown resembles a long cape with full sleeve cut to elbow and terminating in a point for the bachelor's degree; with long sleeve and a semi-circular cut at the bottom for the master's degree; and with round open sleeves for the doctor's degree. The material is black for the bachelor's degree, and black material or silk for the master's and doctor's degrees. The doctor's gown may have a border down the front on either side of a color distinctive of the character of the degree.

The hoods for the bachelor's and master's degrees are of black broadcloth. The master's and doctor's hoods have a lining and the bachelor's an edging (and in some cases, a lining) of a color distinctive of the character of the degree.

This spring the University of Saskatchewan unveils a new tradition with a redesigned doctoral robe. A departure from its scarlet and blue predecessor, the new robe incorporates the U of S colours of green, gold and white in the silk hood, front panels and velvet chevrons on the sleeves. The new Ph.D. hoods have a green silk lining with gold trim and the honorary degree hoods feature a white satin trim. A velvet Beefeater style hat with a green, gold and white tassel has also been added.

Born and raised in Regina, Saskatchewan, N. Murray Edwards has become one of Canada's leading business figures and a transformative philanthropist.

Mr. Edwards is one of the most successful entrepreneurs in Canadian history with a wide range of business interests including oil and natural gas, energy services, mining, aerospace, and NHL hockey, as chairman and one of the co-owners of the National Hockey League's Calgary Flames.

At the age of 28 he left a career as a corporate lawyer to pursue his passion in business. He has built and revitalized enterprises that support over 20,000 employees, and have contributed hundreds of millions of dollars in taxes, royalties and community investments throughout Western Canada. In addition Murray has been a leader in embracing and implementing corporate social responsibility within his business enterprises and has a strong record of community service.

He was a founding member of FirstEnergy Capital Corp., a leading investment and banking firm, and the driving force behind the establishment of one of Canada's largest energy income trusts—Penn West Energy Trust. His transformation of Ensign Energy, a top Canadian oil services firm, and involvement in Canadian Natural Resources, which ranks among the top 50 oil companies in the world, place him as a leader in the Canadian oil industry.

He has provided energy policy advice to Prime Ministers Chretien and Martin, and in 2007 was appointed by Prime Minister Harper to the six-member Competition Policy Review panel. His commitment to public policy development includes membership in the Canada West Foundation, CD Howe Institute, the Banff Centre, the Canada Unity

Council, and the Canadian Council of Chief Executives.

As a student, he was a leader in the College of Commerce. The college, renamed the University of Saskatchewan N. Murray Edwards School of Business in 2007, shares with Mr. Edwards a strategic focus on business and entrepreneurship programming—vital areas in the competitive world of business schools.

Known as a major collector of Canadian art, Murray and his wife Heather also sponsor a series to bring world class artists and performances to the Banff Centre. He is quietly one of the leading philanthropists in Calgary with support ranging from literacy efforts, the Calgary Children's Initiative, the Calgary United Way, and the Haskayne School of Business. His generosity of spirit, described as being of the "practical kind" has benefited society through numerous contributions to Canadian education, health, social, artistic, and cultural issues.

In 2007 Mr. Edwards was named one of the University of Saskatchewan's 100 Alumni of Influence; and in 1999, one of Time Magazine's Canada's Leaders for the 21st century.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF LAWS

HELEN HUGHES

Helen Hughes embodies a lifelong commitment to social welfare, fostering better lives for the communities in which she has lived and served and devoting her time to consumer rights, the arts, education, and volunteering with her church. Mrs. Hughes was a pioneer in initiating several innovative social programs, and her contributions to the City of Saskatoon are significant and long-lasting. Through the local branch of the Consumer Association of Canada, she was an early advocate for better labelling of food products. She contributed greatly to the work of the Saskatoon YWCA as its president and was key in the establishment of Saskatoon's Big Sister Association. Addressing the need for comprehensive crisis response services for families, she was one of the founders of Crisis Intervention Services.

While a member of Saskatoon City Council, Mrs. Hughes was the originator and subsequent chair of the Community Liaison Committee where she worked with Métis, First Nations and non-native people to jointly address the problems of housing, health, recreation, employment, justice, education and cross-cultural understanding in an urban city. One of her legacies in Saskatoon is the Native Survival School, now called Oskayak High School, a school dedicated to providing a safe and stable environment to enable students to experience academic success and personal healing.

Mrs. Hughes' interest in social welfare issues were informed by her upbringing as the daughter of an Anglican minister. Her work in the church continued as a member of Saskatoon's Inner City Council of Churches and the relief and development agency of the Anglican Church of Canada. She was a member of the Citizens Advisory Committee to the Public School Board and served for four years as a councilor for the City of Saskatoon. She also supported Saskatoon's arts community serving on the boards of Gateway Players, Persephone Theatre and 25th Street Theatre.

Following her family's move to Victoria, Mrs. Hughes served on Victoria City Council for 18 years and spent 10 years working at the Office of the Ombudsman and the B.C. Council of Human Rights. She initiated the Souper Bowls of Hope Fundraiser in 1997 with the Victoria Youth Empowerment Society to assist at-risk youth and support empowerment through educational and recreational activities. As a member of the Victoria Public Library Board, she founded the Lifelong Learning Festival held on International Literacy Day.

She is the recipient of the Generosity of Spirit Award by the Victoria Foundation and in 2009 received the Lifetime Achievement Award. Mrs. Hughes was invested as a Member of the Order of Canada in 1982 for her work with aboriginal communities. One nominee stated, "I believe her work was a catalyst that led to the empowerment of aboriginal people, other minority groups, and women, who were relatively unheard." Helen Hughes has introduced a new way of bringing about changes by encouraging community leaders, thinkers, and activists to join together to articulate their collective needs and dreams.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF LAWS

THE HONORABLE EDWARD (TED) HUGHES

The Honorable Edward (Ted) Hughes was born and raised in Saskatoon. After earning his Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Laws degrees from the University of Saskatchewan, he practised law for ten years prior to his appointment as a district court judge and subsequent promotion to the Saskatchewan Court of Queen's Bench and appointment as Queen's Counsel.

Mr. Hughes has worked as conflict of interest commissioner for the Yukon and Northwest Territories, deputy attorney general for British Columbia and as chief federal treaty negotiator, and the chair of innumerable commissions of inquiry throughout the western provinces and in the Yukon and Northwest Territories. His work as Chief Adjudicator of Indian Residential Schools settlement claims ranked at the very top of all of the public service work throughout his long and distinguished career. In this capacity he brought his wisdom and experience to develop, from the ground level, a dispute resolution settlement system to deal with thousands of specific claims of physical and sexual abuse experienced by former students of Indian Residential Schools. It was a formidable task laden with many political pressures from various groups.

Mr. Hughes' devotion to public service has included extended service in health care governance as co-chair of the Greater Victoria Coalition to End Homelessness, past chair of Juan de Fuca Hospitals in Victoria, and former chair of the Vancouver Island CNIB capital fundraising drive. As chair of the Saskatoon City Hospital Board of Governors, he provided leadership for close to a decade, while concurrently serving as president of the Saskatchewan Health Care Association and president of the Canadian Hospital Association. He was the first chair of the Saskatchewan Cancer Foundation, established to support cancer research, diagnostic, prevention and treatment facilities in the province.

Mr. Hughes has been recognized with the Generosity of Spirit Award by the Victoria Foundation, Lifetime Achievement Award from Leadership Victoria, and the Justice Institute of British Columbia for his significant contributions in the field of justice. In 2003 Mr. Hughes was invested as an Officer of the Order of Canada. In 2009, the College of Arts and Science recognized him as one of the inaugural 100 Alumni of Influence, and last year he was named as one of Canada's top 25 most influential lawyers by Canadian Lawyer Magazine.

Mr. Hughes' reputation as a "fair, ethical and no-nonsense adjudicator" is well earned. His review of B.C.'s child welfare system was described as "one of the most balanced, thoughtful, and reflective [reviews] that had such clear touchstones for change." The U of S is privileged to recognize Mr. Hughes for his leadership in the field of law—as a judge, deputy attorney general, commissioner of conflict of interest and chief federal treaty negotiator—and for his outstanding civic service in the support of health care.

HONORARY DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

MLADEN VRANIC

A leading advocate for the advancement of his discipline for close to five decades, Dr. Vranic has changed the landscape of diabetes research, not only in Canada, but internationally. His hypothesis concerning factors that determine beneficial or deleterious effects of exercise in diabetes is now universally accepted, as is his critical concept of how muscle, liver and pancreatic cells adapt to hyperglycemia. He pioneered techniques to further scientific knowledge of the effects of exercise, insulin, glucagon and other factors on metabolism and provided a cornerstone for quantifying hormonal interactions in glucoregulation and the pathogenesis of diabetes, leading to new avenues of treatment. By purifying and determining biological activity of stomach glucagon, he provided the first evidence of glucagon's extrapancreatic site, changing prevailing concepts that one hormone is synthesized in one gland. His collaborative studies of showing that type 1 diabetics quickly mobilize insulin during exercise, led to precise methods for controlling insulin so that today, we see Olympians with type 1 diabetes, and are able to recommend regular exercise along with healthy eating habits to prevent type 2 diabetes. Today, his long-standing focus on glucose regulation is on the verge of providing new methods to treat hypoglycemic responses — a potentially devastating complication of insulin treatment in type 1 diabetes. He has trained and mentored innumerable renowned scientists and academic leaders, and has himself a history of outstanding scientific achievements.

Dr. Vranic's tremendous contributions have been recognized with his induction into the Canadian Medical Hall of Fame; a singular honour only awarded to the elite of Canada's scientific community. His honours include Orders of Canada (Officer), and Ontario. Inaugural awards include the Canadian Diabetes Association's Lifetime Achievement as well as Banting and Best Memorial Award, and the Mizuno Lectureship and Award from Japan. He is the only Canadian to receive the Banting Medal and Lectureship for Distinguished Scientific Achievement, and the Albert Renold Award for the training of students and Fellows who are now leaders in the field of diabetes research. He received the Solomon A. Berson Distinguished Lectureship from the American Physiological Society. During sabbaticals he has been an Invited professor at the University of Geneva and Oxford University and is a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada, the Canadian Academy of Health Sciences, Croatian Academy of Arts and Science (corresponding member), and the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons of Canada. Dr. Vranic holds honorary degrees from the Karolinska Institute, Stockholm, and the University of Toronto. Professor Vranic epitomizes the scientists working at the leading edge of his field, and what is generally considered to be of critical importance in medical science today — a scientist who conducts fundamental science at the forefront, but who understands and is able to transfer these insights to the clinic and to the industry.

EARNED DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

M. SOLEDADE C. PEDRAS

M. Soledade C. Pedras obtained a licentiate degree from the University of Porto in Portugal where she was born. She came to Canada on a NATO fellowship to study Organic Chemistry in the department of chemistry at the University of Alberta. She graduated with a Ph.D. degree from the University of Alberta in 1986. Professor Pedras worked for several years at the Plant Biotechnology Institute, NRC, in Saskatoon before accepting a faculty position in the department of chemistry at the University of Saskatchewan in 1994. She was promoted to full professor in 1998.

Professor Pedras' scientific research has focused on fundamental questions related to the chemistry and biochemistry of plant-pathogen interactions. Her research is based on the principle that a molecular-level understanding of the complex interactions of plants with microorganisms will guide the development of integrated strategies for prevention and control of microbial diseases in plants. Many pivotal discoveries have stemmed from this research.

Pioneering work has been carried out to establish both the role and application of natural defenses produced by plants under stress. This work has clearly shown that some plant pathogens are able to selectively degrade plant defenses. Professor Pedras reported the first isolation of a detoxifying enzyme produced by a plant pathogen. Then, her research group discovered that some plant defenses are natural inhibitors of this pathogen's enzyme.

In response to these results, the creation of novel crop protection agents that may inhibit those detoxification steps is being investigated. Professor Pedras is designing "paldoxins", a term she coined to designate a new concept in plant protection. She is a strong proponent of the use of non-toxic crop treatments, rather than pesticides, for environmentally sustainable crop treatments.

Professor Pedras reported the first phytotoxin detoxification correlating with the disease resistance of different plant species and a simultaneous phytoalexin elicitation by the detoxification product. This unique discovery suggested that this plant's resistance is due to phytotoxin detoxification amplified by well-synchronized phytoalexin elicitation. This discovery has strong implications on the identification of plant disease resistance mechanisms.

In a landmark achievement, Pedras' group was first to establish new precursors of important plant defenses. Because this knowledge is essential for an effective transfer of plant defense pathways, these discoveries can contribute to the "design" of ecologically sustainable crops.

Professor Pedras is also passionate about educating future scientists. Her research program provides excellent training for graduate and undergraduate students, as it involves a wide range of chemical, biochemical, and biological techniques that have applications in academic, industrial and business settings.

EARNED DOCTOR OF LETTERS

LEN FINDLAY

Len Findlay is a cultural and intellectual historian, editor, translator, critic of literature and the visual arts, and a student of the university as an institution, of the humanities as an evolving formation, and of Canadian educational policy, making him one of the most distinctive and influential voices in Humanities scholarship, both in Canada and abroad.

Dr. Findlay wrote his Oxford doctorate on 19th-century aesthetic theory and the interrelationship of the arts. After coming to the University of Saskatchewan in 1974, Dr. Findlay soon made his mark as an astute and challenging interpreter of Victorian culture through a range of influential studies of particular nineteenth-century authors, artistic movements, and canonical texts, culminating in his still standard edition of Swinburne's poetry.

In the 1980s and 1990s the scope of his work broadened, showing Dr. Findlay to be a literary theorist of daunting range. Working with phenomenology, French structuralism and post-structuralism, Dr. Findlay produced important essays on challenges to stable textual meaning, authoritative interpretation, and traditional hierarchies in literature and the arts. He then regrounded this textual and cultural theory in the traditions of Marx, Gramsci, and the Frankfurt School, restabilizing meaning within social, economic, and cultural frames. This work culminated in his highly regarded and widely adopted revision of the English translation of The Communist Manifesto. For the past two decades Dr. Findlay's work has concentrated increasingly on Canadian topics, especially on decolonizing the humanities and moving beyond cognitive imperialism. He co-founded the Indigenous humanities initiative where Aboriginal and Euro-Canadian knowledge systems are brought together in ways cognizant of, but not confined to, a mixed colonial past and the conflicting accounts and practices that past has generated.

He has published over 100 essays, in top international journals. He is also a much-celebrated presence at conferences, having delivered 141 lectures, papers, and keynote addresses across North America and Europe, including at Harvard, Oxford, the Sorbonne, the Galleries of Justice in England, and the Universities of Utrecht, Groningen, Louvain, and Trento.

He has supervised many fine graduate students, brought in research grant money, and through his work directing the Humanities Research Unit has organized a series of stimulating conferences, editing resulting volumes of essays. Many researchers have found their own voices through Dr. Findlay's mentorship, advocacy, and tireless help. His academic service has extended to national organizations such as ACCUTE, CAUT, and the CFHSS.

Dr. Findlay has won many honours, from the F.E.L. Priestley Prize in 1994, two USSU Teaching Awards, and was named Visiting Research Fellow at Centre for the Study of Theory and Criticism, University of Western Ontario in 1995 and Northrop Frye Professor of Literary Theory at the University of Toronto in 2000. In 2007 he was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada.

PRESIDENT'S SERVICE AWARD

CATHIE FORNSSLER

The work of University Council committees is both complex and demanding but for those involved, it all becomes much more manageable with Cathie Fornssler in the role of committee co-ordinator. Her dedication to governance at the University of Saskatchewan, her professionalism and her willingness to go beyond the day to day requirements of her job make Ms. Fornssler a very worthy recipient of a President's Service Award.

It is not just in the Office of the University

Secretary that Ms. Fornssler earned this distinction. After receiving a BEd with distinction in history and English in 1971 from the University of Saskatchewan, Ms. Fornssler joined the College of Arts and Science as co-ordinator of programs and special projects. In addition to displaying her renowned organizational abilities, she developed a rich knowledge of the workings of the college that served her well in dealings with administrators as well as students. Committed to student success, Ms. Fornssler went out of her way to assist students in pursuing their interests while satisfying the degree requirements of various programs. As one nominator said, people always left her office feeling better than when they went in.

In 2000, Ms. Fornssler moved to the Office of the University Secretary as committee co-ordinator. In this role, she has provided support to the chairs and members of the Planning and Priorities Committee, the Nominations Committee, and Academic Programs Committee and the Academic Support Committee as well as various other groups. Many nominators commented on the insight and institutional memory that she brings to the job which provides everyone with invaluable insights into the issues of the day. Her efficiency, her attention to detail and her willingness to lend a hand are what help keep the business of Council on track, and she does it all with a sense of humour.

In addition to supporting Council committees, Ms. Fornssler has been involved in a number of additional projects, including the development of a display and website to commemorate the history and the people who were part of the College of Home Economics. More recently, she volunteered to co-ordinate the creation of a display celebrating the accomplishments of former faculty member Gerhard Herzberg who won the Nobel Prize in Chemistry in 1971. Ms. Fornssler has also been a key player in the university's annual Academic Integrity Week.

Those who have first-hand knowledge of Ms. Fornssler's commitment to the institution and its community, her unassuming manner and her dedication to her work supporting the achievements of others agree she is a model citizen of the University of Saskatchewan and a worthy recipient of the President's Service Award.

AWARD FOR DISTINCTION IN OUTREACH AND ENGAGEMENT

SUSAN WHITING

Dr. Susan Whiting is an outstanding faculty member, award winning mentor, and exemplary contributor to her community and ever so deserving of the university's award for distinction in outreach and engagement.

Dr. Whiting has been a professor in the College of Pharmacy and Nutrition since 1988. Her work has enhanced existing community and research partnerships and she has built new partnerships with communities and a variety of sectors. Dr. Whiting has been on the Board of CHEP Good Foods, Inc (formerly Child Hunger and Education Program) for over 15 years. She has held leadership roles with the Saskatoon Chapter of Osteoporosis Canada and the Station 20 West Community Enterprise Centre. She is co-investigator of a provincial study on how growth, activity and nutrition affect bone development in adolescents. She has CIHR research funding to look at how nutrient and food intake affect chronic disease prevention in Canadian children, and she is involved in research to study the effects of calcium on Canadians. Dr. Whiting collaborates with American researchers on dietary supplements with a particular emphasis on the impact of Vitamin D. Her findings on calcium, Vitamin D, osteoporosis and bone health are shared with community groups, health care professionals and the academic community locally, provincially, nationally and internationally. Dr. Whiting provides leadership in knowledge creation within Saskatchewan industry and local communities and these efforts enhance the reputation of the University. She has served on national and international boards and working groups for nutritional sciences, bone and mineral research and dietary intakes. Her collaborative approach with scholars and organizations has attracted attention in other parts of the world. She is currently involved with two multi-disciplinary teams, one investigating strategies for improving quality of care in long-term care in Saskatchewan, and the other one looking to improve sustainable agriculture productivity and human nutrition in Ethiopia. Dr. Whiting leverages these opportunities to further education experiences for our students and to enhance local and international outreach. In 2006, Dr. Whiting received the YWCA Women of Distinction Award for Science, Technology and Research and in 2009 she received the University's Distinguished Supervisor's Award for her stimulating and intellectual experiences for undergraduate and graduate students.

One nominator spoke to Susan's leadership with a merger of two Canadian nutrition societies that has led to a stronger agency linking research science and professional nutritional practice. She is a much sought after speaker, consultant and expert on nutrition, osteoporosis and community programming. This past year, she has given over 10 invited presentations to audiences ranging from local retiree groups in Saskatoon to peers at international conferences in France and China. Dr. Whiting's strengths with the university's teaching and research missions and her personal commitment to community bring honor to the University of Saskatchewan, have long-lasting impact, and make her a distinguished recipient of this award.

DISTINGUISHED RESEARCHER AWARD

JOHN GORDON

The Distinguished Researcher Award recognizes a faculty member's contribution to scholarship through the creation, expansion, and critique of knowledge. John Gordon, Director of the Canadian Centre for Health and Safety in Agriculture and a professor in the Department of Medicine, is the 2011 recipient.

Dr. Gordon is an expert in the field of immune regulation and airway disease. He is internationally recognized as a major force in immunology who has conducted groundbreaking working on inflammatory diseases such as asthma.

One of his most notable recent achievements is the development of a new drug to treat inflammatory illnesses, including bacterial lung infections and inflammation associated with conditions such as cystic fibrosis, pneumonia and ischemic heart disease. The drug, G31P, is patented by the U of S and has proven highly effective in targeting inflammatory responses and more specifically than do current corticosteroid treatments. G31P targets the proteins that activate a specific group of white blood cells known as neutrophils, thereby reducing inflammatory pathology while allowing other immune system cells that are critical to the patient's health to function normally. Dr. Gordon has also recently developed and established proof of principle in experimental animals for new protocols that reverse established immunologic diseases such as asthma. Under these protocols, animals treated for asthma gradually lose their sensitivity to allergens over three to eight weeks, until they no longer suffer from the lung constriction and inflammation that characterizes asthma.

During the course of his career, Dr. Gordon has attracted research funding from federal and provincial funding agencies as well as the non-profit sector to carry out his work. He has authored more than 80 peer-review publications and has been invited to speak at conferences all over the world. He has served on numerous boards and review panels, including the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, the Saskatchewan Health Research Foundation, and the Canadian Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. He is also a tremendous mentor who has trained more than 60 undergraduate and graduate students, post-doctoral fellows and young faculty.

In recognition of his outstanding contributions to the field of immunology, Dr. Gordon was elected as a member of the prestigious Collegium Internationale Allergologicum in 2008, an international group for the study of scientific and clinical problems in allergy and related branches of medicine and immunology. Dr. Gordon was also recognized with the Saskatchewan Award of Innovation in 2007 and the Pfizer Animal Health Research Excellence Award in 2003.

Dr. Gordon earned his B.Sc. (biology) and Ph.D. (immunopathology) degrees from the University of Saskatchewan. He held post-doctoral positions at the National Institutes for Medical Research in the United Kingdom and at Harvard Medical School in Boston before returning to the U of S in 1991.

MASTER TEACHER AWARD

SANDRA BASSENDOWSKI

Sandra Bassendowski is an extraordinary teacher and scholar, and is recognized as a Master Teacher. Her exceptional teaching is visible as she develops and delivers motivating classes, conference, and keynote presentations. University students and colleagues identify Dr. Bassendowski's pedagogy as the characteristic way she wholeheartedly engages in the art and science of teaching, and stimulates learning with her unique ability to interest, engage, excite, and encourage students to learn and achieve high educational standards. Students, colleagues, and external peers clamored to nominate Dr. Bassendowski, and to highlight her professional teaching, scholarly, and creative work that enriches students' learning.

Dr. Bassendowski's exemplary teaching, comprehensive knowledge of nursing and the innovative use of technology captures interest, and stimulates students to imagine "what if..?". Stories of her outstanding teaching practice, shared by students and colleagues, are affirmed by invitations Dr. Bassendowski receives to present at student graduation ceremonies, university knowledge exchanges, and as the keynote speaker at conferences. Dr. Lorna Butler, Dean of the College of Nursing, commended Dr. Bassendowski after her Keynote Address for the College of Nursing Fall Homecoming Celebration with these words: "It is important to share with you how eloquently you reached out to the audience ... It is truly amazing to watch you connect with people. The term that describes how you do this is authenticity." In 2010, Dr. Bassendowski received the University of Saskatchewan Provost's Award for Outstanding College Teaching for the College of Nursing. She is recognized nationally and provincially as an exceptional nurse educator whose personal and professional contributions make an outstanding and significant impact on the nursing profession. In 2008, she received the Canadian Nurses' Association Centennial Award, and in 2007 she received the Elizabeth Van Valkenberg Award for Leadership in Nursing Education from the Saskatchewan Registered Nurse's Association.

Dr. Bassendowski contributes to the advancement of the values of the University of Saskatchewan. She inspires and advocates for graduate and undergraduate students to explore and develop ideas, to enter their papers into academic competitions, to publish their research, and to share ideas in professional forums. Dr. Bassendowski is recognized internationally for her innovative pedagogy. She received invitations to present her research about teaching and learning at conferences in Austria, Australia, England, France, Germany, Greece, Malta, Scotland, Spain, Sweden, and the United States. She is currently conducting research regarding the integration of technology in education in Saskatchewan, the Caribbean, and the Philippines. In 2006, Dr. Bassendowski published a book about the history of nursing in Saskatchewan and is currently working on a sequel. The list of accolades and accomplishments that colleagues shared to support Dr. Bassendowski's nomination for this Master Teacher Award demonstrates her consistent commitment to promote excellence in teaching and learning at the university.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S ACADEMIC MEDALS

These medals are awarded to the undergraduate student and graduate student with the highest academic standing.

GOLD MEDAL

GARRISON EDUARD BEYE

Garrison Eduard Beye was born in Victoria, B.C. in 1973. He earned a B.Sc. degree (chemistry) in 1996 from the University of Saskatchewan. Shortly thereafter he worked in the pharmaceutical industry for QLT Inc. in Vancouver, B.C. and BiogenIdec in Boston, MA. After spending eight years in industry, Mr. Beye decided to continue his education and pursue a longtime goal of obtaining a Ph.D. in synthetic organic chemistry. He returned to the University of Saskatchewan and completed his Ph.D. in 2010.

Mr. Beye's research undertook the total synthesis and study of a series of natural products discovered in siphonariid mollusks. It had been speculated for more than 25 years that the isolated structures were actually isolation artifacts related through an unstable putative common precursor. His research undertook the synthesis of the previously unknown putative common precursor in order to investigate the hypothesized relationships and establish each structure's status as a natural product.

The structural and stereochemical complexity of these synthetic targets demanded new strategies and methodologies. A variety of novel processes were devised, developed and applied. Not only were efficient synthetic routes developed, but many questions were answered pertaining to the origin and status of the isolated structures as natural products. This research clearly illustrated the difficulty in denoting a new isolated structure as a natural product.

Mr. Beye contributed to six peer-reviewed journal articles and was the recipient of numerous awards, including the prestigious Taube medal. Currently, Mr. Beye is the Director of Research and Development for BioExx Specialty Proteins Inc.

SILVER MEDAL

during her academic career at the University of Saskatchewan. Some of the award she received includes the University of Saskatchewan Chancellor's Scholarship, the Dr. Valentine Guy Criswick Scholarship, the John Labatt Scholarship, the Copland Prize in Humanities, the Haslam Medal and an NSERC USRA Scholarship.

Ms. Mak's favorite pastimes are playing the violin and piano. She has earned six music diplomas in both piano and violin performance competed in local, provincial and national music competitions winning numerous awards and scholarships.
